OBSERVATIONS OF THE STROLLED On Amusement Life and Environment STORIES & ANECDOTES

The stage adventuress, known for so many years, is destined to give place to a woman drawn from life, a human and natural type, hitherto neglected by the dramatists. No less a master of stagecraft than David Belasco has declared against the tall and dominating lady with a past, whose gowns and sorrows are equally highly colored. Mr. Belasco credits Eugene Walters and Miss Frances Starr, the author and the star of The Easiest Way, now playing to crowded houses at the Belasco Stuyvesant Theatre, New York, with having started the revolution.

"The adventuress we have been accustomed to see on the stage never did exist off the boards," says Mr. Belasco. "She is almost always represented as a large, voluptuous-looking individual, with whom every one in the cast is in love, and who has a masterful air and intonations which are the extreme of affectation."

"The role of Laura Murdock, on the contrary, spells frailty. She falls lower and lower, not because she is bad, but because she is weak. When it is easier to lie than to tell the truth, she lies. Because she has not the strength to struggle through hardships to success, she accepts the protection of a wealthy man, who offers her an escape from poverty. It is because of her weakness that she does not do right, but we see that she would be glad to rise to a higher moral level."

"She retains our sympathy, because she is, after all, so human; because she is so like the rest of us; not because she is different. How many such girls there are left in the world. We meet them in every walk of life. They are pretty and refined and gentle—and weak. More often than not such a girl is well meaning and is pleasing and attractive in person and manner. Her ladylike appearance is part of her to allure, whereas, few men would care to be seen in company with a woman who looked like the average stage adventuress."

"I have been asked if this play is intended to be as a warning to stage-struck girls," continued Mr. Belasco. "Well, I think no girl who went could fail to see in it a lesson. But it is another type who should be even more strongly impressed by it. I mean the theatrical angels and the managers who exploit the infatuations of such men to obtain money to finance their attractions. The seamy side of stage life is drawn by Mr. Walter with a master hand, and drawn most convincingly. He has not painted the situation any stronger than it exists. Such wealthy idlers as Brockton make life difficult for weaklings like Laura. Through this play the public will be enabled to understand the situation in the theatrical world, and will insist upon remedying it."

"No, the stilted phrases in which the woman with a past has usually thrown down the gauntlet to society have ceased to satisfy a generation which wants the mirror held up to nature. This role will revolutionize feminine stage types."

James E. Fennessey, of Heuck and Fennessey, who control a number of theatres in Cincinnati and who is secretary of the Empire Burlesque Circuit, is a man of most remarkable personality. The most agreeable man in the world, he is, at the same time, curt, brief, gentlemanly, and always absolutely fair in all his dealings.

Occupying the position that he does, Mr. Fennessey is naturally bothered a great deal by people seeking theatre courtesies. He seldom refuses, but, at the same time, he seldom fails to get a little amusement out of the applicants, and if they have been abusing his generosity, to make them uncomfortable by unexpected questions and sudden turns in the conversation.

One day, not very long ago, a couple of ash-cart drivers shuffled into his office, hats in hands.

"Well, what will you have?" said Fennessey.

"We are the ash-men," replied one of the visitors, in a gruff voice, "and we would like to see the show down at the Lyceum to-night."

"Um-ni," said Mr. Fennessey. "But didn't I give you tickets for the Lyceum last night?"

"No," was the reply, "that was me brother. He's fat, too. He's on the next route."

The passes were made out and handed to them, and Mr. Fennessey, in his democratic way, told them that he hoped they would enjoy the performance.

The next visitor to gain admittance was a polished, well dressed, suave advance agent. Fennessey recognized him immediately, but did not indicate the fact. He let the man state his business, then he said, in a quiet, calm way, but with an emphasis not to be mistaken:

"Now, look here; I try to be absolutely fair and square in everything. You're crooked. Get out!" And the man went.

In James E. Fennessey's eyes, an honest ash-cart driver is entitled to more consideration than a well-dressed crook.

The telephone in rural districts has its disadvantages as well as its advantages. Small town newspaper men aver that it is deleterious to their interests, in-as-much as all the news and gossip of the week is carried over the wires, leaving little use for newspapers.

In rural communities the phones are all on party lines, each subscriber having his own signal, with which the central operator must, of course, be familiar. All the bells ring at every call, but if Mr. Jones' is one short ring and two long ones, he pays no attention, or rather, is expected to pay no attention to one long ring and two short ones, which constitutes Mr. Smith's signal.

But during winter months, when things move rather slowly on the farms and in the villages that depend upon agricultural activity for their existence, many of the subscribers take down their receiver every time the bell rings, no matter whose call it may be.

Last summer Arthur Byron spent the heated term in the White Mountains at a farm house, far from the madding crowd. It was not a regular boarding house, but the people who lived there and got their sustenance out of the rocky soil, were old friends of his father's family. They had all the comforts of urban life, including a large and rather well selected library, and a telephone.

Byron says that he was rather surprised during the first few days of his sojourn there, at the conversation carried on at table. His hosts talked of the latest scandal in the community and of other topics, the points of which he could not understand their familiarity with. One day he asked:

"How do you learn all these things? You don't go off your farm, and nobody seems to come here."

"Why, we hear them over the telephone," said his hostess, and Byron was shocked. He said it seemed to be a most despicable practice to listen neighbors' conversation not intended for them. But he had not been on the farm a week when it became so dreary and monotonous that he was the first to rush to the phone every time the bell rang.

Pliny F. Ruteledge, of Ruteledge and Pickering, now playing in vaudeville, was at one time manager of a small repertoire company in the West. Once, while the show was playing through Minnesota, he learned, indirectly, of a new opera house in one of the towns not far out of his route, and as he was always alert for premiere engagements of this nature, he wrote to the manager concerning "time." His communication was of course, couched in the vernacular of the theatrical business, and the manager being the general merchant of his locality, was evidently not quite clear as to the meaning of the letter.

Ruteledge's epistle ended as follows:

"Please send your earliest open time. Do you play on percentage?"

The answer that came back read as follows:

"Our earliest open time is 6:30 in the evening. It does not pay to open any earlier, as the folks don't get their chores done before then. I do not play on anything myself, but we have a brass band that beats anything around here, and they can play on most everything."

R. M. Harvey, general agent for the Hagenbeck-Wallace Show this season, has had considerable newspaper experience. Even now Mr. Harvey is half-owner of a paper out in Iowa, and his stories of the conduct of such a journal are not less interesting than some of Opie Read's best stories on the same subject.

Two or three years ago Harvey installed linotypes in his plant, and as the operators were constantly getting into difficulties with the intricate mechanism, he made arrangements with a local genius to make repairs whenever necessary.

"Now, my friend," said Harvey, "of course, this won't preclude your retaining your present position. We will want you occasionally, and I think you will not find any trouble in having your employer relieve you for a few hours when your services are needed here."

"No," said the German. "I got two jobs now; one night, one day. I work at the foundry in the day, and nights at my bench at Smith and Hardings."

"But, when do you sleep?" said Harvey.

"Well," replied the old German, rubbing his head, "I sleep all day Sunday and all day Sunday night!"

CANADIAN NATIONAL EXPO TO BE HELD AT TORONTO

August 28 to September 13, 1909.

Old Orchard Beach (Me.) Steel Pier Damaged---New Chicago Booking Agency---Roof Garden to be Operated at Savannah under Orpheum Management.

The Canadian National Exhibition held annually at Toronto, the last week in August and the first week in September, is the best attended exhibition on this continent and in every respect undoubtedly the superior of the large majority. The total admissions reach to nearly 700,000 during the eleven days that the gates are open. There are also upwards of $2,000,000 in buildings on the 200 acres occupied. The majority of these buildings are of steel, concrete and pressed brick and present an exceptionally handsome appearance. In fact the architecture as it should be at all exhibitions is in accord with the general excellence. Beautiful flower gardens extend throughout the grounds which in the intervals between exhibitions is used as a public park and play ground. There is a well-constructed half-mile track over which races are held, and horse judgging takes place. Every afternoon and evening a vaudeville performance and hippodrome is given in front of the big grand-stand and at night is always presented a military spectacle with fireworks and so on.

The grand-stand, it should be mentioned, is claimed to be the largest covered stand in America. It is built completely of steel, concrete and pressed brick, no wood whatever being used in its construction except in parts of the roof. The stand has a seating capacity of 16,400 and has held as many as 18,000 people. It should be mentioned that this large structure is unique in the fact that every seat is a chair, thus providing ample room for everybody. In front of the stand is a spacious lawn capable of accommodating six to eight thousand more people. One night last year the turnstiles to the stand registered no fewer than 28,000 people while the admission at the gates reached upwards of $125,000 on that one day.

The other buildings include one adapted to manufacturers and liberal arts, the floor space of which is upwards of two acres. A process building in which some thirty industries are shown in actual operation and in which motor boats and machinery and other exhibits find accommodation, the area of this building being 96,000 square feet. A particularly handsome edifice is devoted to exhibits by the different provinces and to floral cultural and horticultural displays. Another structure is machinery hall. One more is a beautiful fireproof art gallery in which a lone collection of pictures is the annual feature, the pictures being borrowed from the leading art galleries in Europe, both private and public. Another noticeable building is devoted to the dairy interests, in which demonstrations in butter and cheese making and lectures are given. Attached to the dairy building proper is a large amphitheatre capable of accommodating 2,000 people in which these demonstrations take place.

National history building is another commanding structure in which fish, reptiles, insects, minerals and other displays are made. A recent addition is a railway exhibits building erected at a cost of $60,000 by the big railway systems of Canada, namely the Canadian Pacific, the Grand Trunk and the Canadian Northern. A women's building of red brick and the administration building, in which are the various offices of the exhibition, a post-office, a bank, customs office and a banqueting hall and other conveniences. Poultry and pet stock and cat and dog buildings also have their places on the grounds.

In short the buildings cover an area all told, of thirty acres. In addition there is stabling for 1,400 horses, 1,200 cattle, 700 swine and 800 sheep. It might here be stated that as many as 9,500 live animals are to be seen on the grounds at the one time.

An amusement Avenue or Midway with roller coaster, aerial railways, scenic dips, shoot the Chutes, merry-go-round and so on occupies an extensive part in the eastern section of the park. The shows on the Midway are of the usual character, but of the most excellent kind, anything objectionable being rigidly excluded. In short educational features stand out prominently in all parts of the Canadian National Exhibition even on the Midway. These things, of course, make the exposition more true to its name than is usually the case.

While harness races are given they are not, as in other cases, made the leading feature. On the contrary, music, industry, finance and agriculture are given almost entire attention. Bands of universal reputation are engaged annually while as has been said the chief art galleries of Europe contribute their pictures. The receipts of admission to the grand-stand never exceed $300,000 while the expenses have never exceed $220,000. Each year the surplus funds amounting last year over expenses to $57,000 are handed over to the city and is used for public purposes.

Dr. J. O. Orr is the brainy and clever manager of this, the greatest of all fairs, and H. J. P. Good, a gentleman fertile in resources, the press manager.

JOSEPH GIMSON.

ROOF GARDEN FOR SAVANNAH OPHEUM MANAGEMENT.

The Southern Amusement Company which owns and operates the Orpheum Theatre, Savannah, Ga., has obtained possession of three large stores on Abercorn street and will turn the bare roofs into one of the most beautiful and up-to-date roof gardens in the South. As soon as possible the management will offer some of the finest acts on the vaudeville stage. One of the most notable and unusual features will be a full ladies orchestra of thirty pieces, which will be employed as a permanent feature of the roof garden. This roof garden will be conducted on a high plane and doubtless will prove very popular. Mr. M. Wilensky, owner of the Orpheum, and Ernest L. Barbour, general manager, will have this new garden in full charge.

OLD ORCHARD (ME.) STEEL PIER.

The spring tides and heavy rains of the latter part of March proved too much for the steel pier at Old Orchard, Me., and the result was quite an amount of damage. The management say that they intend to rebuild and open about July 4, much augmented in area. Among the losers at the pier was W. J. White, who lost about 75 arcade machines and 22 Mutoscopes, leased from the American Mutoscope and Biograph.

MARTHA J. BEAUFORT.

Finding initial inclination is a natural talent, application and a term in the school of experience have made Martha J. Beaufort one of America's charming character actresses. A personality that success has been unable to mar, adds a personal grace that proves attractive with audiences and company alike. She has starred in Faldo Romani and Thelma, was leading lady with Frank M. Willis and was prominent with Henry Lee in The Hawaiian Wife. Her chief accomplishments and the roles in which all the forces of her talent are best illustrated is in emotional, character or beavies, to which branch she will return next season. A year in stock at Boston served to accentuate her remarkable versatility.

graph Company. There are a few other minor losses.

STOCK COMPANY FOR HUTCHINSON, KAN.

Mr. John A. Wolf, proprietor of the Wolf Stock Company, with headquarters at Wichita, Kan., will organize and establish a stock company at Hutchinson, Kan. The Wichita Stock Company has proved very prosperous, and Hutchinson being, in Mr. Wolf's estimation, a good show town, he has concluded to locate a company there the coming season.

NEW BOOKING AGENCY.

Coney Holmes, known to the theatrical world from ocean to ocean, and pronounced by performers everywhere to be a "square fellow," having brought the New Robinson Theatre, Cincinnati, from almost hopeless decadence, into leading prominence and enviable popularity, has resigned as its manager and opened up a booking agency with elaborate offices at 200 State street in the Hepple Building, corner State and Adams, Room 924, Chicago. It is known as the Casino Booking Agency.

His clientele embraces a big circuit of strong houses, including English Opera House, Indianapolis; Victoria, Dayton, O.; Fairbanks, Springfield, O.; Southern, Columbus, O.; Valentine, Toledo, O.; Grand Opera House, and New Robinson, Cincinnati; Euclid Avenue Opera House, Cleveland; Majestic, Detroit, Mich.; Princess, Toronto, Can.; and more than a score of others, most of which will open up April 25. Mr. Holmes, or "Coney," as his legion of friends call him, has spent 17 years in the show business and is recognized by all show people as having a most thorough knowledge of the business, being posted on the value, character and drawing qualities of every kind of act in the amusement market to-day. His square and honest dealings with all performers and the public has given him an asset that money could not bring, and is one of the characteristics that has helped make his reputation, and given him business success. His latest undertaking is sure to rank high and cause trials to rise up and take notice.

PORLTAND, ME., SKATING RINK.

A new building will be erected the coming season at Portland, Me., to be occupied as a skating rink and automobile garage. The skating rink will be on the second floor, and thoroughly up-to-date in every part. The floor space will be 77 feet by 115 feet. The opening will occur sometime between June 15 and July 1.

THERESA L. MARTIN ILL.

Theresa L. Martin, who has been starring in a repertoire of high class plays, writes from Hot Springs, Ark., that she has been seriously ill and will be detained there until May 1, when she hopes to again open tour. Miss Martin will be glad to hear from her friends who may address her in care of the Cordova Hotel.

"RUBE" WADDELL IN VAUDEVILLE.

"Rube" Waddell, erstwhile theatrical star and one of the greatest baseball pitchers of the time, has been trying out in vaudville at Houston, Tex. In the evening and playing ball by day. It is very probable that "Rube" will become as much of a star in vaudville as on the ball field.

WHITE CITY SOLD

Court Disposes of Louisville Amusement Park

for Australia.

White City, Louisville, Ky., was sold last week, under a judgment of the Jefferson Circuit Court, to Lynn Simons, the consideration being $57,908. The property was recently appraised by a special committee appointed for that purpose, at $91,350.34; the realty, fourteen acres of ground, was appraised at $76,113.75, while the balance of the assets was composed of the park equipment.

The property was disposed of piecemeal. The realty was sold at $52,500, bid by Mr. Simons, while the park paraphernalia was also secured by Mr. Simons. The sale was conducted in the vaudville theatre on the grounds.

Mr. Simons stated that he would have full charge of the park the coming season, operating it as a high-class family resort. The name will be changed to the Riverview, under which title it was operated previous to the White City Company's regime. The admission to the park will be free this season.

COLISEUM THEATRE, DANVILLE, ILL.

The Coliseum Theatre of Danville, Ill., is now under the management of Mr. W. A. Conway, of Chicago, who is busily engaged in making big preparations for the summer season. The theatre has been entirely restocked with new and better scenery, the center aisle has been cut through to the orchestra pit, a completely up-to-date heating plant installed and the other appointments improved accordingly. The Coliseum as it now stands seats 1,700 and is equipped with every modern convenience.

PATERSON (N. J.) WILL HAVE NEW VAUDEVILLE HOUSE.

William J. Metz and May Gold have purchased the property at 293 and 295 Main street, Paterson, N. J., for $40,000, and will proceed at once to erect thereon a modern vaudville theatre, to cost not less than $40,000. These gentlemen have been engaged in the motion picture business in Paterson, a number of years and have similar theatres in other cities. The theatre will be devoted exclusively to vaudville and moving pictures.

WILDWOOD PARK, ST. PAUL, MINN.

A new fire-proof building is being erected on the side of the structure which was consumed by fire last fall at Wildwood Park, St. Paul, Minn. The building will cost between $25,000 and $40,000, and will be opened about the first of June. It is rumored that many of the various amusement buildings on the grounds will also be rebuilt, and that that park will resume its place as one of the most beautiful spots in the Northwest.

WANTS AUSTRALIAN ATTRAC-TIONS.

Wm. Anderson, of the Criterion Theatre, Sydney, N. S. W., and of the King's Theatre, Melbourne, N. S. W., is contemplating a visit to America, and will arrive in New York the latter part of April. Mr. Anderson's visit to the United States is for the purpose of securing attractions for his enterprises in Australia. Letters may be addressed to him, care the New York office of The Billboard.

SHUBERTS IN AUBURN.

There is a rumor abroad that the Shuberts are endeavoring to enter Auburn, N. Y., via the Burtis Auditorium. Negotiations are said to be in progress with Mr. Burtis, lessee of the playhouse, but no definite announcement has as yet been made.

CLOSING DATES.

W. A. Brady's The Shepherd King Company, with Wright Lorimer will close its season April 17, at Grand Rapids, Mich.; The Man of the Hour, New England Company, also under Mr. Brady's management, will conclude its season at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., April 17.

GETS RIGHTS TO THE PRINCE CHAP.

Lloyd Lawrence has secured the rights to The Prince Chap and has arranged for a tour of the South next season. Mr. Lawrence himself appearing in the title role. He will play under his own management.

TITLE CHANGED AGAIN.

For the third time the title of Hartley Manners' new play, which was produced last week in Trenton, has been changed. It was originally designated as Birth, but subsequently it was changed to the Malady of Birth. The new title is The House Next Door. J. E. Dodson plays the leading role in the piece.

SEPARATE BUSINESS RELATIONS.

It is reported that Charles Frohman and Ben Teal will shortly go abroad to assume charge of a new production. It is to Mr. Teal's credit that he has not had a failure while with Mr. Frohman.

CRAWFORD'S CIRCUIT COMPLETED.

Iroy Crawford's Airdome Circuit will be made up of the following towns, for season 1909: Topeka, Leavenworth, Ottawa, Salina, Hutchinson, Newton, Wichita, Lawrence and Emporia, Kansas, and Excelsior Springs, Mo. All houses open May 3.

NEW THEATRE FOR AURORA, ILL.

It is said that Henry Tillenberg is now having plans perfected for a first-class modern theatre building in Aurora, Ill., to cost in the neighborhood of $25,000. The building in question will have a seating capacity of about 800 and in addition will contain stores and club-rooms.

MITTENTHAL ATTRAC-TIONS CLOSING.

Two attractions controlled by the Mittenthal Bros. Amusement Co., namely A Millionaire's Revenge and Joe Morris In Too Many Wives, closed their 1908-09 season on March 29.

PADEREWSKI RETURNS HOME.

Ignaz Paderewski, the Polish pianist, sailed from New York for Europe on the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosser, on March 31, after having canceled all his engagements. Paderewski will go to his home in Switzerland, where he hopes to get rid of the rheumatism, which caused him to cancel his American tour.

CIRCUS PHILOSOPHY

"Punch" Wheeler, the Philosopher

It Pays to Be Optimistic, and There's a Lot More Fun in it.

"This thing of looking on the circus business as a joke has got to be stopped," said Punch Wheeler to The Billboard man. Mr. Wheeler is holding down his old job as press agent for John Robinson, where he "was born and raised" and hopes to die. After absorbing all the able write-ups on how to behave and do things, etc., written by brilliant penmen who are wintering, he has decided to do different.

"What's the use of listening to anybody," re-sumed Punch. "Here is an old show, born in 1824, old enough to know better, still keeps going on, clearing up money every year by the cord, persuing the even tenor of its way, allowing others to snarl and fight and lose all they make. Even the elephants here are so well posted they want a certain kind of hay they are acquainted with in some particular neighborhood. What earthly use is there trying to be serious and put on a pained expression for fear the editor will not print anything, or that it may rain show day, or anything else. None of that sentiment around John Robinson's Show. The circus is the public's playground, and the people are all 'fans' on the bleachers and in the boxes."

"When you read where a war was delayed one day in Central American Republic because a show boat arrived unexpectedly with a circus what chance has a knocker against a position like that?

"It simply shows the national universal feeling along sawdust lines. So what use is it to worry about prospects, when old and young children cry for it, figuratively speaking, of course."

"The other day I was seriously deep in one of my very able articles about the circus as a rejuvenator of youth, at fifty cents per dose, reserves extra, when my old college friend and associate, Sam Josephs, said: 'Wheeler, when a cool house man is so lazy he splits the wood with dynamite to save working, what chance has a press agent?'

"At there was no answer to it, I inquired of Tom Ambrose what the season's prospects were.

"You can circulate the information in sawdust circles that this is to be another one of those greatest seasons ever known. The cards show it. There has been no moon or stars above Cincinnati lately, or they would also show it. All the circus side show mind readers and magicians are in favor of it, and they never guess wrong, not after a hard winter. Everybody will make a barrel of money, except several. This old show has it in sight before it starts."

"And so it has ever been, now in its 85th year, born in 1824, and in one man, John Robinson, are combined those instincts which are necessary to the handling of such a mammoth affair. Highly educated, naturally endowed with a keen insight of human nature and taste in all business dealings, made necessary by the demands on every minute of his time, he is the ideal showman."

DIVER ENJOINED.

A decision of great importance in the vaudeville world was rendered when Judge Ward, in the United States Circuit Court, issued an order restraining Annette Kellermann, the diving Venus, from appearing on the stage, under any other management than that of Benjamin F. Keith, who has vaudeville interests throughout the United States.

The order prevents the defendant "performing for any one else than the plaintiff during the remainder of the winter season of 1908-09 and the winter season of 1909-1910."

Judge Ward made no decision with reference to the summer season, which was subject to a separate contract.

The action on which the present decision was based was begun when Miss Kellermann attempted to withdraw from the management of Keith & Proctor and signed a new contract with William Morris. The case is one of the first that has got into the courts in the vaudeville war, and is important.

E. C. JONES TO HAVE BENEFIT.

April 26 will be a gala night at the Chestnut Street Opera House, Philadelphia, for on that date E. Cholmley-Jones will celebrate his 25th anniversary in the theatrical and musical field. Nixon and Zimmerman, and his numerous friends in that city, have tendered him a benefit to take place on that night. Since 1883 he has been press agent for the Nixon and Zimmerman theatres in Philadelphia, and every manager who has played those houses can testify to his fidelity to their interests, his capacity for hard work and cannot but give him praise for the brilliant work he has done. Before entering the field he has been such a success in Mr. Jones was manager of the Heinrich's Grand Opera Co. and other big operatic enterprises. He is one of the best vocal teachers in Philadelphia and his school is renowned for turning out many soloists who have met with success on the road.

MR. NORMAN HACKETT ENTER-TAINED BY ELKS.

Elks accorded Norman Hackett, playing in Classmates, a right royal welcome upon his recent visit to San Diego, Cal. Mr. Hackett was initiated into the San Diego Elks Lodge four years ago, and the antlered herd demonstrated that the recurrence had not been forgotten.

Preceding the evening performance at the Garrick Theatre, Mr. Hackett was entertained at an informal banquet at the Chrysanthemum Club. Only one half the men attending the initial performance of Classmates were members of the order. After the third act members of the order produced an immense basket of flowers, fashioned in the shape of the Elks' insignia, which they presented with the compliment of the lodge. At the conclusion of the performance his antlered brethren led Mr. Hackett down to the Elks' building, where an informal reception in his honor was held.

FLORENCE SMYTHE WITH COOK PLAYERS.

Miss Florence Smythe has replaced Rebecca Warren as leading lady of the Cook Stock Players, in Hartford, Conn. Miss Smythe made her first appearance with the Cook Company last week, playing the part of Mrs. Temple in Mrs. Temple's Telegram.

WALTER WRITES TWO NEW PLAYS.

Reports are current to the effect that Eugene Walter has in preparation two new plays which will be produced in the fall. The title of one of the pieces will be The Last Muster, while the other will be called Another Way. It is said that Charlotte Walker, who in private life

Miss New York, Jr., at the Royal, played to good business. Miss White and the Still City Quartette are the features of this organization.

The electric houses have had good business the past week. New electric houses are springing up all over the city. The approach of the month of May and the possibility of having to close on Sunday, when a license of $500 will be enforced, may weed out a good many of them.

N. W. SHANNON.

TORONTO, CAN.

At the Princess, Lulu Glaser was seen to great advantage in her latest success, Mile. Mischief.

Inspector James Stephens, of the local Morality Department, who is also the stage censor, would not allow the posters of Mile. Glaser, the dancer, the star of The Soul Kiss, which appears at this house next week, to be displayed on the billboards or in the shop windows, because there was a picture of the devil in the background. This is drawing the line pretty fine.

The Royal Alexandra had an excellent offering, which drew big business all week. But the Kalich scored strongly in The Unbroken Road.

Old and young were pleased with School Days at the Grand.

Shea's had a good bill with Cressy and Dayne, La Petite Revue and Montgomery and Moore as principal features.

The Majestic had a good attraction in For Her Children's Sake.

At the Gayety, Andy Lewis and His Mardi Gras Beaniees were excellent, and bumper houses prevailed.

The Champagne Girls made things hum at the Star.

MACON, GA.

The Grand, Dailey Ceil Spooner and her splendid company, have given local theatre-goers a treat such as has not been accorded Macon audiences for a long time. Miss Spooner is a dainty, vivacious actress that has captured Macon audiences. While the patronage was not large it made up for it in enthusiasm. She certainly deserved better recognition and it is hoped that on her next visit full houses will be present at every performance.

The Theaterium (T. J. Weaver, mgr.) Jas. McGowan in illustrated songs and moving pictures.

The Elite (R. L. Hyman, mgr.) Guttenberg's Orchestra, and Arthur Fields, in illustrated songs and moving pictures.

SECURES CONTROL OF TWO THEATRES.

H. A. Soldini, the general manager of the Family Theatre Company, Davenport, Iowa, has purchased the shares of L. C. Oelkers and J. A. Monroe, of the Family Theatres at Clinton and Moline, and he now has entire control of the two houses. The deal was closed March 30. Messrs. Oelkers and Monroe will have charge of the Family Theatres in Rock Island and Davenport. The fixtures in the Family Theatre at Rock Island are owned by Mr. Soldini, but these have been leased to Oelkers and Monroe. Mr. Soldini will make his headquarters in Moline and will do all the booking for his houses.

GREENSBORO (N. C.) AUDITORIUM.

At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Greensboro, N. C., Auditorium Association, Mr. Garland Daniel was appointed general manager of the Greensboro Auditorium, the largest amusement building south of New York. The stage of the Auditorium is eighty feet wide and forty feet deep. A dirt arena, 375 by 80 feet, suitable for any kind of amusements is in the center of the building. The seating capacity is over 15,000.

WINCHELL SMITH BANQUETED.

Winchell Smith, the playwright, was entertained with a handsome loving cup by Company K, First Infantry, C. N. G., during the engagement of his latest success, The Fortune Hunter, in Hartford, Conn., March 25. Mr. Smith, who was formerly a member of Company K, was given a banquet, during the course of which he was required to "stand attention," while Capt. Delamater, on behalf of his comrades, presented Mr. Smith with the suitable inscribed testimonial of their esteem.

FIRST PRODUCTION.

Beverley of Gransterk will be given its premiere at Phillipsburg, N. J., April 10, with Jessie Busby in the title role. Crosman Brown, son of the late Crosman, will be a member of Miss Busby's supporting company.

Miss Florence Fisher and Mr. George W. Howard as Madeline Sneed and Paul Churchill, respectively, with Henry Miller's production of The Family, which opened at Kansas City, March 22.

Mr. Walter will have the principal role in the latter play. It is still a matter of conjecture who will produce Walter's latest effort, but Dame Rumor has it that the Shuberts will send out a company to play The Last Muster, and that David Belasco will guide the destinies of the Another Way production.

UTICA HIPPODROME OPENED.

The Hippodrome of Utica, N. Y., opened its doors to the public for the first time, March 26, under the management of P. F. Clancy, as a vaudeville and moving picture theatre.

This new house is located at 31-33 Lafayette street, and is one of the most beautiful and up-to-date theatres in the city. It has a seating capacity of 300, all on the ground floor, a large stage with elaborate scene and lighting equipment of the most modern pattern.

For the opening week, the Two LeClairs and Height and Bramer, in addition to moving pictures constituted the program.

LONDON TO SEE WIZARD OF OZ.

The musical extravaganza, The Wizard of Oz, will be sent abroad by Thirtig and Seaman, shortly. Details are not to be had at the offices of that firm at present, but that the piece will be presented in London in the near future is an assured fact.

telsha. The company is strong and have become favorites here.

Young Buffalo, in The Sheriff of Angel Gulch, is playing to good business at the Francials. The Italian Grand Opera Company opens a week's engagement at this house, April 5.

Rose Sydell's London Belles are at the Princess this week. Johnny Weber and Tony Kennedy are fun-makers. Freeman Bros., as novelty singers and dancers, are good. Business has been fairly good.

The bill at Hennett's this week, is very good. W. H. Thompson, in Waterloo; Patsy Doyle, monologist; Miss Simone Roviere, Parisian chanteuse; Walter Lewis, in Italy; Grand: Smith and Hargrave, in Writing a Song Hit; Rice and Provost, gymnasts. The usual good attendance.

The Casino offering of the Frederick Family, gymnasts who do some turns not seen here before; Tweedy and Roberts, comedians; Herman and Rice, comedy acrobats, and Frankey DeShaw, monologist, with the latest of moving pictures. DeShaw is one of the most attractive bills in the city. Capacity business.

The usual good bill and attendance prevails at the Camerone this week. Clarke-Vance and the Hurly Company, are the headliners. A larger seating house for this popular show is anxiously looked for, and may materialize at any day.

Lyric Hall has a good bill with Prof. Ross' Pony and Dog Circus and Frank Spanielle, trapeze artist. Business is good.

THE WEEK IN NEW YORK

THE CAST.

Raphael de Valentine	Robert Dronet
Cesare Resapha	N. Sheldon Lewis
Antoniu Guerbet	Harry E. de Lassau
John Wolfe	Harry Leighton
François Plot	Romaine Fielding
Fedora Warona	Miss Helen Robertson
Bernice Dorlan	Mrs. Florence Lester
Madame Dorlan	Mrs. Helen Beresford
Jacques Plaisance	Edmund W. Lyons

WITHOUT doubt, the author of The Conflict had a definite end in view when he put it together, but it must be confessed that he has not succeeded in carrying the moral of the same sufficiently to interest the players. Mr. Robert Dronet is a talented actor, but the play affords him no opportunity.

Here is the story: The Conflict is based on the central conception of Balzac's La Peau de Chagrin (The Wild Ass's Skin). In the drama Raphael de Valentine, a young Parisian of good family, who has been raised in the lap of luxury, has reached the end of his resources. His ability as a writer has not been recognized, and his love for Fedora Warona, the daughter of a wealthy antiquarian, has met with no response. In his despair he determines to commit suicide in the Seine. While waiting for the night to come, he wanders into the shop of Cesare Resapha, ignorant of the fact that the aged man is the father of Fedora. The old man, fearing of his purpose, offers him a piece of shagreen, on which there is an inscription in Arabic, "Possessing me, thou shalt possess all things but thy life. Wish, and thy wish shall be fulfilled." Of course, as in the novel, the fulfillment of every wish is opposed to bring its penalty in the marked shortening of Raphael's life. Raphael accepts the shagreen skin, but scoffs at its pretended power. However, each wish that he utters is fulfilled, and gradually his mind becomes obsessed of a fear of the shagreen, and he believes that death is near at hand. The aged Resapha is likewise under the imperious spell, and when Raphael wishes it the old recluse actually falls in love with a beautiful girl and recklessly squanders his wealth.

Bernice Dorlan, who has always loved Raphael, determines to free him from the fear that is killing him, and the selfishness that is corroding his being.

SOTHERN AS RICHELIEU

RICHELIEU—A historical drama in five acts, by Lalwur Lytton. Daly's.

Louis XIII, King of France	Sydney Mather
Gaston	Albert S. Howson
Cardinal Richelieu	Mr. Sothern
Baradas	Eric Blind
Adrian de Mauprat	Frederick Lewis
De Berlinghen	Rowland Buckstone
Joseph	William Harris
Huguet	John Taylor
François	Harry Turnley
First Courier	Milano Tilden
Captain of the Guard	Leslie King
First Secretary of State	Malcolm Bradley
Second Secretary of State	P. J. Kelly
Third Secretary of State	Frederick Roland
Julie de Mortemar	Miss Gladys Hanson
Marlon de Lorme	Miss Virginia Hammond

Bulwer Lytton's great play was given in a most artistic conception by Mr. Sothern and his capable stars, at Daly's Theatre. A large audience appreciated their efforts.

GRETCHEN

Gretchen, at the German Theatre, was well received this week. The principal character, the Gretchen of the title, is a flight-hearted girl fond of life. She leaves her native village and joins the ranks of mercymakers in a large city. How she drifts back to her village and how she succeeds in inducing the reigning sovereign to raise the dignity and rank of this village to that of a city is told in the three acts.

The New German Theatre will close its season this week.

IRVING'S SON EN TOUR

Mr. Laurence Irving, the son of the late Sir Henry Irving, and his wife, Miss Mabel Hackney, are making a brief tour of the larger cities in this country. Before their departure for London, May 1, it is possible that Mr. Irving may be seen in New York this month, in a series of special matinees, supported by Miss Hackney, and a cast of well-known players. Arrangements are being made have Mr. Irving present at a prominent one or more of the pieces with which his name is identified in England. Miss Hackney was last seen in this country when she appeared with Sir Henry Irving, achieving notable success as Portia. She also created the role of Phyllis in The Thunderbolt, Pinero's latest play, and is credited with being the most promising young actress on the English stage.

FROHMAN'S LAST

Charles Frohman's last American production in New York this season will be the new comedy in three acts by Clyde Fitch, The Happy Marriage, which will come to the Garrick Theatre Monday, April 12, with Miss Doris Keane and Edwin Arden in the chief parts.

NEW COMEDY, NAMED, GOING SOME

The Messrs. Shubert announce that the new comedy by Paul Armstrong and Rex Beach, which is to have its New York premiere at the Casino Theatre, on Monday, April 12, following the engagement of Blanche Bates in The Fighting Howe, has been named Going Some, and will shortly open for a few days out of town before coming to the metropoli. J. Wallingford Speed is the name of the principal character, a young Yale athlete of the side-line cheering variety, who, while visiting a ranch in New Mexico, gets into many humorous complications with the cowboys, in addition to forming a romantic attachment for a charming girl from Smith College.

Speed will be played by Lawrence Wheat, last seen here in Marcelle, and the role of his trainer will be acted by Walter Jones. Among other members of the company are Osa Waldorf, Muriel Starr, Laura Lemmings, Mark Smith, George Leach, Thomas J. Carrigan, Geo. K. Henery, Escamilio Fernandez, Augustus Gassner, Hugh Cameron, Charles West, William Harrigan, W. Tammany Young and Dorothy Truak.

CAST FOR THE GAY LIFE

The complete cast of The Gay Life, shortly to be produced at Daly's Theatre, is announced. It comprises Thomas Thorpe, Frank Currier, Schuyler Ladd, A. S. Byron, Bertram Marburgh, Jack Klovile, Charles Kennedy, Charles Mylott, William Wadsworth, R. J. May, Byron Marsh, Willard Robertson, Mickey Finn, Consuelo Balley, Katherine DeBarry, Violette Kimball, Hele Hancock, Marie Haynes and Josie Williams.

THREE ARTISTS IN LEADING PRODUCTIONS.

Wilfred Young and Grace King are appearing in Fifty Miles From Boston. Eastern Company. Helen Ware is starring in The Third Degree.

ELFIE FAY TO MARRY

Miss Elfie Fay, who has been the daughter of the United States Navy ever since she burst into prominence in the theatrical world by capturing New York and all of Broadway singing The Belle of Avenue A, will regularly enlist in the navy for life. She is to be married to Ensign Leslie Barrett Anderson, of the battleship Missouri.

THE CLIMAX

Mr. Weber announces that he will present The Climax at Weber's Theatre for a series of matinees, starting Easter Monday, April 12, and continuing every Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday afternoon thereafter.

The Climax, written by Edward Lowe, is a combination of musical and dramatic dialogue, which tells a story of modern American life, and which is regarded by Mr. Weber as a decided novelty in stage offerings.

NEW CIRCUS ACTS

Three new acts were added to the circus at the Hippodrome at Monday's matinee, giving it altogether the best arena attraction it has ever had. The Millman Trio of wire artists created a sensation. Little Miss Millman's dancing, cake-walking and comedy work, a la Eva Tanguay, on the wire, made one of the biggest hits the Hippodrome has ever had. Rose Wentworth and Onika Morris gave a fine double equestrian act. The Heras Family of acrobats were another addition. These, with the Hippodrome's two big spectacles and other features are breaking the records at the big playhouse.

DIES DRESSING GIRL

Just as she was dressing her daughter, a young actress, for the leading part in The Sacrifice of a Mariner, which was to have been produced at the Manhattan Lyceum, No. 66 East Fourth street, Mrs. Ernesta Cunico succumbed to the floor and died of heart disease. Her death prevented the production of the play.

Mrs. Cunico had been living with her nineteen-year-old daughter, Estherina, who has achieved considerable popularity on the East Side as an actress. The mother accompanied the girl to all the theatres to give her the protection of her presence, and also to set as her dresser. They were deeply attached to each other.

MR. WORM SAYS:

The same daily New York publication which recently exploited the South American expert knowledge of one Ray Chandler, and quoted him as saying that the proposed South American tour of Miss Juli Marlowe, arranged by the Messrs. Shubert, was impossible, printed on Sunday morning a story to the effect that the musical comedy South American tour organized by the redoubtable Ray Chandler himself had either been postponed or entirely abandoned, adding information that the members of the organization did not believe that the plan of the impresario would ever be consummated. At that time, Mr. Chandler was quoted with regard to the Marlowe tour, and sought to point out flaws in material details of the announcement; he was described by this same daily publication as representing the Klaw & Erlanger of South America, and as the one man without whose assistance and intervention no South American thereon spilling nails or paint. Activity is the keystone.

From now on until the opening every sunny day will see throngs at Coney.

NOTES

Miss Grace George, now playing at the Hackett Theatre in A Woman's Way, is to give a special performance of Divorcees on the afternoon of April 12.

Miss Bertha Gaillard was the principal guest at a meeting of the Century Club in the Hotel Astor, which was attended by four hundred persons. The subject of the discussion by the members of the club was Tragedy.

Mme. Blanche Marchesi, who has just made a long musical tour of the United States, has arrived in New York, and will depart for Europe on the 1st of May. She will return for another tour next season.

Miss Frohman will produce Strike next season, a three act play by John Glaswirth.

Professor Alfons Mucha, the famous Bohemian artist, creator of the celebrated postal panels and portraits of Madame Sarah Bernhardt in all her principal parts, is at work upon a life-sized portrait of Miss Maude Adams in the character of Joan of Arc. The canvas, when finished, will present Joan as a peasant of Doremy, listening to the voice of St. Michael, bidding her to assume the leadership of the French army.

HOT SPRINGS, ARK.

The Auditorium's season is drawing to a close. The attractions that are yet to be seen are Nat Goodwin, April 13, and Lew Dockstader, April 15. This will close the regular season of traveling combinations.

The Alrdome season will open May 10, and Manager Head has booked the best attractions that will be in the southern country, this summer.

The Auditorium Theatre, which belongs to the City, will be overhauled and redecorated throughout this summer.

Manager Head is increasing the seating capacity of the Alrdome to nearly 1,500, building a complete new stage, new scenery, and putting in a beautiful flower garden.

Work has begun on the new roller coaster and scenic railway at Whittington Park, for the summer season.

The Lyceum Theatre changed hands recently and is now controlled by the E. D. McCarty Company, of Kansas City. The Lyceum is enjoying good business and Roy G. Daniels is acting as local manager.

The Lyric Theatre continued to draw fine crowds to see vaudeville and motion pictures.

Will J. Davis, of the Illinois Theatre, Chicago, is a visitor at the Arlington Hotel and seems to be in the best of health, and enjoying his visit to the City of Baths.

Mr. Timmy Sullivan, of New York, arrived last week, and is registered at the Arlington Hotel. He expects to stay for some time.

Lew Dockstader when he arrives this season, will find thousands of his personal friends here who will be glad to meet him.

Miss Etta Louise Blake and Cora Mae Benson arrived from a winter's season in vaudeville, and will soon join some of the big carnival companies for the summer.

Happy Holmes is shaking hands with his numerous friends having been out all winter, and expects to remain here for several weeks.

M. Goldberg, of the Grand Theatre, Joliet, Ill., is with us, and reports success of his theatres in Joliet and Bloomington, Ill.

W. W. Gentry has left for San Antonio, Tex., where his dog and pony show is wintered, and reports everything in readiness for the summer season.

Jack Mahara came in recently with Mahara's Minstrels and closed season here, having received word of the death of his brother, Bill Mahara, in Chicago. He expects to be in the city for several weeks and will sell all properties of the company, and return to Chicago. Bill Mahara was well-known in this city and his numerous friends received the news of his untimely death with much regret.

LAWRENCE J. RINALDO.

SEATTLE, WASH.

John Cort, who left March 21 for Chicago and New York, announced before his departure that, September 1, 1909, the Auditorium at Spokane will pass to the Northwestern Theatrical Association and be under the Cort direction. The policy of the house will be to play all high-class companies, such as are seen at the Moore Theatre, in Seattle, and the dollar shows are to be played at the Spokane Theatre. The change will increase the importance of Spokane as a theatrical center. Manager Cort also made public the fact that by special arrangement with Russell and Drew, sublessees of the Seattle Theatre, that house will be released by them for the remaining year of their agreement with Mr. Cort, and, September 1, a new scheme of entertainment will be provided, the house passing to San Francisco people who will rename it the Tivoli, and install a permanent light opera Company.

The Girl Question opened at the Moore Theatre, Sunday night, for five performances. The Company is excellent and the singing of the men chorus was very good, particularly the male chorus.

The Seattle Symphony Orchestra gave their sixth symphony concert Friday evening, March 26. Josef Lhevinne, the great pianist, was the soloist.

The Russell and Drew Stock Company present From Tramp to Millionaire, at the Seattle Theatre, week of 21, to excellent business.

At the Orpheum, this week, were Adeline Dunlap and Frank McCormack, Lotta Gladstone, the Sandmans, Harry L. Webb, Leander De Cordova and Company, Clordon and Marx, and the Mischa Milch.

A very good program was presented at Pan Tropic's Theatre, week of 22, to good business. Christine Hill and Company, Four Orpheus Comedy, Donat Bedini, Libby A. Thayer, The Norwegians, Arthur Elwell and Blake's Mule, Helle Haawand.

LEM A. SHORTRIDGE.

THE WEEK IN CHICAGO

MOST of the plays that were on the amusement program of last week hold over to delight Chicago theatregoers. There are three new ones within the loop, however; that is to say, there are changes at the Grand Opera House, where Montgomery and Stone come in The Red Mill, to resume the success that greeted their previous engagement in this city; The Shepherd King drives the "orize fighters" from the Auditorium, and Corinne, in Lola from Berlin, is being housed at the Great Northern Theatre. The Red Mill is a play of the sort that will always be new and pleasing, and has a following which is in plentiful evidence at every performance at the Grand. Mr. Wright Lorimer, in The Shepherd King, is seen in a stupendous production of this well-known vehicle, and is receiving the homage that is rightfully his due, while at the Great Northern the patrons of that showhouse are satisfied with the present attraction and are living in anticipation of The Alaskan.

The Great John Ganton has scored at the Frederick Theatre and is being generally well received by the press and public. The play is particularly appealing from a local viewpoint, and the theme in its entirety is broad enough in scope to insure its reception in other cities at such time as it takes to the road. The players in support of George Fawcett, who has the title role, are especially efficient, and the settings are realistic and convincing in every sense of detail.

The second week of The Family at Powers' Theatre finds the play fully appreciated by the high-class audiences who are typical of its present home. The well-balanced company grasp every opportunity of the strong story and artistically shade the various characters.

McVicker's Theatre finds Henry Miller in The Great Divide, a delightful box-office attraction, and the patrons of that famous old showhouse are more than satisfied. This is his second week.

OLGA NETHERSOLE AT THE ILLINOIS.

Irving Lawrence William Morris
Barbara Lawrence, his wife, Olga Nethersole
Harry Lawrence, their child Albert Hackett
Muriel Lawrence, Irving's sister
Gordon Payne, engaged to Muriel C. T. Mathews
Lincoln Schuyler Robert T. Haines
John Trainor, Irving's secretary Frank Craven
Stella, his wife, Harry's governess
Peters, servant Miss Beverly Stiggeaves
Christine, servant John Hickford
Christine, servant Miss Florence Spreen

SYNOPSIS.

The scene of the play is the library of the Lawrence home in New York. The first act occurs after dinner on an evening in December.

The second, third and fourth acts take place in the afternoon before Christmas. Only three minutes' intermission between Acts II. and III.

The Writing on the Wall is William J. Hurblit's masterpiece, and one of the most powerful selections among the many successes that have been developed by Olga Nethersole. Miss Nethersole is supported by a notable cast all-American players prominent in which are Robert T. Haines and William Morris, two veritable artists, whose work is of the highest standard. This is the second week of this play at the Illinois Theatre, where business is deservedly good.

This is the last week in Chicago of Via Wireless, the thrilling Thompson production, which has been enthusing the audiences at the Chicago Opera House. Jack Blinn, the hero of the Republic disaster, is an added feature in this play of modern marine life.

Little Nemo is soon to say good-bye to the Colonial, where it has to make way for the return of The Merry Widow, which is being brought back to Chicago through the efforts of George Lederer, who announces "the original New York cast and Lina Abarhamoff and George Donelly." The great cartoon play now current at this theatre is one of the best of its kind ever seen here, and has met with success that is consistently evidenced at the box-offices.

CAMEO KIRBY

Eugene Kirby, commonly known as Cameo Kirby Dustin Farnum
Larkin Fance James Lackaye
Tom Randall Gordon Johnstone
Anatole Vaudry Richard Utman
Aaron Randall James Seeley
Colonel Moran John Harrington
Judge Pleydell George W. Deyo
"The General," little brother of Tom Donald Gallaher
Adelle Matt R. Snyder
Adele Randall May Buckley
Anne Pleydell Nora Shelly
Madam Davorgae Maud Hosford
Grosse Poulette (a slave) Ruth Lloyd
Mammy Lula Jane Kendrick
Plantation Negroes, Slaves, etc.

In Cameo Kirby, Dustin Farnum has a role that fits him better than any other he has so far essayed. As the old-time, chivalrous river gambler, he is at his best, and is thoroughly convincing. James Lackaye, as Larkin Fance, his partner in the "profession," has all the laughs in the play, and develops them well, while May Buckley, as Adele Randall, the romantic young Southern girl, artistically portrays this character to all its virgin sweetness and with her inimitable charming mannerisms. Cameo Kirby, the play, should be enduring in its success, and the Cameo Kirby of Dustin Farnum surely has earned a prominent niche in his present gallery of characters. The Sindbad Theatre is profiting by this engagement, and George Ade Davis is fully realizing on its press opportunities.

VAUDEVILLE AND MUSIC HALLS

The stellar feature on the bill current at the American Music Hall is Miss Amelia Ellingham, late of The Climbers, who presents forty minutes of strong scenes from various of her successful plays. Miss Ellingham is well known to theatregoers at large and is popular at Morris' new vaudeville house. She was on the program at the opening of this house, and was one of the real big encroachers of that evening of "hits." Those held over from last week are Saharet, the dancing sensation, and Joe Welch, the Hebrew laugh dispenser. Charles Sweet, whose singing is as his name, and the celebrated Florentz Troupe of tumblers are among the other attractive of merit.

SCENES OF THE PLAY:

ACT I.—Scene 1—Exterior of "The Breakers," Palm Beach, Fla. Scene 2—Delft Forest, in the mythical country of Lunitania.
ACT II.—A House Boat during the progress of the water fete.
ACT III.—Same as Act I.

The Prince of To-night has made good. Mort Singer's assertion that his new Princess attraction was one of the best of modern musical comedies, and the management are handling big audiences with mutual satisfaction. The Golden Girl, at the LaSalle Theatre is another Sliger success that is wearing well.

The Toy and Girl has been retouched and brightened in the lines and situations that dragged at first, and as the costumes, settings and players needed no improvement, the Whitney Opera House now has an attraction that is every way up to their high standard. Up-to-date is good, and Manager Peers anticlimates an indefinite run.

AT THE NEIGHBORHOOD THEATRES.

The Three of Us moves from the People's to the Marlowe. The offering at the People's will be Marie Corelli's Wormwood. The College Theatre is closed for the week but will reopen April 12. HALEY AND HALEY.

The team of Haley and Haley, appearing in vaudeville, are native St. Louisans. Lee Haley, the male member of the team, is eighteen years old, and his sister, Kathryn, is nineteen. Miss Haley's first notable appearance was at the Olympic Theatre, St. Louis, during a benefit, where she was enthusiastically received. She was advised to enter vaudeville, and a few weeks later got an engagement and traveled North and Northwest, her brother Lee traveling with her for company. Having finished this engagement, her brother doubled up with her in a novelty singing and dancing act, the success of which speedily led to a thirty-two weeks' contract through the South, where they met with great success, playing all the principal towns in the Southern and Western States.

The feature of their act is a trained monkey, which is also a star in his part. The act is closed by two principals appearing as Italian organ grinders. Their work in this act is so realistic that the stage is often showered with silver, which is quickly picked up by the monkey, while the audience aways and roars with laughter. They are at present playing in Ft. Louis, and when finished there, will have their act tried out in the metropolis for big time.

MUSIC AND THE STAGE

NEW YORK MUSIC NOTES.

William Morris, manager of the American Music Hall, set aside certain days for various societies interested in the song to attend the theatre. Tuesday was for the members of the National Song Society; Wednesday, patriotic societies; Thursday, veterans of the Spanish and Civil Wars; Friday for music teachers, and Saturday matinee for school children. Patriotic pictures were shown and the audiences joined in the chorus at each performance. The chorus of the song is as follows:

I love ev'ry inch of her prairie land, each stone on her mountain's side,
I love ev'ry drop of the water clear, that flows in her rivers wide;
I love ev'ry tree, ev'ry blade of grass, within Columb'a's gates,
The Queen of the earth is the land of my birth, my own United States.

The new publishing house, the Theodore Morse Music Company, has started off successfully with a number of prospective winners. Theodore Morse has written a number of big successes, among them Blue Bell, Way Down in My Heart I've Got a Feeling for You, Down in Jungle Town, Dear Old Girl, and Monkeyland. Al Cook, the other member of the firm, is well and favorably known in the profession and the musical trade. He has been connected with J. W. Pepper, of Philadelphia; Lyon and Healy and also the John Church Company, of Chicago; Hawley, Haviland and Dresser and with the F. B. Haviland Music Publishing Company.

The Song Writers' Contest has proven a popular feature at the American Music Hall. One of the most popular compositions proved to be, How Would You Like to be an Actor? written by Schreiner and Willis, who, it has been discovered, are clothing salesmen, and their employers allowed them the afternoons off to attend the matinee performances during the contest.

It has received the official endorsement of Senator Chauncey M. Depew and other men and women high in the affairs of the country, who are competent to judge of its merits. It is now a feature of the daily exercises of many of the public and private schools and the various celebrations of patriotic societies.

The National Song Society materially aided the popularizing of their song, My Own United States, at the American Music Hall last week. Mr. John Nestor, the official soloist of the Society, appeared at every performance and sang the patriotic song the Society is promoting as a national anthem.

This society, which numbers between ten and fifteen thousand members, recruited from the ranks of statesmen, musicians, educators, Civil and Spanish-American War veterans, adopted this song only after a thorough search of the entire known list of patriotic songs now in existence.

It is quite probable that a number of popular songs will be heard on Milwaukee avenue, where it is rumored that Abe Jacobs will build a vaudeville theatre on that thoroughfare. Wm.
Morris may have the booking.

It is rumored that the Chicago Musical College, through W. K. Ziegfeld, has secured the services of Alexander Sebold, the great violinist and teacher, and Anton Foerster, the renowned pianist.

Geo. Austin Moore has added What's the Use of Moonlight When There's no One Round to Love, to his act, and writes to the Rossiter office that it is just what the doctor ordered.

Harry Spingold and Co. are enjoying O Miss Malinda as much as their audiences. Mr. Spin-gold is busy rehearsing his new act and expects to produce it about the middle of this month.

Dainty Dott Davidson, "the little girl with the sweet voice," is meeting with success over the Interstate time, featuring I Wish I Had a Girl.

Heinic Waltzed Round on His Hickory Limb.

Miner's Americans Quartette find Games of Childhood Days a great gatherer of encores.

PLAYHOUSES.

Plans are now under way for the construction of an airdome in Washington, Pa. A number of the business men of Washington are interested in the project, and will place the theatre on a circuit of airdomes operating in nearby territory. Beginning May 31 for the following sixteen weeks, high class repertoire companies will give performances daily. The theatre will be under the management of F. H. Hallam, who is at present manager of the Lyric Theatre, in Belvidere, Ill.

Cyril Dadswell, manager of the Park at Henderson, Ky., has leased the Washington (Ind.) Opera House for five years. Mr. Dadswell has made a financial success of the Park and will no doubt meet with the same success at Washington. Mrs. J. Dadswell will attend to the booking of attractions and other business at Washington, while Mr. Dadswell will remain at Henderson.

Woodford and Marlboro, who purchased the Gem Vaudeville Theatre, Meridian, Miss., a few months ago, report business excellent at that house. They are at present erecting an airdome in Meridian, which they state will be one of the handsomest resorts of its kind in the State. A variety of entertainments will be presented at the airdome.

The Airdome Theatre, at DeSoto, Mo., managed by L. J. Manheimer, will be re-opened shortly. The Airdome is owned by Messrs. Manheimer and Hamel, who are contemplating increasing the seating capacity of the place from 300 to 700. Vaudeville and moving pictures will be put on this season.

The Grand Opera House, Paris, Ky., has been leased by Messrs. Chandler, Bell and Booth, who will conduct it as a vaudeville and moving picture house during the summer months. Acts will be secured from the Gus Sun Circuit. The house opens under the new policy on April 4.

Hazleton's (Pa.) new vaudeville theatre was opened with a S. R. O. house last week. On the initial bill were Frank Bush, Clara May Homer, Rosedale Quartet, Francesco Redding and co., Gertie LeClair and Pickles, Franklin Parker and Co., and Blake's Animal Circus.

Bert Baxter, the manager of the Fairyland Theatre, Bluefield, W. Va., assumed possession of the Wonderland Theatre of that city April 1, and has renamed it The Hipp. Mr. Baxter will give three vaudeville performances nightly and two matinees a week.

There will be two airdomes opened in McAlester, Okla., by May 25. One will be devoted to stock and the other will play vaudeville exclusively. A. B. Estes will manage the stock theatre while the vaudeville house will be under the direction of R. H. DeBuehler.

James B. Delcher, of Jacksonville, Fla., announces that the Dural Theatre, Jacksonville, will be under his management next season, giving it his personal attention. He will change the policy of the house, by playing all attractions two nights and a matinee.

W. A. Bates, who was assistant treasurer of the Orpheum Theatre, Seattle, Wash., has been appointed treasurer of the Orpheum in Spokane, succeeding James Lynch, who has accepted a position in Chicago. Mr. Bates assumed his new office March 14.

Manager Ed. Lampson, of the Palm and Fern Theatres, Fort Worth, Kansas, will open a summer theatre in that city, for vaudeville. It will be erected at a cost of $5,000 and will have a seating capacity of 1,200. It will be known as The Lampson.

A capacity audience witnessed The Flower of the Ranch, the opening attraction at the Beardsley Theatre, Red Oak, Iowa. March 6. The new Beardsley is a most complete playhouse, having all modern improvements, besides a large and commodious stage.

The new Princess Theatre, Covington, Ky., broke all records last week, with the best bill of the season. The bill was headed by Ted Buck, That Singing Comedian, and included Taylor and Brunz, Harry F. West, J. F. Howell and Carle Everettts.

Harry C. Hayward, manager of the Auditorium Theatre, Spokane, Wash., has returned from Olympia, where he was for the past nine weeks attending the legislature. It was through his strenuous efforts that the Sunday law was passed.

The New Lillian Family Theatre, at Detroit, Mich., was opened March 15 under the management of Lyman W. Harris and Company. The house has a seating capacity of 400 with all modern conveniences, and is devoted to vaudeville.

C. Hamilton, manager of the Lyric Theatre, Rome, N. Y., has severed his connection with that theatre, and has returned to his home in New York City.

Perce R. Benton has opened C. W. Brown's new Opera house, Watonga, Okla., by presenting The Man at the Bar. The piece was a success.

Amusement Events of the Week

Theatres Adopt Vaudeville and Moving Pictures in Philadelphia--Ringling's Bill City of Brotherly Shubert's Take on New Theatre in Baltimore--Stars Appear in Kansas

PHILADELPHIA, PA.

The openings March 29, were well attended, especially the attractions that were new to the city. Cohan and Harris produced The Majesty of Birth for the first time in a large city, at the Garrick Theatre, and its favorable reception by a large audience proved that the flattering tributes paid it on its first presentation in Trenton, N. J., were well deserved. The theme of the play is a delicate one but the author has handled the conflict between Jew and Gentile in a deft manner. The newspapers were at a unit in praising the play and it looks as if the offering would prove a big success.

Hill Burke, in Love Watched, drew a big house to the Broad, and our first glimpse of that delightful play was therefore under very favorable circumstances. It pleased and will do a big business during the rest of the engagement. Henry E. Dixey pleased with his clever comedy and pathos. In Mary Jane's Pa, which Henry W. Savage has given a superb mounting and a splendid cast. The opening was a big one and the engagement of two weeks will be a winner. David Warfield continued to attract big houses with The Music Master and the two more weeks allotted to that attraction will be far too short a time for him many admirers to have a chance to see him. Mrs. Fliske had a good house on Monday, with Salvation Nell, and business has been good since.

The Yankee Prince also had a fair week, and May Robson is making money at the Walnut with The Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary. The burlesque houses all had crowds during the week and the vaudeville houses did as much business as if it were the middle of the season instead of being the middle of Lent. It will be a prosperous week for every house in the city and enough profit will be made by every manager to tide him over the dull period sure to come during Holy Week.

Every theatre in Philadelphia is now run by an incorporated company, except one. The National is the last to incorporate and Hart's Theatre is the only one run by an individual. The incorporation of theatres got to be a bad idea last year, as managers who had outside enterprises found that it paid to financially protect themselves with this safe-guard. Most of them are incorporated under New Jersey laws but a few of them operate under Pennsylvania charters.

The switching of regular theatres to vaudeville and moving picture houses still continues, and no one can figure when this will end. The Grand Opera House is to open this class of entertainment, April 12. Hart's Theatre unexpectedly announces that it will adopt this program, starting next week, and the Girard Theatre will start in as soon as the season is over. Although there has been a big increase in the number of houses running the combination of vaudeville and moving pictures, the smaller theatres still seem to prosper, and but few of them are closing. Nearly every house now makes a daily change of pictures to hold their trade, and in consequence the renters of films are up to their eyes with business.

Preliminary billing for Ringling Brothers' Circus starts here this week, the Philadelphia date being week of May 3. Ringlings have made good here for several years in succession, and the return of the big tented organization will be hailed with pleasure. Sam McCracken has been in town several days and everything is now in apple-pie order for the opening.

John H. Keenan will leave this week for Oklahoma City, after spending a very pleasant fortnight at his home in this city. He is to open his new amusement attractions on the Oklahoma State Fair Grounds, in April, and expects a prosperous season.

Mrs. Leslie Carter will begin an engagement at the Broad Street Theatre, April 12, producing Kansas. This play was written by John Luther Long, a Philadelphia author who wrote Madame Butterfly and there is intense interest being shown in its first production here. The Three Twins, which played a two weeks' engagement here early in the season, returns to the Forrest Theatre, April 5, for a run, and there is a big advance sale.

The date set for the appearance of the Buffalo Bill and Pawnee Bill Show in this city has been fixed for early in June.

It is expected that the New Broadway Theatre, Camden, N. J., will remain open all summer, as the season of vaudeville at that house has been very prosperous.

The Mask and Wig Club have finished rehearsals, and this year's production of Merely A Monarch will be the biggest musical comedy ever put on by a college organization. They play Easter week at the Chestnut Street Opera House.

During the summer season at Keith's Chestnut Street Theatre, there will be a reduction in the matinee prices.

Grant LaFerty announces that the season of stock performances by the Orpheum Players will continue at the Chestnut Street Theatre all summer.

Al. White, who has had a very successful season in teaching stage dancing, will open a new school in the old Y. M. C. A. Building, in a few weeks. He will have much more room and ample stage facilities.

Vaudeville has been discontinued at the Camden Theatre, and a stock company is now putting on two plays a week.

The entire force of treasurers and ticket sellers at the Philadelphia Baseball Park will be changed, this summer, and the local theatrical men who look after our box-offices will take their places.

The authorities have closed fifteen picture theatres in this city within the past ten days, on account of defective wiring. A rigid inspection of all the places in the city is being made and any theatre not up to the standard will be closed until the necessary improvements are made.

Surprised on by the success of the operatic productions of the Hanmerstein Opera Company, the directors of the Academy of Music will make many improvements in that house before next season, so that the performances of the Metropolitan Opera Company can be given on a similar scale of magnificence. New dressing-rooms will be built, the entire lighting plant overhauled, and the arrangements for handling scenery will be brought up-to-date. The Metropolitan Opera Company agrees to furnish entire new scenery and costumes for the productions.

Carl Pohlig, director of the Philadelphia Orchestra, sailed for Europe last week and will remain abroad until August. Before leaving he signed a new contract with the directors of the orchestra for a term of six years.

Henry Gerloch is building a new moving picture theatre at 13th and Tioga streets to cost $10,000. It will have seating capacity of 500.

The Strawbridge and Clothier Chorus, who are to sing Elijah, April 19, have engaged Florence W. Hinkle, Mrs. Russell King Miller, Paul Volkmann and Henry G. Scott as soloists for that night.

The carnivals held by business men in different parts of the city, last year, were such a success that they have already started for this year. The merchants give many prizes away to customers, the streets are illuminated and band concerts and shows are given for the purpose of drawing trade to the particular section. The financial results of these affairs are so gratifying that many more will be held this year.

Dore Davidson, who has been with Annie Russell all season, sailed for London on the Merion, from this port, March 31. He will produce The Man on the Box in that city and will also place many more plays with managers. If the enterprise proves the success expected, he will not return to this country for a number of years.

Ensign Leslie Barrett Anderson, of 726 North Forty-eighth street, Philadelphia, who is attached to the Battleship Missouri, is engaged to marry Elsie Fay, the vaudeville actress. The ceremony was to have taken place March 30, in New York, but a delay in securing the license postponed the wedding. Mr. Anderson is a son of an old-time newspaper man of Philadelphia, who was well-known to theatrical people.

Students of the University of Pennsylvania will present Oscar Hammerstein with a silver loving cup, April 3, as a token of their appreciation of his kindness in granting them reduced prices for seats during the performances of grand opera at the Philadelphia Opera house, this winter.

Work on the new William Penn Theatre, in West Philadelphia, is being rapidly pushed, and it is hoped to get it ready to open by September 1. The seating capacity has been cut down to 3,500 and, although nearly $100,000 had been expended on the structure before it was sold at sheriff's sale, William Miller and his associates will expend $78,000 more on the structure.

Over 1,000 subscriptions have already been received for the next season of grand opera at Hammerstein's Philadelphia Opera House. There will be one hundred performances during the season, including a number of productions of opera continuo.

The ushers of the Philadelphia Opera House presented J. De Jara Almonte, the local manager, with a suit-case, hat box and steamer ring this week. The twelve inmates of the Forrest Home are to attend the last performance of opera at Philadelphia Opera House on April 3.

The Triangle Club, of Princeton University, are actively engaged in rehearsing for The Duchess of Bloomsbury, a new musical comedy, which they will present at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in New York, April 17. A number of people from this city will attend the performance.

Word comes from Harrisburg that the bill appropriating $200,000 for the purchase of property for a state fair grounds, and fitting up the same and producing an annual appropriation of $25,000 for premiums, has every prospect of passing, and the fair will be held in 1910. Every member of the Legislature is in favor of the bill.

Everything is in readiness for the opening of the Atlantic City Horse Show, on Young's Million Dollar Pier, April 8. It is to continue for three days. An exhibition ring as big as the one in Madison Square Garden in New York, has been built in one of the pier pavilions, and there will be ample stable room. An exhibition of carriages and harness will also be given at the same time. The entries are numerous and as Atlantic City will be crowded with fashionable people at that time, the success of the show is assured. Judge A. B. Endicott is president of the show.

The first house-furnishing show, under the management of Col. J. W. Ritchie, now open at Horticultural Hall, is a big success and will be an annual event hereafter.

William Lordella, with The Devil's Auction Company, last season, is resting in this city, but will rejoin that show when it goes on the road next season. This will be his twenty-eighth season with this company.

An effort will be made to keep two of our big theatres open all summer, with musical comedies. The early closing of many theatres for lack of attractions may make this possible.

An agitation is now on for the building of a large convention hall in this city and, as the people back of the new movement are well known capitalists, it looks as if it might amount to something more than a scheme on paper, this time.

Atlantic City will be crowded with visitors during Holy Week and Easter Week and the theatrical attractions booked those weeks will reap a rich harvest.

S. Lubin, who owns five moving picture and vaudeville houses on Market street, all located within five blocks, states that he will purchase any other property in that vicinity and build new theatres. It looks as if our principal thoroughfare will soon be a midway, like seen at big expositions.

BOB WATT.

BUFFALO, N. Y.

In order to test the law regarding Sunday opening of motion picture theatres, the Grand and Theatre-Comique, on Main street, opened for business, 21. The manager and operator were arrested by the police. A complete investigation will be made by city officials. As the picture men even determined to force matrons, a uniformed policeman is now stationed in front of each picture theatre to see that the law is lived up to, respecting the admission of minors. The case will be settled in the Municipal Court, soon.

Owing to ill health, Robert Demaster, who has a leading part in The Blue Mouse, will leave that company at Washington, D. C., this week, for a month's vacation, going to the Bermudas. Three nights were lost at Syracuse on account of sickness. He will probably take his part in the play, on his return.

Cosmopolitan theatricals are becoming a part of this city's amusements. A company of Syrians produced a five-act melodrama at Miller's Theatre on the East side. It was well enacted and the costumes were picturesque. Yiddish drama has been given regularly by a company and is well supported. The establishment of a regular Yiddish theatre will probably be built for that purpose.

Musical revues seemed to be the vogue in the city, week of 22. No less than three appeared and good ones too. They were rewarded by excellent business. The Garden had the Belman Show with its Passing Review; Wine, Woman and Song was at the Lyric, with Going into Vaudville, andimitation of Ziegfeld's Folies of 1908 was at the Star the latter part of the week.

It was a red letter week for the newest and good ones too. They were rewarded by excellent business. The Garden had the Belman Show with its Passing Review; Wine, Woman and Song was at the Lyric, with Going into Vaudville, and imitation of Ziegfeld's Folies of 1908 was at the Star the latter part of the week.

Shea has them all in line, and the week of 29 found the usual good people; Dorothy Russell found many friends; the Country Club proved a winner; Edna Phillips and Company appeared to good advantage; the Dunedin Troupe did some excellent work; Trovolo, pianist; Chas. Kenna made good; the juggling of Le Lisles was fine; Carter and Illeford scored, and pictures closed the bill. Business, the usual exception.

If things turn out as expected the Klaw & Erlanger interests will have a new theatre on the site of the Central Presbyterian Church. They are now using the Star for their attractions. Wm. Morris had an eye on the property, but his option having run out, the Shea Management Company stepped in and secured the same. They propose to erect a new theatre and it is said that all arrangements are completed to lease the house to Klaw & Erlanger. The question now is, "What will Morris do?"

Agnes Cameron, playing leads with False Friends, closes 27 and joins the McCann Family in vaudeville, at Johnstown, Pa.

Hurke O'Neill starts the season early with a repertoire company, touring the Pennsylvania Circuit. He has been playing a leading part with False Friends.

Bertha Kalich, in The Unbroken Heart, closes her road tour at Toronto, Ont., April 3.

J. Jones Johnston, manager of False Friends, reports excellent business during the Canadian tour of the company. The place closes the season here, 27.

A good variety of attractions are offered at the several theatres, week of 29, including The Son Kisses the Star; Girls, at the Teek; Wizard of Oz, at the Lyric; The Angel and the Axe, at the Academy; Sam T. Jack's Company, at the Lafayette, and Harry Bryant's Burlesquers, at the Garden.

JOHN S. RICHARDSON

BROOKLYN, N. Y.

The attraction of the week beginning Monday, April 5, at the Montauk Theatre, will be Mabel Taliaferro in Polly of the Circus.

Last week Chauncey Olcott won several hand some prizes at the golf tournament at Palm Beach, Fla. The popular comedian resumes his tour in Haged Hudd, April 12, at the Majestic Theatre.

The stock company of Percy Williams' Crescent Theatre will appear next week in An American Citizen. Mr. Mackay will appear in Mr. Goodwin's original part, and all the company including Miss Fleming, Miss Melville, Miss McAllister, Miss Martin, Mr. Forbes, Mr. Buchanan, Mr. Wilson and Mr. Bushell will have principal parts. H. Percy Meldon has personally directed the rehearsals.

The Musical Elephants, direct from the New York Hippodrome, will be seen for the first time in Brooklyn at the Orpheum Theatre this week. Another feature is the new musical comedy, Langland, which will be played by Pat Rooney's company of fifteen players. Another act that will be seen here for the first time is entitled, Superstition, and is a parody on fortune telling. It will be presented by Bowser, Hinkle and Company. The McNaughtons will add to the humor of the bill with their cross talk and burlesque boxing bout. The Vassar Girls, a big musical act, is another feature. Our Boys in Blue offer a military specialty, consisting of drills, maneuvers, etc., and Kennedy, McLean and Platt will introduce a singing and comedy turn.

George M. Cohan's Fifty Miles From Boston will be the attraction at the Folly Theatre this week. At the Star Theatre this week, Irwin's Majesties will provide the program.

One of the king pins of the burlesque field, Irwin's Big Show, will be at the Gayety Theatre this week.

At the Olympic Theatre the program will be provided by the Dauntless Dutchess Company. There are some clever fun makers, of whom Phil Mills is the shining light.

At the Bijou Theatre a high standard of vaudeville at moderate prices is being maintained. There will be eight numbers this week. The leading numbers are Burke and Touhey and La Psyche, who will make her first appearance in America. She comes from the Palace Theatre in London, where she gave a picturesque mirror dance for several months.

Rita Villiers, who was a favorite member of the Spooner Stock Company, is making her first appearance in the Bijou Theatre after an absence of two years. With Darrel Vinton, a well-known Shakespearean actor, she is appearing in a comedy sketch called The Liar.

Andrew Mack, the Irish comedian, will shortly be seen at the Orpheum in a lively little one-act playlet, entitled Barney. Mr. Mack will be supported by an efficient company and will, of course, introduce his most popular song hits. His vaudeville engagement is for a limited number of weeks only, after which he will put into immediate rehearsal a new Irish play.

One of the headliners shortly to be seen at the Orpheum is Miss Valerie Berger, who will be seen with her company in a new dramatic playlet.

Charles Frohman will present Battie Williams in Fluffy Ruffles at the Broadway, on April 12.

GEO. H. HAKES

BALTIMORE, MD.

The Shuberts who will take over the management of the Auditorium next season, began a fortnight's engagement this week, with The Blue Mouse as the first attraction. The business done should be highly pleasing to the new management.

Robert Eddeson is at Ford's this week, with The Call of the North, and had big business.

Max Rogers, with Joe Kane, appeared during the week at the Academy of Music, in Panama. Marion Stanley is at the head of a very excellent supporting cast.

Circumstantial Evidence, a dramatic playlet, is the headliner of the week's bill at the Maryland. It is undoubtedly one of the best sketches of the season. Following the act come Laddie Cliff, The Mira Golem Troupe of Persian acrobats, Katie Rooney, Volta and Los Rolling girls. The moving pictures are exceptionally good.

The last performance for the season by the Metropolitan Company was a presentation of La Boheme. Geraldine Farrar, who was announced for a previous performance, but became ill just four hours prior to the curtain, appeared and scored a distinct personal triumph from an audience that crowded the Lyric. Hone and Nutto, well-known members of the Metropolitan forces, appeared in leading parts. The Metropolitan Company has decided to give a series of twenty performances here—one a week next season.

The last of the series of recitals by the Kindred Quartet was given during the week. Harold Handel, director of Peabody Institute, assisted. These recitals are among the most important musical affairs of the season and always drew large crowds.

The Victoria, Hanley's and Ulnin's all continue to do good business. The Cowboy Girl attracted fair houses at the Holiday Street while the New Century Girls at the Monumental, and the Reilly and Woods Show, at the Gayety, did the usual large burlesque business.

The management of the Academy of Music announces Fritz Scheff for Easter week, and E. H. Sothern the week following. Mr. Sothern will be seen in Hamlet, Lord Dundreary and Richelle.

The Strollers, a musical comedy club of this city, will give a series of performances during the latter part of next month, under the direction of George Macomber.

Miss Carroll McCormick will appear as leading woman of the Willa A. Page Stock Company, when it begins its summer season at the Auditorium, April 12. Willette Kershaw will continue in her role in The Battle, until the last of April, when she will come to Baltimore and take the role of leading woman in the Page Company. Miss McCormick will then go to Washington. The Importance of Being Earnest, by Oscar Wilde, has been chosen as the first offering of the local company.

EMANUEL DANIEL.

KANSAS CITY, MO.

The wane of the season brings to town the choicest offerings in the theatrical world. From now on, the managers are trying to offer sufficient counter attractions to induce the playing public to the theatres and away from the warm spring air, fresh flowers and spring gardens. They are succeeding, too, as evidenced by the superior merit of all the shows in town this week and those announced as "coming." Vaudeville, too, given Kansas City, has put on an extra "spirit," and one might now call it the "super-beat vaudeville."

Henry Miller selected Kansas City as a representative American city to see and judge the premier of his new production, The Family, and his good judgment was well rewarded by the enthusiastic praise accorded Mr. Robt. H. Davis' little play of human interest, by both press and public. For the benefit of the Women's Athletic Club, who won Mr. Miller's generous support in their project of a new club house, a special matinee of The Family was given at the Willis Wood, March 26. This was a sure enough benefit, as everything was donated and none of the receipts went to any one but the Women's Club. Mr. O. D. Woodward graciously giving the use of the theatre and orchestra, and Mr. Miller contributing the services of his capable company.

Viola Allen is here this week. In her new play, The White Sister, at the Willis Wood, and is filling the house at all performances. Miss Allen is one of the few actresses who will not appear on the stage on Good Friday, hence April 9, the house will be "dark."

The Thief is announced for a week, commencing April 12, at the Willis Wood.

Since Earl Stewart's incumbency as manager of the Sam S. Shubert Theatre, the house has been overhauled and what was necessary in redecorating, refurbishing, etc., has been done. Mr. Stewart has had a nice lot of attractions to offer Kansas City and his house is popular. Hilda Spong, Is a Man and his Mate, was there, week of March 28, and Max Elgman, In the Substitute, is here this week.

The Sisters of St. Mary's are to have a matinee benefit in aid of their new hospital, at the Grand Theatre, April 16. Al. Judah, renowned for his charities, has donated the use of his house and all the companies playing here that week will be asked to contribute talent for the occasion. There will be some local amateur talent also. Martin Lehman, resident manager of the Orpheum, will be stage director.

On the Orpheum's bill for the week of March 28, was the very novel and unusual vaudeville act, The Night at the Circus. All that a sure enough circus has and does—has and does. The company was larger than some of those that have time at other theatres.

The novelty of the two Holy Cities in town the same week is noted. The Holy City is being given by the Woodward Stock Company, at the Auditorium Theatre, and Bennett's Holy City is holding the boards of the Gillis Theatre this week and very appropriately in "Holy week."

It was reported from Minneapolis, last week, that our "Tom" Hodgesman, manager of the Majestic Theatre, was to leave Kansas City, to assume management of the Gayety Theatre, Minneapolis. Mr. Hodgesman in an interview with The Billboard, is quoted as follows: "There is nothing in the rumor that I am to leave Kansas City. It may be that the wherefore of the report lies in the fact that I am from Minneapolis, and naturally I would like to go back there. But it appears now that I am to stay in Kansas City. The Columbian Amusement Company, which is building the new Gayety Theatre in Kansas City, has offered me the position of manager of the theatre and I have accepted. So in all likelihood I shall be in Kansas City. Yes, you may say for me, that the opening of the season of 1909, 10 will see me in Kansas City managing the new Gayety Theatre, which will be in readiness then."

The chorus girls of The Knickerbockers, playing the Majestic Theatre, week of 21, and The Proscenios, at the same house, week of March 28, who had blown into Kansas City several days in advance of their opening here, broke ground on Friday, March 26, for the new Gayety Theatre, which the Columbian Amusement Company is erecting. This was a most novel role for chorus girls and an immense crowd gathered to see the girls work. Mr. Hodgesman thought this would be newer than having the mayor of the city officiate in the time honored way. It is promised that the new theatre will be ready for the opening in September.

Roger Imhof and the Empire Burlesquers this week at the Century, are certainly the money-getters. Capacity for the Century so far.

Parker's Animal Show left winterquarters at the Kansas City Hippodrome, March 31, for their home town, Abilene, Kan. There are two Parker shows, numbers one and two. C. W. Harden, who managed the show here will be with the Number Two Show this season. They start the season April 15 and 17, after a most profitable winter in Kansas City.

The Coliseum opened a three weeks' roller racing event, March 29, to last until April 10. These races are under sanction of the Western Skating Association and are for the championship of the one, two, and three-mile events. Some speed skaters are contesting.

WILLIAM W. SHELLEY.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.

In Golden Gate Hall, March 24, a special exhibition was given of moving pictures, the product of the International Projecting and Producing Company. The Pacific Coast Film Exchange issued a number of invitations and several hundred interested people attended. The exhibition was under the personal direction of Mr. Strecker, who, representing the company, came direct from the East for this special purpose. He made quite a speech, reciting the ways and means of his company, and the several hundred of guests were treated to an exhibition of several reels, all new subjects here.

Melbourne MacDowell and Virginia Drew Tresson, in their sketch, A Man of the People, will be an added attraction at the Wigwam Theatre next week.

With a force of workingmen at the Clauses Park, taking down the big scene railway, the Clauses and other of the most important money-getters, and another force at work on the new site on Fillmore street, three months will work wonders in removing to the new location. Everybody that knows show business predicts a positive success.

P. J. Granman, of the National Theatre, leaves next week for a six weeks' stay in the East.

The Washington Square Theatre, which has been closed the past few weeks, reopens April 1, under the new management, presenting Italian and American vaudeville, together with moving pictures.

Recent Billboard callers included The Four Huttons and Harry Ladell, of Ladell and Brown. Both acts are on the Pantages' Circuit. Also The Borsini Trompe, who are a big feature act on the Sullivan-Considine Circuit. E. L. Brannan, general agent of Norris & Howe's Circus paid this office a friendly call. Frank Mayne and Company, The County Choir, Ralph Johnstone and assistant, Art Adair, Chefafo and Capretta, Alice Lewis, Newhoff and Phelps, Dolph and Susie Levino, Joe Edmonds, Leffingwell, Bruce and Co., leave for Southern California this week, to play San Diego and Los Angeles; thence to Denver.

The Flying Van Duhmans, under the management of Jack Sutton, open at the Majestic Theatre, Denver, April 3.

The following acts are playing over the Orpheum Circuit in the Northwest: James Nell and Blanche Chapman, Frank Fogarty, Paul Sandor's Miniature Circus, Fred Ray's Players, Imperial Male Quartette, Arcadia, Ames and Corbett, Adeline Dunlap, Frank McCormack and Co., Lotta Gladstone, Fobel and Ruge, Gordon and Marks, The Sandwines, Misses Milch, George Austin Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Clark, Surazall and Razall, Caron and Farmum, Will Rogers, Jolly Violette, S. Miller Kent and Co., and Mile De Lussan.

On the Sullivan-Considine Circuit are Lewis and Young and Bonnie Gaylord, Brindamore, Mr. and Mrs. Robins, The Meech International Trio, Carlyle's Painterine Co., George Wilson, Annie Crew Co., Marco Twins, Hetty Umina, Allee Daverton and Co., Joe Flynn, Chivo, Manuel Romaline and Co., Wartenburg Brothers, The Atlantic City Four, Little Hipp, Mueller and Mueller and Eva Westcott and Co.

Pantages' Circuit is playing Blake's Male, the Original Maid; The Norritors, Christian Hill and Co., Bonat Redlin, The Orpheum Four, Libby and Trayer, The Salleras, Hearn and Butter, The Armanis, West and Mack, Great Johnstons, Wentworth and Yeast, Parsons' Wild Animals, Seymour and Dupree, Housley and Russell, Lucy Lincol Trio, Marty, Maribeth's Russian Dancers, Gordon Trio, Kiltie Duo, Rawson and June, Hayes Redmond and Co., Warner and Lakewood, Murphy Trio, Dardona and Green, Fern and Mack, Petroff, True Boardman and Co., and Smith and Ellis.

From Stockton it is reported that Don Fulano, the wonder horse, created a sensation as the feature act at the Forest Theatre, Mr. Fred Ellis, the owner, received many flattering press notices.

Dalton Dorothy Dayne, the well known character imitator, is preparing her new act, with special scenery, called The Department Store Girl, and will soon be seen in the vanderbilt theatres.

Judge John T. Fleming, for many years connected with the Clauses Company in an official capacity, has resumed the practice of law.

A fire started in the Pioneer Nickelodeon, located on Market street, opposite the American Theatre, March 29; but the blaze was put out before the fire department responded to the alarm. The only damage was the loss of several films. For a few moments excitement ran high, as the theatre was crowded. There was a rush for the exits, but no one was hurt.

The staff of the American Theatre at present is Abe S. Cohn, manager; Louis Lissner, assistant manager; Frank B. Hill, treasurer; Richard Strong, assistant treasurer; Phil Hastings, press agent; Raymond Bone, muscular director; Harry Goodall, master mechanic; L. Jones, chief electrician; Roland Wakeman, property master.

The Right of Way, with Guy Standing and Theodore Roberts featured, is at the Van Ness Theatre this week. Roberts is an old-time Frisco favorite and always makes good here. The play interested fair audiences throughout the week. Richard Carle in Mary's Lamb, will occupy the house next week.

The Gingerbread Man, with Fred Nice in the title role, is back again at the American Theatre, after a season's absence. The excellent reputation this show made on its former visit was not forgotten, and big audiences were evident at every performance. Ross Snow, Mabel Bouton, Adelle Archer, Maurice Holden, Carrick Major, Rose Murray are all above the average, and all work to make the show the big success it is.

At the Valencia, The Half-breed, full of realistic scenic effects and cast with a capable company, proved an excellent attraction. Pretty Peggy Follows next week, after which Peter Pan, presented by the Valencia Stock Company, will hold the boards.

The Sultan of Sulu, at the Princess Theatre, will be withdrawn after a good two weeks' run. Nancy Brown, with stock company, opens next week.

Violet Black and her company, in Edgar Allen Wolff's one-act comedy, In the Subway, is the headliner at the Orpheum this week. It is quite a novel idea, and somewhat unfamiliar to Friscotites, who have never been East, or where subways are in operation. Silbon's Novelty Circus, with his well-trained cats, is an excellent number. James H. Cullen is a regular visitor here, and is an immense hit. The Four Poncherrys, tight wire artists, do some breakneck stunts never seen here before, and although almost all the noted wire walkers have appeared here at different times, this troupe get a few pegs ahead of all of them. The holdovers were The Blessings, Ray L. Royce, McDonald and Hannington, and The Eight Palace Girls. Motion pictures, showing the inauguration of President Taft, closed the bill.

The novelty act on the National Theatre programme this week is The Tree Fellers, which is quite interesting, but would not prove a repeater. The big end of the act is the excellent lecturer, who is always on the stage during the turn, and has a faculty of keeping the audience worked up to a pitch of excitement. Adolf Zink, seen at the Orpheum about eight months ago, is also on the bill with his imitations and dressing room moving pictures, and is a big favorite. Marlena, Navarro and Marlena, novelty equilibrist, are a high-class numero, and made a big hit. John LeChaire, a Frisco pioneer, after a long absence, is back with his juggling act. Fongere and Emerson are a pair of song and dance performers. Ray W. Snow is a neat monologist, with some new stuff. Franklyn Ardell and Company, in a sketch, called Catastrophe, was one constant roar of laughter.

In spite of the rainy weather and the Lecture season, Pantages' Empire Theatre had a record week in point of attendance. John L. Sullivan and Jake Kilrain were the trump cards. Good press work and liberal advertising helped bring these good results. Others on the bill were The Fortune Brothers, comedy knockabout acrobats; The Stoddards, comedy musical duo; Jack Atkins, monologist; Dave Williams and Company, in playlet entitled According to the Code; Gilbert and Katen, Hebrew entertainers, and two reels of late moving pictures.

At the Wigwam this week are Italian and Young and Bonnie Gaylord, Brindamore, Mr. and Mrs. Robins, The Meech International Trio, Carlyle's Painterine Co., George Wilson, Annie Crew Co., Marco Twins, Hetty Umina, Allee Daverton and Co., Joe Flynn, Chivo, Manuel Romaline and Co., Wartenburg Brothers, The Atlantic City Four, Little Hipp, Mueller and Mueller and Eva Westcott and Co.

The Sigmato Japanese Troupe of six people was the feature act at the Victory Theatre this week.

The Johnson-Burns fight pictures are at the Novelty Theatre this week and doing a good business. Sunday, the opening day, four performances were given, and the receipts were reported being $800. The original idea of charging admission from 25 cents to $1 was changed, and the prices ruling were 25 and 50 cents.

In All Big Cities Aside from New York and Chicago

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

Minneapolis inhabitants were kept in suspense last week by the report from Los Angeles that the big Dick Ferris balloon, America, had been lost, with six aeronauts aboard her, somewhere along the southeast slope of Mount Wilson, and that a tragic fate had overtaken the voyagers. Much relief was expressed by a later report that the balloon had made a safe landing and no harm had overtaken any of the party. The America is the big racing balloon which Dick Ferris purchased when in this city, and which was on exhibition and took part in the balloon races here last year.

Through the courtesy of the Deere & Webber Company, of this city, and the Minneapolis Tribune, six of the canine actors of the E. Merlin Trained Dog Company, presenting The Eloping of Salome, with the Orpheum Road Show at the Orpheum Theatre, were given a general view of the city from a Velle automobile.

Rumor is that the Northern Theatrical Company has secured an option upon the corner directly opposite the one upon which the opposition circuit are demolishing the old Windsor Hotel, for the purpose of erecting the Gaely Theatre.

Manager S. H. Kahn, of Forest Amusement Park, has just returned from Chicago, where he has been busy completing the details of the opening of the park, May 22. The work of improving the grounds is now well under way, and work has been commenced upon the new out-door vaudeville theatre, which will be a special feature of this season's entertainment.

Manager Ike Speers, of the Miles Theatre, has two especially fine acts upon the bill this week: The Elite Four, a high class musical act which is the headliner, and the famous Okra Japs, who are a close second.

The Dewey Theatre has the following attractions scheduled to appear the balance of this season: The Broadway Girls week of March 28; The Travelers week of April 4; The Big Review week of April 11; The Rollers week of April 18; Sam T. Jackson week of May 2; and Miss New York, Jr., week of May 9.

March 24, the Metropolitan Opera House celebrated its fiftieth anniversary, having been established on that date in 1884. Two people who were connected with the house staff at that time are still with the institution, Lac Stafford and Edward Tunstall. A dinner was given, which the latter attended.

The new Dewey Theatre will be located on Washington and First Avenue, North, directly opposite the site of the new Gaely Theatre. The foundation and back wall of the new Dewey Theatre have already been constructed, and work is to be pushed rapidly.

Two hundred reserved seats have been secured for the April 5 performance at the Princess Theatre, by St. Anthony Aerle of Eagles, who will attend in a body.

Senator S. A. Nelson, of Lanesboro, has introduced a bill in the State Senate requiring nickel theatres seating more than one hundred persons to install stand-pipes and other safety devices required under the present state law in theatres seating over three hundred people.

Among the near bookings at the Bijou Opera House are The Awakening of Mr. Pipp, Thos. E. Shea, When Knighthood Was in Flower, with Grace Merritt; Stetson's Uncle Tom's Cabin, and Classmates.

Bookings slated at the Metropolitan Opera House include The Time, the Place and the Girl, April 4-7; The Melting Pot, week of April 8-11; When Old New York Was Dutch, April 15-17; The Merry Widow week of April 18, and The Servant in the House (return engagement) week of April 26.

As headline attraction of this week's bill at the Unique Theatre, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Forbes appear in the comedy dramatic playlet, A Wild Rose.

A musical comedy, The Naked Truth, is the well-received headliner at the Orpheum Theatre this week. Cheridah Simpson comes in a close second.

This week's bill at the Gem Family Theatre is headed by Short and Edwards. It is rumored that Dick Ferris and the Ferris Stock Company will not appear for a summer stock engagement at the Metropolitan Opera House.

C. H. Miles, owner of the Miles Theatre, has arranged for a bout for the championship Jim-Jitsu title, to take place at the Casino Bink on Easter Monday, April 12. The contestants in this bout will be Capt. Leopold McLaglen against Yamagata, the Japanese, and will be for a purse of $1,000.

The Unique Theatre as secured for the week of April 5, Ranua and Arno, the European eccentric, who have won much fame upon Eastern circuits with their entertainment, entitled An Act of Oddities.

Olive Fremstad, soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Co., New York, who appears in concert here Thursday evening, April 5, at the Auditorium Theatre, spent her girlhood days here.

Causes for American Play Failures in England—Shakespeare for the Masses—Other News.

THIS failure of Philofoena adds another to the long list of American plays which have gone under in London during the last few years. In the present instance it is doubly unfortunate because the end was certainly hastened by the unfortunate breakdown of Marie Dressler and the illness at the same time of Miss Mortehill. Had it not been for these disasters the play ought, at all events, to have run a little longer. But the question arises: What is the cause of plays which have been successes in the United States continually failing to attract English audiences? And I think the question is one that can be satisfactorily answered. But in the first place it is necessary to put aside all the talk that one hears about a prejudice existing here against American plays.

All this is absolute nonsense. The English playgoer wants to have the best put before him and he doesn't care a jot where it comes or whether the actors are English, American or Dutch, so long as he does get the best. The real reason is very different. I think it is this: Too often in recent years American managers have put on plays in London without first considering the actual plays closely or the conditions which exist in this country. For instance, I have known many plays put on here which have been chockfull of American idiom, three-quarters of which was entirely unintelligible to the average London playgoer. Consequently the play brilliantly demonstrated the fact that English as spoken in America and in England constitutes two different tongues but it did very little else. And this, I think, is a point that could easily be set right in every case, and, in the instance of Miss Dressler I think it would have made a vast amount of difference to the success of her play.

And then as regards conditions. In many respects these are as different as those between England and France. If then a play is brought to England exclusively with some institution completely unfamiliar to the average Englishman, his interest immediately begins to wane. For instance a piece was put on here recently dealing with American college life. Well, it presented a picture completely strange to the ordinary playgoer of this country and consequently he failed to appreciate the points as he should. I very well remember one dear old lady running distractingly to her friends to ask them what a "sophomore" really did mean and inquiring whether it was anything very bad! Now this play had a fair amount of success and deserved it but had the points I have indicated been attended to, I am sure that it would have done far better. I would like to respectfully commend these suggestions to the notice of any manager who may be thinking of producing a play in this country.

The enterprising proprietors of the Lyceum Theatre in London, are making a great effort to popularize Shakespeare among the masses of London and curiously enough up to the present they have made it pay. The prices are about one-half of the ordinary theatre and they manage to pack the huge building eight times a week. This time we have been given a "people's Hamlet." That is to say that for the first time ever here an attempt is being made to make Hamlet really understood and appreciated by the man in the street who up till now has been frightened away by the various different and subtle readings which have been put before him. Fortunately for the management, they have an actor at their disposal in the person of Matheson Lang, who is perfectly competent to carry on their ideas. Lang is probably one of the most brilliant of the younger generation of actors, and within the last year or two has achieved triumph after triumph, his last great success having been in Romeo and Juliet, when half the women in London fell in love with his Romeo. In his present performance he succeeds admirably. His Hamlet is a bigly emotional, sentimental prince, whose natural grief for his father was excellently suggested. He frankly believes Hamlet to have been mad and towards the end especially he plays the part from that standpoint. As a perfectly straightforward pose of acting it would take a lot of beating. Most of the London critics are complaining because of what they term the actor's "lack of subtlety and imagination." But at the same time they forget Lang set out to create a "People's Hamlet," and had he played the part as say Forbes Robertson does, the performance would probably not have been appreciated a tenth part as much by his audience. As it was, they were enthralled by him all through. The rest of the company are quite good. Miss Hutton Britton making a charming Ophelia, while the sly magnificence of Eric Mayne's King brought him the forgiveness of the audience for his night-owls' cause. I believe that this production of Hamlet will rank among the most successful ever attempted.

MISS HUTIN BRITTON.

Who is making a great success as Ophelia, in Hamlet, at the Lyceum, London, England.

Yet another change has been made in the personnel of The Hall's Princess, which is playing at Liverpool just now. This time the newcomer is H. Corson Clarke, who, I believe, is playing in England for the first time. You are probably far better acquainted with his abilities than I, but it is said that for the particular variety of part like that of Philineas Condor in this piece he wants a great deal of acting. If it is true that he has played 250 different eccentric parts in 250 consecutive weeks, he must be something rather unusual. I am glad to hear that Lewis Waller has secured Maxine Elliott for the heroine of his new melodrama. Now but the Biave's play suggested to the authoress, Miss Constance Fletcher, by Balzac's novel La Duchesse de Langeais. It is rather curious that although she has many relatives and friends in London, Maxine Elliott has never made quite the hit which has always been expected from her. Perhaps this new play will provide her with the opportunity she wants, as I am told that she has a particularly fine part.

One of the most remarkable casts got together for some time will be seen at His Majesty's in Peacock's Tree's revival of The School for Scandal, on April 7. Sir Peter Teazle will, of course, be played by Tree himself. The Lady Teazle will be Muriel Lohr. Edouard Briong appears as Moses, Basil Gill as Joseph Surface, Robert Loraine as Charles Surface, Henry Neville as Oliver, Edward Tresor as Crabtree and Miss Ellis Jeffords as Lady Superstition. The veteran actor, Hermann Vezin, who celebrated his eightieth birthday a week or two ago, is also in the cast as old Rowley. I don't think ever remember seeing a better all-round cast in London than this. So many fine plays have been produced by the Afternoon Theatre that I suppose one

Berlin

Peace in Sight Between Theatre Managers and Stage Artists—New Theatre in Berlin—Prominent Actor is Dead

WHILE the war clouds seem to gather over the Balkan States, there are strong indications which show some rays of hope in the situation between the German Buehnenverein (theatre managers) and Buehnen-gemeinschaft (stage artists). Reports from Frankfort on the Main where the Theatre-building Stock Co. has always been favorable to the artists, say Manager Eduard Claar has agreed to accept the role of a peace maker. The manager of a prominent Court Theatre in Southern Germany, who has shown great interest in the betterment of social conditions of the actors, is also willing to arrange some kind of a way to bring the contending parties in touch. The war between the two parties was carried on with great bitterness, although the scope of contention was not settled in the struggle, and all difficulties might be settled in a harmonious manner.

RICHARD WAGNER THEATRE IN BERLIN.

Arrangements have been made for establishing a new Berliner Obertheater, which intends to open a Richard Wagner Theatre during the next year, where Wagner plays will be offered. The new theatre will be located in the center of Berlin and will have a seating capacity of 2,500 people. The performances will be offered at regular prices. The corporation has more than 10,000 members, a great number of whom are prominent music authorities and lovers of Wagner's works.

RUSSIAN ACTORS IN BERLIN.

L'Eventail, a French comedy, was offered as the first performances of the Russian Court ensemble of St. Petersburg, at the new Royal Opera House at Berlin. The main characters were played by the actresses, Madeline Delley, Madel, Falreges, Vernon, Alex, and the actors Cande, Monlov, Fere, Lanjallay and Courtois. The play, which was given in French, received great acclamation.

CIRCUS SHOW OF STAGE ACTORS.

One of the most interesting shows of the season will be undoubtedly the one at the great circus Busch, on April 17, the proceeds of which are to go to the benefit of the treasury of the pension fund of the Buehnen-gemeinschaft. Director Busch has offered the circus and all the horses free of charge; and the entire circus personnel has agreed to help in the arrangement of the affair. Rehearsals are taking place under the personal direction of Master Schoolmister Foselt Burkhardt, Schoolmister Miss Mohrke, and Ballet Master Rigel. According to all indications, the performance promises to become a tremendous success.

A PENITENT ACTRESS.

Great excitement in artistic circles was caused by the sudden "conversion" of one of the most popular and liveliest actresses of the Copenhagen Dagmar Theatre, Anna Larsen. The actress notified the management of the playhouse that it was impossible for her to appear any longer at the theatre, as her conscience forbids her to do so. Madame Larsen is very young, and is one of the most beautiful women of the Danish residence. Her repertoire consisted mostly of casts in plays of lighter genre, and her silvery laughter was her greatest attraction. She says she was converted by reading Marie Corelli's book, Two Worlds. While the actress retires from the stage of the Dagmar Theatre, she intends to start a theatre with the former actress, Olga Nielsen, and there will be offered only passion plays or shows of that kind. By doing so, she intends to lift the moral of the art to a higher standard.

VERY WEAK.

Koerner's Siehne, a musical opera by Armando, a pseudonym of the well-known pianist Janos Koczalski, received its premiere at the City Theatre in Chemnitz, Saxony, but was given only a weak reception. The music is rich in lyric effects, but becomes more and more monotonous as the play proceeds.

Marcella Sembrich, the eminent singer, concluded her stage career with a last appearance at the Dresden Court Opera House on March 25.

DEATH OF A GREAT TRAGEDIAN.

After a long and severe illness, Adalbert Matkowsky, the eminent player of heroic parts at the Royal Playhouse of Berlin, passed away, at an age of only fifty years. In such parts as Wallenstein, William Tell, Faust, Fass, and many others, the dead actor could not be surpassed, and it is evident that the German stage lost in him one of the best and greatest actors of the present time.

NEW THEATRES IN STUTTGART AND DRESDEN.

The fourth theatre will be opened on No. 1, in Stuttgart, at the Schauspiel Haus. The stock company has engaged Director Gabriel, of the Residence Theatre in Frankfort on the Main, for a term of five years. The theatre will offer mostly dramas and also comedies.

A theatre society has been established under the auspices of Mayor Rother, for the erection of a new playhouse in the former orangery garden. The society will try to raise a sum of about a million and a half marks for building lot, plants, etc. It is intended to keep open all the year around.

John the Second is the title of a new opera in three acts, by Edmund Rysler, libretto by Leo Stein, of Merry Widow fame, and Carl Libman. The premiere of the new musical play was given at the Residenz Theatre at Dresden, under the leadership of Rudolf Bellinger, and achieved a great success. Several parts of the music had to be repeated.

Synopsis of Edmond Rostand's New Play at Last Made Public—New Play by Victor Hugo Discovered—Le Greluchon Follows Frohman's Arsene Lupin—Beethoven a Counterpart of The Light that Failed Makes Hit.

THE play which Charles Frohman brought out of the Theatre Athenee, Arsene Lupin, has had its say and has closed. In its place Le Greluchon, a comedy in four acts, by Maurice Sergine makes its bow, and with it the author has his debut as a writer of stuff for the stage. I don't believe Le Greluchon will meet with the same fate as did Arsene Lupin. I scarcely forgive Mr. Frohman's buying it. However, be that as it may, the comedy has met with great approval both on the public's part and with the critics. And why not? It has every element going to make a Parisian success. A plot based upon the relationship of lover and mistress; there is much that is risque—in fact, nearly all of it is so—and it is well played. What more could our audiences here want unless it be a sprinkling of humor of the same brand as the remainder of the pree? And the play has that to be sure, in plenty?

In English—thank goodness—we haven't a word the equivalent of "greluchon," and without an explanation of the term, about as near to a translation of the play's title as one may get is, The Greluchon. But a greluchon is a man who is loved by a woman who is the maintained mistress of another. And the title is apt enough for the comedy, for knowing the title, one knows the play pretty well. The comedy, though, has been made one of the most important premieres of this season, therefore, I shall outline the plot briefly.

Francline Fernay is an actress. She is a very, very clever one, too, brimming with wit and sparkling with vivaciousness. She has a lover; that is, the openly loves under the same roof with a man who keeps her supplied with the necessities and luxuries of life. But Monsieur Satingy, the acknowledged lover, is long past his youth, and as Francline herself expresses it, is more of a father to her than a lover.

"But," remarks a young man with jealousy in his voice, "some fathers are unnatural." I quote this because it is one of the bits of wit. Also because it serves to introduce the man in the case, Gaston Legarde. The author, M. Sergine, makes it plain that Gaston is a free man; that is, he has neither a wife nor a fixed mistress, while it has already been shown how he informs those interested that Francline is herself half free. These two are in love. Francline, the actress, and Gaston, the writer, and the writer is horribly jealous. He sees the due things the old rascal who "is a father" to Francline provides for her, and he refuses even to accept so much as a glass of water in the house. Yes, he is tremendously, growingly, unendurably green-eyed. Francline must come to HIS house to live; she must give up the rich old pappy guy, as American slang might express it. This Francline does.

Now comes one touch of pathos, that heart interest which every play must have which is to succeed. At Gaston's house, things go from bad to worse. Without a rival, Gaston becomes indifferent. Francline sees that Gaston wanted her because another man had her. She's incapable of maintaining order in his household, and when he tries to write, she talks. She just can't keep quiet. At last, with heart torn and bleeding over the possibility of losing Gaston altogether, she resolves to prevent it. She knows a trick that'll do it, too. She goes back to the old giddy, at whose establishment she made Gaston. And she wins.

As I said before, the play is excellently played and is well written. Nor, for a Parisian audience, the plot isn't at all bad; far from it; it's really quite good, for, as one can see, there is much of human nature in the comedy. There are lots of Gastons in the world—and they are not confined to the fair land of France. Here is the cast of characters:

Francline Fernay Mme. Madel, Lely Paulion, Isolay Mme. Baynes-Grassot Jane d'Arrie Mme. Maude Gauthier Babette Pergaux Mme. Blonfond Salome Mme. Cl. de Story Paulette Morot Mme. Dartigny Yvonne de Lusigny Mme. Cezanne Mand Jassy Mme. Tonati

At last I am able to make public a kind of synopsis of Edmond Rostand's newest play, Chanticleer, the which has kept the theatrical world of France stirred to the boiling point all this season. Here is the story:

The Cock, husband of the Hen, tires of the unadorned life he leads. For long he has been the chief glory of the barnyard. When he sings it makes the sun to rise. But no longer does he love the Pullet whom he took to wife. He longs for adventures, for new fees, for strange sights.

One day, out strolling in quest of anything which might relieve his ennui, he chances to rescue Miss Galien Hen. She is being hunted down by a lot of sportsmen, and by slipping her into a place he knows of, the trembling creature's life is saved. Ah! how beautiful is this new lady! And, as is quite natural (as the play will have it) Mr. Cock falls in love with her, and she with him. Then they fly away to the forests together.

There, with the beautiful springtime about them, warming them with its perfumed breath, with the dainty songs of the little birds to tell them off to sleep and to bring them to wakefulness each morn, the two lovers forget everything and all the world save each other. But the end of all things comes at last. So with their happiness, one morning the Cock, with his head under his wing, slept much later than his woot. When he at last looked about him it was day. And the sun was up! Then it was not HE, after all, that caused the sun to rise! He had not sung that morning, yet there, beyond all dispute, was the great, brilliant orb, dazzling the earth with its beauty and reflecting its face in a million dew drops, hanging like forlorn tears, on the forest leaves. Keen disappointment falls upon the heart of the straying chanticleer, and in his humiliation he seeks death as his only solace. He had loved others only as in the pride of his own soul he had loved himself.

So ends the story. Of course it is handled in verse, and those who have so much loved Alphonse and Cyrano de Bergerac, are expecting something more beautiful still.

Still mentioning this play, the keen interest in who is to take the role Coppenol was to have created has not abated in the slightest. I said some weeks ago that Leborgne, of the Comedie Francaise, was to all intents and purposes the man chosen for the part, and though there have been numerous names mentioned later, I see no reason to change my view. He will very probably play the Cock.

Miss Ethel Levey is once again back in business. It will be remembered that she was compelled to give up her work some months ago on account of her throat, a growth appearing on her vocal cords. She went to Bordighera about three months ago and had an operation performed by the famous Dr. Moore, a specialist in this kind of thing, and is seemingly as well as ever. She is now appearing in a brand new review, called Parle Singeries (Paris Autres) at the Olympia. This is the kind of thing that Leo Ziegfeld, husband of Anna Held, has made so popular in America, being a species of spectacle and review mixed.

Theatrical producers and players, too, not to mention dramatic writers and all other folk who love the classics, will be surprised to hear that a brand new play by Victor Hugo has been discovered, that is so far as the public is concerned. This play will be produced the latter part of this week or the first of next at the Theatre Michel—the prettiest small theatre in the world, some one has said.

Michel Martier, the director of the play house, tells me that the play was "discovered"

MISCELLANEOUS NEWS

Culled From Variety of Sources

New Theatre Planned for Louisville--Springfield (Mass.) Theatre Re-opens---Lambs Will Gambol in May. Information Wanted of Maude Del Mar--Celebrated Austrian Actor Dead.

With the completion of the Gaiety Theatre, Louisville's (Ky.) new burlesque playhouse, other theatrical promoters seem to have been overtaken with a desire to try their fortunes in the Falls City amusement business.

Now comes the report that plans have been drawn for the erection of a new vaudeville theatre on Walnut street, between Fourth and Fifth. The men back of this venture are said to be Thomas W. Ward, John J. McCarthy and others identified with Hamilton, O., playhouses. It is reported that a fifty-year lease, with an annual rental of about $4,500, has been secured, and that work on the theatre will be commenced as soon as possible. When completed the house will cost in the neighborhood of $100,000, and will be a connecting link of the Gus Son Circuit.

Right on the heels of the above announcement comes a statement that Memphis, Tenn., promoters were planning the construction of a fifty thousand dollar open-air theatre, to be located on the Seelbach Roof Garden. The name given the new house is the Lunadome, and according to the plans submitted there will be seating accommodations for 1,000 people. The Lunadome will probably play vaudeville attractions.

NELSON THEATRE REOPENS.

The Nelson Theatre, Springfield, Mass., was not to remain closed for any great length of time. As was reported in last week's issue of The Billboard, the owner of The Nelson had forcibly taken possession of the playhouse and barred the doors against the occupant. But on April 1, Richard Norris, of New York City, opened the playhouse as a part of the Leo Circuit. Continuous performances are given from one o'clock to 11 o'clock daily, with change of bills three times each week. Four vaudeville acts and several reels of film constitute the program.

The Nelson Amusement Co., who formerly occupied the playhouse, have made application to Judge Pierce, of the Superior Court, against Geo. H. Nelson, owner of the theatre, asking that he be restrained from continuing to hold possession of the theatre, or to open it himself or allow others to open it for theatricals. The hearing has been set for a later date.

LAMBS WILL GAMBOLE.

A tour embracing Chicago, Pittsburg, Cleveland, Baltimore, Washington, Philadelphia, New Haven, Brooklyn and New York, is to be made by the Lambs' Club, of New York City, during the week of May 26.

At every stopping place the club will give one performance of its "All Star Gambol," especially written and composed by George V. Hobart, Augustus Thomas, Victor Herbert, Reginald de Koven, George Cohan, A. Baldwin Sloane and a dozen other playwrights and composers holding membership in the Lambs, and in which practically every comic actor in America will take part.

The tour is expected to net $100,000, which is to be expended in improvements on the new clubhouse.

CELEBRATED AUSTRIAN ACTOR DEAD.

Adolf Ritter von Sonnenthal, the noted actor, died at Prague, April 4, from apoplexy. Herr Von Sonnenthal was born in Pest, Hungary, December 21, 1834. He made his first appearance at Temesvar in 1852, later playing long engagements at Vienna, Paris and Berlin.

In 1884, 1886 and 1892 Herr Von Sonnenthal visited the United States, appearing in New York and subsequently touring through the leading cities, including Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Louis. The principal roles were Hamlet, King Lear, Nathan the Wise, Wallenstein, Don Manuel and Mortimer in Mary Stuart.

MAUDE DEL MAR.

Information is wanted concerning the present whereabouts of Maude Del Mar, a vaudeville actress, who worked in Chicago until December 5. On the latter date she started for her work at the theatre and has never since been seen or heard of by her people. Her wardrobe and other stage apparel, also her salary were left where she had worked. The disappearance of Miss Del Mar has caused untold suffering to her mother, and any information addressed to Mrs. Del Mar, 3539 Cottage Grove avenue, Chicago, will be appreciated.

CINCINNATI, O.

It is to be expected that Billy Week will be the dullest of the season from a standpoint of attendance at the theatres. Patronage usually falls off considerably during this week, but if the local theatres are not well patronized it will be on this account only, for the current attractions are, with one or two exceptions, excellent.

Fanny Ward, in The New Lady Bantock, is delighting audiences at the Grand. Miss Ward is wholly new to Cincinnati patrons, this being her first appearance in Cincinnati.

Lyman Howe, who made such an instantaneous hit at the Lyric Theatre last season returned Sunday to this playhouse for a week's engagement. Mr. Howe, undoubtedly, has a collection of the greatest films ever made, and his program is excellent. Being a speaker of more than ordinary ability, his entertainment can only prove to be a tremendous success. The attendance at the matinee performance Sunday broke all records.

The Three of Us returned to Cincinnati Sunday and is being presented at the Walnut Street Theatre, headed by Miss Elizabeth Aldrich. The company is giving the play a good interpretation, and Sunday's attendance was good, considering conditions.

High-class vaudeville, in fact, one of the best bills of the season, is pleasing at the Columbia Theatre this week. Modern motion pictures and vaudeville have show is a corking good one and in a class by itself. Singing, dancing and musical acts are given in abundance, and they contain sufficient new material to make them interesting.

The Lyceum and Auditorium Theatres, with high-class vaudeville continue to draw well and two better regulated variety theatres can not be found elsewhere.

Coney Holmes, manager of the New Robinson, who has placed that theatre in the front rank of popular amusement houses, returned to Chicago Sunday to open the Casino Company's booking of twenty-eight houses. Harold G. Moren, of the Majestic Theatre, Detroit, succeeds him as manager. The current program of Robinson's includes Jarvis Mann and Jeranda, the Misses Jane Adams and Anna White, assisted by Carl Hewitt, Riley and Abren and Giles W. Harrington.

The children of the Refuge Home were entertained last week by the Lubin Film Service with a moving picture show. The children enjoyed the treat very much, thanks to the excellent selection of subjects the Lubin Company gave them.

A brilliant revival of Von Suppe's delightful operetta, Boccaccio was given at the Grand Sunday night, being presented by the local German Stock Company. This is the best number presented by the company this season.

Viola Allen, in The White Sister, comes to Cincinnati April 11, and will play at the Lyric Theatre for one week. Cincinnati patrons are promised a production of The Blue Mouse, and it is also rumored that Mrs. Fliske, in Salvation Nell will play here at a near date. She will probably close the theatrical season.

Harry Bonnell, for several years connected with the New York office of The Billboard, and who for the past season has represented the Herald Square Opera Company as advance agent

MADAME HELENA MODJESKA.

Mme. Helena Modjeska, a dramatic actress, who reached the very zenith of her profession, has seriously ill at Los Angeles, and her death at the time of going to press is momentarily expected. Mme. Modjeska is a Pole by birth. She acquired a reputation for dramatic ability in her own country before she left it in 1870, practically an exile, for the United States. Her first appearance in America occurred in 1877 in San Francisco, more than nine months having been spent in the great task of mastering the English language sufficiently for stage purposes. This indicated the indomitable will and the wonderful mental capacity of this remarkable woman. During her entire theatrical career of more than forty-five years, she has been identified with serious drama, and has never even amid discouragement, forsaken her dramatic ideals. She loved her art. She was an actress of unusual power and retained even in later years, much of her delightful personal charm and her dignity, pathos and tenderness were noteworthy. Chief among her co-laborers was Edwin Booth.

caught on at Deuck's and the old-time popularity of this theatre has been fully restored. A change of bill occurs on Monday of each week. At People's Theatre the Star Show Girls are twinkling merrily in their two clever skirts. A Mile a Minute and in Lovely Panama. There is enough comedy in each of the two burlesques to entertain the most exacting of burlesque patrons and the olio can well be said to rival any seen there this season.

His Satanic Majesty made his third appearance in Cincinnati Sunday afternoon, at the Olympic Theatre. The Forcough Stock Co. is giving a new version. Sunday's attendance indicates that there are quite a few people in Cincinnati who want to see The Devil.

It is to be regretted that the Sunday attendance at the Standard Theatre was light, considering the high-class attraction playing there under the name of the Blue Ribbon Girls. The spent Saturday and Sunday in Cincinnati renewing old acquaintances. Mr. Bonnell said that while theatrical conditions the present season have not been the most satisfactory, his company has enjoyed success.

BROOKLYN'S NEW OPERA HOUSE.

A report has been circulated to the effect that Oscar Hammerstein had obtained an option on a site at the northwest corner of Bedford Avenue and Bergen Street, facing Grant Square, for his proposed Brooklyn Opera House. The location is in the heart of one of the best residential sections of Brooklyn, but the transit facilities are not the best. It is, however, on one of Brooklyn's most important drives, and because of this it is regarded as desirable for opera house purposes.

Mrs. Lester Wallack Passes Away Pathfinders and Trailers to Have New Club Room Other News

Mrs. Lester Wallack, widow of the noted actor of former days, is dead from ailments due to old age at her home, 7 West 101st street. She was eighty-three years old.

Funeral services for Mrs. Wallack were held Wednesday morning in "The Little Church Around the Corner." Interment was made in Greenwood Cemetery. The Rev. George Clarke Houghton, rector of the church, conducted the regular Episcopal burial service, the coffin resting on the same spot where, twenty-one years ago, her husband's body had lain.

The little personal retinue included the dead woman's daughter, Mrs. Sewall, and Lester Wallack, Jr., the grandson. Besides these, the church was well filled with a gathering of old-time New Yorkers and theatrical people.

Mrs. Wallack came of a well-known family. She was Emily Mary Millais before her marriage. Sir John E. Millais, the English artist, was her brother. The family, originally from Normandy, dates back to the early fourteenth century.

The marriage between Miss Millais and Mr. Wallack took place clandestinely, having been opposed by her family. The two came to America in the late '40's and young Wallack appeared at the old Broadway Theatre. His subsequent career as actor and manager is well known to older New Yorkers. Wallack's Theatre was named for him. His death occurred in 1885.

MR. CLEVELAND'S ACTIVITIES.

That busy vaudeville agent, W. S. Cleveland, has just completed arrangements by which he will book the Affiliated Theatres of Canada in conjunction with his list of seventy theatres and a string of parks running nearly up to the century mark. He therefore becomes a mighty important factor in popular American vaudeville in this country and Canada. Mr. Cleveland books for the Fourteenth Street Theatre, New York, and the Academy of Music, Jersey City, N. J., two old established theatres, both of which it is said, are making more money to-day than ever before in their history, and his sensibility is strengthening his ramifications all the time, and just now he must be looked upon as an important figure in the American amusement world. Any single man who can book nearly two hundred places of amusement must be reckoned in the running.

SECURE NEW CLUB ROOMS.

All members of the Pathfinders and Trailers' Club are urgently requested to attend a special meeting called by the Board of Governors for April 20, at 7:30 P. M., Suite D, 1440 Broadway, New York. Matters of great importance will come up for discussion.

At a meeting held on April 2, the Board of Governors announced that the new club rooms would be ready for occupancy May 1. The rooms are on Broadway near 40th and will probably be taken over on a long lease.

Fully one hundred names have been added to the membership list since last fall. There are thirty-four on the waiting list now. The club will be newly furnished throughout, especial attention being paid to the lounging and reading rooms.

PEW AND CREATORE SEPARATE.

Howard Pew, who has been looking after the business interests of Creatore, has booked the bandmaster until the end of the season in October, and has turned over the contracts to the star in order to accent something else. Mr. Pew's success in handling Creatore is well known, he having taken him from obscurity, and established a reputation for him as one of the greatest bandmasters. Incidentally, Creatore and Mr. Pew have accumulated fortunes for themselves during their seven years of business relations. Mr. Pew will retain his present address, 121 West 42nd street, New York City.

LATE NEW YORK NEWS.

FOUR TIMES A THEATRICAL BANKRUPT.

George A. Blumenthal, a theatrical manager, living at 155 West 136th street, filed a petition in bankruptcy for the fourth time. It is said to be the only instance on record in this city, although there have been about a dozen cases of a person being in bankruptcy three times. Blumenthal's liabilities are $27,214, contracted in the last eight years. He has no assets. He has been in the theatrical and concert business for the last twenty years, mostly in Harlem.

MRS. NAT. M. WILLS DEAD.

Mrs. Nat M. Wills, wife of the well-known trumpet comedian, professionally known as May Harrison, died at St. Elizabeth's Hospital, in New York, April 3. Mrs. Wills underwent an operation a few days previous, but did not rally from the effect. The funeral was held Monday, April 5, from the home of her mother in New York.

"BILLBOARD" CIGAR.

Mr. J. E. Buckleman, proprietor of the Showman's Headquarters, 1525 Market street, St. Louis, is serving his patrons with a special brand of choice "Billboard" cigars. Both the box and the individual wrapper bear the name The Billboard.

Censorship Meets Approval—Cincinnati Exchange Leases Entire Building—Motion Pictures in Australia—Late Releases Offer Attractive Subjects—Poems and Dramatic Recitals Innovation—Current Notes.

CENSORSHIP A POPULAR MOVE.

The censorship of films, as established by the affirmative action of the capitals of the industry, in New York, is still a topic of absorbing interest to those in the business, and the public. No step could have been taken to so thoroughly convince lovers of amusement of the absolute sincerity of the heads of the motion picture business, in their move to purify and elevate. Said one of them quite recently:

"We hope to change places with the drama as an educational force. The drama is at present suffering severely from the salacious tendency that has affected it this season. Shakespearian or classical plays, or high moral dramas are dead; there is no demand for them, and their place has been taken by the show with the undressing scenes and low humor. The picture show, on the other hand, reaching as it does into every town of over seven hundred inhabitants, and appealing to the millions of school children and the poor of the land to whom the five cent rate of admission especially appeals, has educational value almost beyond calculation. From now on, the pictures will be either educational or cleanly amusing, and will be absolutely moral. As a Sunday attraction it is the deadliest foe to the corner saloon. To the temptations to which young people are subjected on that day when there is nothing going on of decent quality to engage their attention, and to the dangers of street playing to young children, I reckon it to be the greatest educational force in the world, after the public school."

With the above spirit animating manufacturers and dealers, it is safe to predict that the future holds out great promises, which are sure to be verified.

CINCINNATI FILM EXCHANGE ENLARGES QUARTERS.

The Cincinnati Film Exchange has leased the entire building located at 214-16 West Fifth street, Cincinnati, O., from the Nicholas J. Walsh Distilling Co., to carry on their business. They now occupy the entire third floor of the building, but owing to the fact that their business has increased to such proportions, it was necessary for them to secure the entire building in order to carry on their business properly.

The Cincinnati Film Exchange gave the successful meeting at the Lyric Theatre, March 18, since which meeting their business has grown wonderfully.

MOTION PICTURES IN AUSTRALIA

Moving picture theatres throughout Australia are reporting phenomenal business, although some criticism is offered that the films are not of that high character of subject that are in use in the United States. Many of the picture theatres in the larger cities of Australia show equal if not greater progress than the magnificent establishments in the United States. In Sydney, N. S. W., Mr. T. J. West employs an orchestra of thirty pieces, who render selections from all the best masters. In several other theatres, first-class orchestras are also employed. Rehearsals are made simultaneously with those in Europe.

SUPERIOR SERVICE.

Receiving 18 reels of new films last week and conducting its well equipped offices along modern lines, enable the American Film Service to render its clients most excellent service. Fifteen subjects per week further permits serving three theatres in the same locality without duplication. Prompt shipments characterize the service.

MOVING PICTURE NOTES.

Ernest Brown is erecting a new moving picture theatre in Plattsburgh, N. Y., to be opened April 20.

Harrison Harris has leased the Auditorium, at Hartford, Conn., and has transformed it into a moving picture theatre.

The Nickelodeon, which has been conducted at Woodsfield, O., by Wm. Wm., has been purchased by Bert Poulton, who has taken charge.

Mr. Frank Thielein, who owns and operates nickel theatres in several of the Illinois towns, has established a film exchange with headquarters at Aurora, Ill.

Mr. D. R. Macdonell has opened new offices at 223 Dearborn street, Chicago, where he is at the head of a firm called The Continental Film Exchange Co. Ltd.

Messrs. Doyle and Dial, of Brazil, Ind., are building a new picture theatre in the Doyle Building, in Brazil. It will be known as the Joy and will have a seating capacity of 400. Joe Dial will act as manager.

The Gem Moving Picture Theatre has just opened at Mayfield, Ky., under the management of Mr. J. N. Hutcherson. This little city now has three houses of this kind, and all seem to be enjoying a good business.

J. D. Williams, of Spokane, Wash., has sold his arcade and moving picture theatre, known as the Bijou Dream, to E. G. Sherman, of

Extensive repairs have been made to the Edison Electric Parlors, at Revoltoke, B. C. An elevated door, has been put in, also a spacious gallery. A small stage has also been added so that this spacious little playhouse may be used for other than moving pictures.

The Acme, located on East Pine street, Green Bay, Wis., was opened March 28, to turn-away business. This theatre is fitted up with the latest style opera chairs, has a seating capacity of 225, and is owned and managed by Jones and Tucker of that city.

D. W. Dunn, of Danville, Ky., is erecting a new motion picture theatre in that city to be known as the Theatorium, catering to colored people exclusively. Another house, devoted to that form of entertainment, is being constructed in that city by A. Coulter and J. W. Mitchell.

Sam'l Bristol, legal representative of Will Ham Morris, Chicago, has gone into the film business, having acquired control of the Unique Film & Construction Co. The offices in the Unity Bldg., have been much enlarged and the prospects are that the firm will do a big business.

H. R. Craycroft left Chicago last week, for his headquarters, El Paso, Tex. Before landing at El Paso, Mr. Craycroft will visit Mexico City, Monterrey and Coahuila, Mexico, where the Crescent Amusement Co., of which he is the president and general manager, have moving picture shows.

Hampton & Bassett and the Two Blacka proved very popular at the Cozy, Houston, week March 22-27. These are two exceptionally strong teams, especially for a moving picture house, and make a big hit. Manager Manrie Wolf is determined to run high-class vaudeville and new motion pictures in his theatre.

A novelty in the moving picture world has been introduced in the American Theatre, at Iowa City, Iowa, by its owner, Prof. R. D. Raymond, who recites popular poems and excerpts from dramatic favorites at each performance. The past week he scored heavily with Hamlet, Ben Hur, Lassie, Julius Caesar and other readings.

The Alhambra Theatre, at Erie, Pa., which has been running moving pictures for the last two seasons, has changed its policy, and is now playing two vaudeville acts in conjunction with the two reels of pictures. This is the first theatre in Erie to adopt this policy, but it is expected that the others will follow. Manager A. O. Diebel has not increased the price of admission, the fee remaining five cents.

Mr. Edward Brick and John Lackner, have leased a building at 11 South Broadway, Aurora, Ill., to be used for a motion picture theatre. A $7,000 contract, which has been let for remodeling, will make the building the safest and one of the most beautiful in the West. The changes will include a new front with a magnificent lobby. The Princess Theatre, now owned and managed by Messrs. Brick and Lackner, continues to do capacity business and will be run in connection with their new house.

The Lyric Theatre, Green Bay, Wis., was opened March 29, by Frankland and Tucker. It has a seating capacity of 225 and is devoted to moving pictures and songs. Another house formerly known as the Star, has been reopened by C. F. Goodrich. Moving pictures and illustrated songs have been substituted for vaudeville, which was the policy when the house was conducted under the old name. Bay City now has two picture houses in operation, one is about to open and plans are being made for the erection of two more theatres within a few weeks. Three months ago that city did not have a picture house.

Following is a list of late films, by leading manufacturers and dealers, for early release:

BIOGRAPH

SCHNEIDER'S ANTI-NOISE CRUSADE.—Freind Schneider has been selected to respond to a toast, "To the Ladies," at the annual banquet of the Liederkrantz, the members feeling that they would hear something great, as Schneider was considered somewhat of a poet by his friends. Schneider goes home to prepare his poetic effusion, and is interrupted by the arrival of his sister Lena and her young son, Fritz. Now the trouble begins. First, Fritz teases the parrot until its squawking annoys Schneider, and he can not write; next, it is the phonograph, then a trombone, etc. However, night comes, and all is still, when, hark! our friend is disturbed by mysterious footfalls. Investigating, he finds burglars have entered the house, but they are musically inclined, and have gathered together the following instruments of torture, the phonograph, trombone, parrot, etc. Hence Schneider not only helps them on their way, but pays them for what he esteems a blessing.

TRYING TO GET ARRESTED.—Strange as it may seem, the poor tramp, who is the hero of this Biograph comedy, finds it hard indeed to get pinched. There is no doubt he could have gotten work, but it is against the rules of his order. The cold weather is pretty trying, and he wishes to get under cover. If he has to be in the "jig," no comitis ignoble and lawless deeds, but without success. The police simply ignore him, and often arrest an unoffending person in his stead. He becomes guilty of theft, assault, riot, disorderly conduct, and, in fact, everything but murder, but is still a bird of freedom. It's no use, so despondently he makes his way to the wosyard, resolving to go to work, when a copper meets him at the gate and arrests him—just when he didn't want it.

Other Biograph subjects are The Bully Boss and The Road to the Heart.

GAUMONT

(George Kleine)

PRODIGAL DAUGHTER.—In a peaceful village on the coast of an inland sea is located the home of a sturdy fisherman, whose hopes and joys are centered upon his daughter and only companion. All is happiness until one day tourists from the city meet the young lady and inveigle her into deserting her home for the allurements of city life.

City life causes a complete transformation of the lady, and she can scarcely be recognized as the same individual. At home, however, the father is bereft of reason and wanders aimlessly about, an object of pity.

The novelty of city life soon wears off and, overcome with remorse, the woman seeks her old home, only to find the building deserted. She learns the condition of her father and soon finds him in the village inn. When the old man sees his daughter his reason returns and the daughter, as also her husband, unite with him for the happiness of all concerned.

THE RIVIERA.—All the thrills and delights of weeks of travel are experienced in a few moments.

Scenes depicted are: Express train crossing Frontier—Road—Frontier Post—River—Italian Custom House—Costume Officials at Work—French Custom House—Menton Sea Waves—Of excellent photographic quality and most interesting in every detail.

THE TRAMP AT THE MASQUERADE.—Walking along the street a young lord invites the tramp to a fancy dress ball, at which only the nobility is to be present. A tramp seated near the walk perceives the lord drop the envelope and promptly appropriates it. His quick wit serves him well and he sees an opportunity for a good time without cost.

Without making the least change in his appearance he presents himself at the address indicated in the invitation. He is received courteously and as his invitation is valid, he is taken for the Lord in disguise.

Everybody is having a good time and our friend becomes decidedly popular when the young lord makes his appearance upon the scene. The tramp is unbraided, but the guests all plead for him as he has ingratiated himself with them, and he is permitted to remain throughout the ball.

Excellent comedy and perfect photography.

HE ADVERTISED FOR HIS DOG.—Pet dogs have ever been the source of endless amusement, and in the present instance a canine of rare variety, through his absence, gives rise to one of the best comedies yet produced.

A connoisseur, having lost his prize dog, advertises a liberal reward for its return. People seeing the notice look up dogs of every description, known and unknown pedigree, and bring them to claim the reward. At the apartment house where the notice is posted, several tenants are over come by consternation when the claimants file in upon them.

When the advertised is finally located and he examines all the dogs brought in for his inspection, but does not identify any one of them, he is proclaimed an imposter and set upon by the disappointed throng. He seeks safety in flight, and a lively chase results. An automobile is pressed into service, but to no avail, and the poor fellow takes refuge in a tree. Efforts to follow are most unsuccessfully combated, and will not fail to cause vociferous applause. Here he roosts all night. When he awakens the next morning he finds his pursuers encamped at the foot of the tree. Refreshed by his night's rest, he climbs from his perch and makes a successful dash for liberty.

URBAN-ECLIPSE

(George Kleine)

ON THE BRINK OF A PRECIPICE.—This very agreeably combines the delights of an Alpine tour and the thrills of a romance enacted under the most favorable and natural conditions. The principal characters are: Mr. and Mrs. Arnold, their daughter, Jeanne, a Mr. Rogers and Mr. Marcel, a cavalry officer.

The Arnolds are spending their vacation in the Alps, when Mr. Rogers visits them with the intention of pressing his suit for the hand of Jeanne. At the same time a telegram from Marcel announces the latter's intentions to spend a holiday with his friends.

The two young men are in love with Jeanne, but Jeanne has a decided preference for the snappy young officer, and does not lose an opportunity to display her wishes—whereas her parents look very kindly upon Mr. Rogers.

The following day the entire party arrange for an excursion to the mountain peaks. Mr. Rogers in vain endeavors to conceal his chagrin over the fact that Jeanne and the blitheheart find opportunity for exchange of meaningful glances.

Arrived at the summit of the mountain, all are in ecstasy over the beauty of the panorama. Jeanne sees a wild flower she would like to have and Marcel does not hesitate to attempt to secure it for her. Unfortunately he slips and falls over the ledge. Rogers promptly comes to the rescue, and the rope is lowered and fastened about him, but when he is near the top a jealous passion overcomes Rogers and he makes an effort to cut the rope on which Marcel is suspended over the gulf. His rash act is prevented by the quick interception of Jeanne.

Roger's folly causes his disgrace. The young officer wins the approval of the Arnolds and his engagement to the pretty Jeanne is soon announced.

INVITING HIS BOSS TO DINNER.—The chief clerk of a mercantile establishment has been honored by the acceptance of his invitation to his superior to dinner. Upon arriving at his home he causes consternation to his wife and the maid in his efforts to assist to tidy up the home and the dinner a success. The cook is criticized in her work and receives many jolts as to requirements in the culinary art. The latter dignitary is to receive the guest and needs some considerable training, which provokes an encounter between herself and madam. The maid threatens to quit and it requires profound apologies from the mistress and an extra five dollars from the head of the household before she consents to resume her work. The sound of the bell calls the maid to the door and the host and hostess assume their respective positions with a feigned ease to receive their guest, but instead a telegram arrives expressing regrets, etc., but the boss will be unable to be present.

ESSANAY

A young man of Eastern parentage is located on a small cattle ranch in the West, and in a short time becomes a typical cowboy, living their ways, enjoying their amusements, and being weaned away entirely from the far East, for a time forgets even his parents.

He is rudely brought to a realization of his obligations by receiving from the post office a letter addressed in his mother's handwriting. The contents inform him of the death of his father some time previous, and of the very straitened circumstances in which the calamity placed his mother.

The mortgage on the old home is about to be foreclosed. Unless her only son comes to the rescue with the required amount, his mother will be without shelter.

Having been free handed and improvident, he attempts to borrow money from friends, but to no avail. His horse, gun and trapping can not be sold for enough to merely satisfy the judgment, and in his despondency he sees the vision of his dear old mother being ejected by the heartless user.

In his remorse and anguish he acts upon the only plan that suggests itself, regardless of the consequences to himself, although well aware that his life is in jeopardy. Dropping the fatal letter, he straps on his gun and rushes from his cabin and rides to a corral some distance away. He gathers together a bunch of ponies, and leading the string to a well-known horse trader, secures for their sale the amount necessary to save his surviving parent.

In the meantime his sweetheart, learning from others his urgent need of money, rides to his cabin to help and comfort him. She is met at the door by an old darky, who hands her the letter her lover dropped when he left, gazing at it despondently.

The girl, fearing her lover's rashness, hurriedly follows him and learns that a posse is organizing to pursue and capture the horse thief.

After receiving the money, the young man returns to his cabin, hastily writes a letter to his mother, placing therein the money obtained by his rash crime. He has just time to address and seal the letter and place it within his bosom, as the leader of the posse rides up and demands his surrender.

The unfortunate young man throws down his gun, a rope is placed around his neck, and he is made to mount his horse, and hurried to the scene of his reparation.

He hands the letter containing the money, addressed to his mother, to the leader, asking him to post it immediately after the execution. As the rope is being drawn taut over a high limb, his sweetheart gallops in upon the scene, dismounts and throws her arms about her sweetheart's neck, handing to the leader the letter wherein the mother in her dire necessity had appealed for money.

The leader, after reading it, pulls forth the letter containing the money, and finding it intact, the posse forgets its vengeance, and generously makes up a purse to be sent to pay the mortgage.

CHICAGO FILM EXCHANGE, GLOBE FILM SERVICE COMPANY AND ROYAL FILM SERVICE CO.

These houses are featuring the Presidential Inauguration Film, showing: Cadets going to the Capitol—A View of the Capitol looking down Pennsylvania Avenue—President Taft at the taking of the Oath—The White House and foreground—First part of parade—Court of Honor, showing President Taft reviewing parade—Taft Club arriving one day late—Troops leaving the Union Station for home.

A large number of most excellent films on a variety of topics are also offered for immediate shipment.

EDISON

FATHER'S FIRST HALF HOLIDAY.—Father accepted "his first half holiday" with schoolboy enthusiasm. To make the occasion "memorable" he purchases theatre tickets for the afternoon's performance.

At home his plans for the day are heartily endorsed by his wife and son.

Mother, busy superintending the servant's removal of an unruly stove pipe, is requested to dress at once, father volunteering to attend to the pipe.

The clumsy servant is quickly ordered to the kitchen, and father grapples with his self-appointed task. The pipe almost proves his master. Broken tile-a-brac and soot covered clothing, bear witness to the measure of his success. Blinded with soot he dumps the pipe into the box with mother's new hat, and starts with it for the cellar.

Stumbling through the kitchen, he falls into and rolls a rasc of clean clothes. The falling pipe showers soot over the floor. Brushing it up he hastily throws the soot into the door barrel.

Eventually the pipe is unhooked in the cellar—here father is horrified to find mother's hat crushed and dirty. Hearing footsteps he guiltily forces the ruined hat into the furnace, and hides behind a barrel.

The Janitor, entering to attend the furnace, finds the hat—father, fearful of further complications, rushes out so forcefully to regain it, that the janitor, terror-stricken, rushes from the cellar.

Meanwhile, mother, dressing, uses soot powder on her face. Little Hobble finds soot in his pockets, and smears himself from head to foot.

The servant in the kitchen is exasperated over a pan of black dough.

The janitor runs frantically through the house.

All meet in the dining room. Father's personal condition tells them the source of their misfortune. Explanations are useless—mother's anger at the loss of her new hat knows no bounds; father is roughly handled.

The first half holiday ends in disaster.

UNAPPRECIATED GENIUS.—The poet is inspired. Stanzas after stanza flow from his prolific pen. Sheets of paper are consumed, covering the floor in a veritable white-capped sea of manuscript. The poem is nearly finished. After an interruption, the world loses a masterpiece.

Miss Gush, of the "Gaiety," has a new set. For a "try out" she selects the poet as her victim. Her interruption and voluble discussion of her prologue "hit" causes him much annoyance. The further acrobatic delineation of her histrionic art forces him to "cover up" for self protection.

Marr's-Dixie Shows Open—Paterson Park Sold by Sheriff Will Reopen—Buffalo Midsummer Exposition—New Park to be Opened Between Charleston and Mattoon, Ill.—Fair Notes—Carnival at Little Rock

GREATER DIXIE SHOWS.

Everything is now in readiness for the opening of Marr's Greater Dixie Shows, at Raleigh, N. C. This show is equipped with all new carved wood fronts, and the larger shows using 60-foot fronts and all tents and equipment is now located at 311 Main street.

Two big free acts will be carried. Max and June, the world famous high diving horses, and the Two Fearless Vans, in their sensational double dive.

Three big bands of music will be featured, including Signor Expilto's Concert Band of 22 pieces.

The route, General Agent Wm. J. Lester has laid out indicates a most successful season, and he has already closed the cream of the Eastern Carolina towns, including the Raleigh, N. C., Athletic Association's big gala week; Wilson, N. C., military tournament and celebration; Washington, N. C., Chamber of Commerce's big spring festival; Tarboro, N. C., merchants' carnival, on the public square, and many others to follow, including the great St. Cecilia carnival at Brooklyn, N. Y.

A building devoted exclusively to electrical display will be a feature of the Exposition. An advertising crew under the direction of Andrew Simpson leave Buffalo on April 27, for an extended tour of New York State, Pennsylvania, Michigan and Canada to advertise this event. The executive offices of the Exposition are now located at 311 Main street.

ARTISTIC DECORATING.

Some very original and artistic decorations are produced at the studio of F. M. Chambers, 1931 Broadway, New York. Mr. Chambers has practically devoted a lifetime to his profession and is considered quite an authority in his line. The scope of his work is large and embraces decorations for halls, parties, conventions, fairs and expositions, pictorial painting, arches and floats for parades. He also paints scenery for halls and amateur theatricals.

The building and decoration of the New York Edison Co.'s booth at the Electric Show, New York, the Queen's Automobile for the New York Auto Carnival, floats for the New York

CARNIVAL NOTES.

Dave Morris has been spending the winter in California, and states that he expects to stay in the West this season. He would be pleased to hear from his friends who can address him in care of The Billboard. He spent a few days last week with Geo. Harman, the well-known privilege man at his arcade in Oakland, Cal. Mr. Harman states that he will be with the C. W. Parker Shows this season.

The city authorities of Little Rock, Ark., have granted permission to the Layton Carnival and Fireworks Co., to put on a carnival during the month of May. This is the first carnival that has been held in Little Rock for over nine years. It is intended to have the new state organization of bands which has just been formed, to hold their convention there during that week.

Otis Loretta, of Corry, Pa., and his trained horse, "Col. Fred," are in readiness for the opening of the coming season. Mr. Loretta played several weeks on Hammerstein's roof in New York last summer and has not yet decided whether he will go with a carnival as the feature show or take out a show of his own.

Work is rapidly being pushed forward for the spring production of Robt. D. Everhart's spectacular illusion shows, which will be one of the largest on tour under canvas, featuring fifteen different illusions and a special attraction. Electrocuted at Sing Sing Prison. Mr. Everhart is the sole proprietor.

Chester and Sandrah's Hindoo Theatre, featuring Sandrah's The Mystic, and Zan Zarella, the White Yogi, will go out this season as one of the big shows with the Royal Amusement Co. They carry seven people and present an entertainment that is said to be the best of its kind under canvas.

Manager Wm. F. Tobin, of the St. Charles, Mo., Home-Coming Celebration, has closed a contract with the Patterson Shows to PARK NOTES.

A new addition to the amusement field in Boise is Riverside Park. This park was operated under various parties for the past several seasons, but the lease has just been taken over by Schmelzel and Pyle, two experienced park managers. A number of amusement devices will be installed, and the new managers promise Boise an up-to-date park.

Prof. Wm. Deal, director of Deal's Concert Band, has just closed a contract with the Paducah Traction Co., of Paducah, Ky., to give daily concerts at Wallace Park, beginning May 16 and continuing until September 5.

Three Elgin (Ill.) business men, R. W. Joslyn, M. J. Kimball and Jas. McRae, have entered the directorate of the Elgin Development Co., promoters of New Trout Park. Opening date has been set for May 29.

Work is being pushed forward at the new Trout Park, Elgin, Ill., which opens May 29, under direction of the Elgin Development Co., with R. W. Thornton, as manager.

Young's Garden Airdome, Terre Haute, Ind., opens the season May 9, the attraction being the Quaglins Italian Band.

Prof. Wm. Karnell, high diver, had a narrow escape from death at Manning, S. C. Cause, broken guy rope.

FAIR NOTES.

Herr. Alber's ten polar bears have been secured by the attraction committee of the Central Canada Fair, of Ottawa, Ont., which is the second largest held in the Dominion, for one of the big features on the platform program. The committee was introduced to Herr Alber by Manager Gus S. Greening, after they had witnessed the act and were much impressed with the intelligence shown by those novel performers.

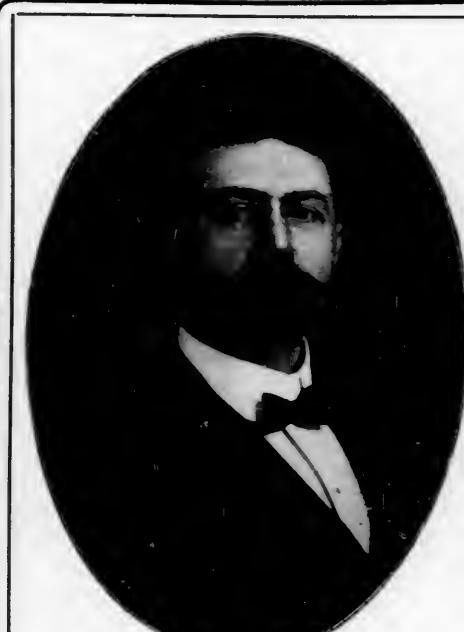

FOREST PARK, PINE BLUFF, ARK.

PINE BLUFF, Ark., advertises its Forest Park as "the greatest playground in Arkansas," and, as we heard no protest from Hot Springs or Little Rock we suppose they do not care to dispute the claim.

During the season of depression in 1908, the Forest Park made money, both for itself and its concessionaires.

F. E. CHEROT, General Manager.

The city of Pine Bluff supports four theatres and, as they close during the summer, this certainly is an indication of good business at the park. Good street car service, a free gate, cheap power and lighting current and high salaried free acts should lead us to believe this would be a very good place for concessionaires.

The Park Amusement Company have decided to place some new attractions on their grounds this season.

The San Antonio International Fair will be held at San Antonio, Texas, November 6-19. Preparations have been begun by the committee in charge of the event for the remodeling of the grounds, and other improvements on a large scale. The Frank P. Spellman Shows will be one of the chief attractions; Kopp's Band will also be a feature.

Captain Demitri's troupe of famous Cossack riders has been engaged for the summer of 1909 at one of the western state fairs. Captain Demitri has recently left for St. Petersburg, Russia, where he will select members of the Czar's Cossack riders for his exhibition.

F. L. Wirick, former secretary of the Inter-state Live Stock Fair, at Sioux City, Iowa, and who now owns the Olympic Theatre in the city, has purchased the Kliff Theatre and will remodel the same. He will rename it the Majestic.

HERBERT DILLEA DEAD.

Herbert Dillea, well known in theatrical and musical circles, died at the home of his uncle, C. M. Hutchinson, in Seneca Falls, April 1. He had traveled extensively over this country and Europe as musical director for some of the best companies on the road. He was a composer of considerable note. He was directing the orchestra at the ill-fated Iroquois Theatre, Chicago, on the afternoon of the never-to-be-forgotten fire, and during his last hours his mind seemed to wander back to that day and in fancy he lived over again the heart-rending experiences that he passed through on that occasion.

THE RICHEST GIRL SHELVED.

Marie Doro has laid aside The Richest Girl, and during her tour of the Pacific Coast, which will be commenced shortly, Miss Doro will use The Morals of Marcus, in which she appeared last season. Miss Doro will remain in the West until August 1.

Following is the executive staff of the shows: George S. Starr, general manager; Jas. C. Simpson, business manager; Wm. J. Lester, general agent, and Wm. E. Aaron, manager transportation. The attractions comprise Peggy From Paris, Dixie Minstrels, Cleopatra, An Awful Tour, Dogs, Ponies and Monkeys, Gonzero's Mexican Bull Fighters, Giggle Alley, Electric Dome, Wild Rose, Ferris Wheel and Merry-go-round.

FAIRYLAND PARK SOLD.

Fairyland Park, Paterson, N. J., was offered for sale by the sergeant at arms of the local district court, last week, and was purchased by Thomas Van Houten for less than $1,000. The park was open four years by Melville and Schmitzler, who spent in the neighborhood of $30,000 in erecting buildings, laying out the grounds, etc. The firm of Melville and Schmitzler prospered, and subsequently opened up parks in nearby towns. Through a disagreement the company disbanded in July, 1908. Mr. Melville settling out his interests. The Fairyland Amusement Co. was then formed which conducted the resort on a paying basis during the season of 1907, but last season the attendance fell off materially, compelling the closing of the resort.

Manager Van Houten is at present organizing a new company and expects to reopen the park for the season about Decoration Day.

BUFFALO MEANS BUSINESS.

"Buffalo Means Business" is the slogan that has been adopted by the Chamber of Commerce to boost Buffalo and its coming Buffalo Midsummer Exposition of 1909. The dates for this splendid undertaking are June 10, extending to July 4. Sept. Elliott, in charge of a force of carpenters, painters and construction men, have started active preparations for what is believed will be the most pretentious affair of its kind ever attempted. The Fraser Highlanders, of Toronto, have recently been booked for the second week to appear with their band of fifty. Simon's Exposition Band, of Buffalo, is also under contract.

Charter Day Parade and the Norfolk and Southern Railroad Exhibit at Jamestown, Va., are a few contracts which he has executed. The last mentioned was awarded a prize.

RIVERSIDE PARK, HUTCHINSON, KAN.

Mr. W. A. Lee, manager of Riverside Park, Hutchinson, Kan., is negotiating with different amusement concerns for a number of new attractions and riding devices. Mr. Lee will also run popular price vaudeville and stock besides a lot of free attractions. He is also organizing a big concert band and orchestra for the big dancing pavilion, which is considered one of the best of its kind in the State. This will be the second season of Riverside Park and Mr. Lee intends to make it one of the largest in the State. He will be glad to hear from anybody who has something new in the outdoor amusement line.

NEW THEATRE IN ERIE PARK.

Waldameer Park, Erie's popular summer resort, will have a new vaudeville theatre this season. E. H. Stuerken, the manager of the Alpha Theatre at Erie, has leased the open-air theatre at this park, and will enlarge the seating capacity so that it will accommodate 2,000 people. The theatre will open on Decoration Day, May 30, with vaudeville. Mr. Stuerken is at present building a new theatre in Erie which will play vaudeville next season on the United time.

NEW PARK.

The Mattoon City Railway Co. will, on May 15 open a new park three miles from Champaign and eight miles from Mattoon, Ill. A lake 500x1,500 ft. is being built. Bids for privileges are being solicited.

The Two Fearless Vans, double high divers, have signed with Edwards Bros.' Big Electric Way for the season of 1909. They open at Middlebury, O., week of May 3.

furnish attractions for their Spring Festival, which will be held the first week in June.

Through his advance agent, Mr. H. Wilen, better known as Mike Murphy, the K. G. Barkoot Carnival Company, now showing in Georgia, has closed a contract for a week's showing in Spencer, S. C., beginning May 24, under the auspices of the Spencer Fire Department, W. H. Burton, chief.

The Gardner Greater Shows look forward to a most suspenseful opening at Wilkinsburg, Pa., May 1. The event has been advertised for the past month and all signs indicate a successful opening.

Manager Art. Gardner, of the Gardner Greater Shows, has entered into a contract with one of the leading fireworks manufacturers to supply set pieces as special features for his coming season.

Windy Hughes and Irish Jack Lynch have taken the front with Charley Williams' Big James Show, and route with the K. G. Barkoot Carnival Co.

Albert H. Heth, well-known concession man, is busy making preparations to join the Coffee Amusement Co. with five concessions.

Dave E. Derella, the only one-armed high diver, has signed for special free act with the Gardner Greater Shows for the season of 1909.

Chas. H. Aldridge's Georgia Minstrels have signed to appear with the Butler Bros. Amusement Co. for the coming season.

Antonia Oliva's Royal Italian Band of ten pieces, signed with the Gardner Greater Shows for the coming season.

J. H. Tryon's Vaudeville, Side Show and Museum, joined the Rosell Amusement Co. at McAlester, Okla., April 5.

Tom Cunningham, the well-known general agent, has closed with the Southern Shows Combined.

The Three Herschals will join the Greater Dixie Carnival Co., opening at Raleigh, N. C., April 5.

Saturday, April 10, 1909.

As a student, Mme. Modjeska is entitled to a foremost place among actresses. She followed the uncommon method of approaching her characters—especially her Shakespearean characters—from the standpoint of the critic rather than from the viewpoint of the histrion; she viewed them intellectually instead of emotionally. She illustrated excellently well how far separated are the tragic actress and the emotional actress. She expressed her ideas most vividly, as follows: "I never undertake a role unless I can see it before me. To my mind, it must be an impersonation, a presence, and, unless I can see it, I will not play it."

Of her Cleopatra, the Brooklyn Eagle said: "It is the exquisite harmony and the proportion of all her scenes to each other which places her upon a higher plane than actresses who have more power in single moments." In her passing, the world will be denied a wonderful artist; the profession a woman that embodied the loftiest ideals of the actress.

A leading vaudeville house in New York, last week introduced an innovation of doubtful propriety. The house has heretofore produced only legitimate vaudeville acts, which, in the main, have had the merit of refinement. The offerings at this place have heretofore been such that audiences of the better grade were tempted to its doors. These were attracted to that theatre on the occasion referred to, but their ranks were augmented, much to the discomfort of the old patrons, by a mob of people of all colors and grades of social standing, wildly pushing their way to the ticket office in a desire to witness the appearance of a colored pugilistic champion, who was a feature of the week's bill. This maddening desire which takes possession of a manager, to swell box-office receipts and bottle his competitor, no matter to whose discomfort or at what cost, even if for the time being his house must be transformed into a fighting arena with a colored pugilist as the feature act, is unseemly and unfair to the theatregoing public, who look for and expect refined vaudeville. Added to the discomfort of contact with the class of people who were temporarily drawn to witness this exhibition, the audiences were compelled to hear hisses and raillery as the act proceeded. It is hoped the example of this manager will not be followed by others, and that vaudeville houses will endeavor to maintain the high standard aimed at by the self-respecting.

The vitriol thrower is again at work. There are several varieties of such abroad. There is he of the skulking kind, who lingers upon the foot-steps of his victim, at the opportune moment hurling the blinding and disfiguring acid, and sneaking away in the darkness. There is another kind who, by reason of long practice in the business has grown emboldened to an extent that he seems not to care if good people discover his villainy. The irresponsible critic is often of the latter class, backed by the purse of a boss who wishes to deal in sensationalism and a conceit which is past understanding. Far be it from us to deprecate fair criticism and that which deals in the ordinary decencies and amenities of life. We aim our shaft at certain so-called critics, of which the author of an editorial in a national weekly of recent date is a prominent example. We can only guess at the animus which prompted the editorial attacking one of the leading theatrical producers of America. No language at the command of the writer was too strong to meet the case, and the limit of his descriptive powers was reached in an effort to besmirch and dislodge the victim. We hold no brief for Mr. Abe Erlanger, the gentleman attacked, nor for any other of the gentlemen named in the editorial, but when a Journal lends its columns to personal abuse pure and simple, it has gone far to transgress the rules of fair journalism. Business antagonisms have and must always exist. Champions there must be of all sides of a controversy, and the vitriolic pen rarely, if ever, need be called into requisition. It must be borne in mind that the gentleman attacked has a long record of success behind him, and a promise of larger future success. There is room in theatricals for all, and business rivalry is bound to exist, but there is no place, either in or out of the profession, for the man who wilfully and wickedly seeks to dislodge the man who holds himself, in his business ventures, within legitimate bounds. For that writer and for such journals, the public holds naught but contempt, and the impudent language is calculated to bring friends to the individual assailed.

The irrepressible reformer, ingenious in his methods to satisfy an uncontrollable desire to reform something, now seizes on the moving picture theatre, irrespective of the character of films displayed, and demands that they be closed on Sunday. While we have been moved on several occasions to give voice to our admiration of the reformers' efforts to convert this venerable world of vice, we confess the fear that in this instance it will prove a case of "once too often."

Moving pictures, under the new system of censorship of subjects, will justly be classified as educational, and it will be difficult to convince countless City Fathers of their "wickedness."

Would it not be well that the reformers sense the actual trend of matters and realize that as the drinking place and the low dive are being driven from the field some worthy and entertaining substitute must be provided for the masses?

Referring to the very excellent Shakespearean productions of a somewhat celebrated actor, a New York critic has seen fit to faintly praise the productions made, but closes by saying that the actor in question is too good an actor to keep on handing out stale goods." Shades of the immortal William! And yet, this is the day of the decadent modern play, when the cry goes up that genius is blind and there is no moral health in us. Possibly such as the critic mentioned have had something to do in shaping modern theatrical output.

In "Circus Philosophy" faintly one hears the wail of the veteran; in plaintive words come the lamentations over the departure of the "primitive." Keenly, insidiously April lures; yearningly the minutes drag into ages. Afflicted with wanderlust, it is torture to remain within the confines of brick and mortar, rule and routine. The old-timer sees in auditoriums, electricity, etc., the first encroachment upon the old methods that have made the circus dear to layman and showman alike. But no cause for alarm may justly exist. The circus is a great institution and is always dear to the hearts of Americans. It marks the first professional amusement birthday of millions. The incense of sawdust, the charm of the ballyhoo, the oratory of the ringmaster, give sustenance to lingering memories even time can not efface. So, hail to the circus season of 1909; may the big tops of all, rail and wagon shows alike, be crowded at each performance to the "turn-away," and when we welcome you back to quarters let it find you prosperous, happy, and all present and accounted for.

Commenting hysterically on the film situation, a lamentable outcome of the present rivalry is pronounced a virtual certainty by some authorities (?). There is no ground whatever for the preposterous assumptions so persistently circulated and labeled as "known intentions." These statements are rather a reflection on the moving picture theatre owner, whose commercial judgment, independence and personal intelligence are brought into question. The "consumer" is too powerful a factor to permit a condition so extravagantly predicted, nor is the circulation of such rumors a compliment to his business acumen. It is a safe presumption that when the situation demands, the moving picture theatre owner will be equal to the occasion.

"When fiction rises pleasing to the eye,
Men will believe, because they love the lie;
But truth, herself, if clouded by a frown,
Must have some solemn proof to pass her down."

We have not complained at the occasional omission in the essentials in the criticisms of our editorial acts, or resented the use of undue emphasis in the support of antagonistic contentions. Even—and we emphasize this point—in the most caustic criticisms, we have sought to disregard the petulant quibblings of perverted "journalists" that dangerously encroach on editorial license. Much that was intended as hostile rather appealed to our sense of humor and for the diversion offered, found us for the moment grateful. But a glaring instance of facticide invites us to make an exception to a prominent rule, especially since the statutory period for the amende honorable has passed.

The matter referred to was the widely published story that a member of the official family of this paper had become identified with a branch of the amusement business which, at the present time, is rather prominently identified with a controversy that is attracting world-wide attention. Not that such connection would in any manner reflect discredit either on the person in question or on ourselves, but because the story was a palpable attempt to provoke unfriendliness with another faction in the controversy.

A BIT OF PLEASANTRY.

"Please let me know by return mail what your house will seat and what are your best sharing terms." This was written to the manager of the opera house at Berlin, N. Y., some years ago by the manager of a small traveling company whose calligraphy had not been highly cultivated. Now, the Berlin manager happened to be a barber, and he read the "R" in "sharing" for a "V," and his reply read something after this style: "Our hall seats 200 and rent is $1 1/2 a night and shaving is ten cents and all your actors will have to pay that or shave themselves."

In 1898, Frank Small was booking Barney Ferguson and wrote to the manager of the Redlands Theatre in California, offering the attraction on sharing terms and in due time received a reply that companies were not played on shares but the house could be rented for $15 for the first night, $10 for the second night and $5 for each subsequent night. Small wrote and asked to be booked for one of the subsequent nights. The reply he received is hardly fit for publication.

Chicago Welcomes Barnum and Bailey

The Big Circus Returns to the Windy City to go its "P. T." Reputation One Better and "Makes Good;" Truly is Bigger, Brighter and Better than ever.
Enormous Crowds Flock to the Coliseum.

By WATTERSON R. ROTHACKER.

APRIL FOOL'S DAY was "Circus Day" in Chicago, and a "circus day" pre-eminently the greatest and most spectacular of its kind; more stupendous than the magic word "Barnum" could conjure even to the mind of the old timer with the "when I was boy" habit. The Barnum & Bailey performance, as it is now offered the public, is the acme of endeavor and accomplishment in this particular field, wherein stories of the grandeur of the old Roman amphitheaters are truly realized in effect, and the possibilities of modern science and skill materially evidenced in a blend of glittering and thrilling entertainment that stirs and amuses even the most blasé.

Barnum & Bailey, after an absence of a number of seasons from this city, returns to us, grown up with the times, fully equipped for a favorable comparison by the many who in the past have flocked to the Coliseum for a few weeks in the spring and then waited for next season and "Ringling."

The spirit of P. T. Barnum pervades the atmosphere, and the aggressive business acumen of the Ringling Brothers instills the "swing" and "go" that is the very essence of their success. By precedent, "Circus" and all the laudatory superlatives in the English language go hand in hand, but in this instance truly so,

This portion of the entertainment includes an aerial act by D. Ladore, a novel trapeze act by the Siegrist Sisters, a revolving ladder stunt by Horace Webb, high air feats by Silbon Sisters, Codona and Cortez, Dexter Martin, Prince Turkey, Miss Mae Florence and Fischer Bros.

"Three Royal Riding Acts" are handled well by the Misses Olympia Konyot and Mae Davenport, the Rokroms and the Misses Julia Shipp and Victoria Davenport.

One of the prettiest features of the entire show is that in which the balloon horse "Jupiter," ascends to the roof of the building and there, in statuque outline, proudly allows Mrs. Ray Thompson to acknowledge the plaudits of the saddle, enveloped in a shower of fireworks issuing from the platform, hung in place of the usual balloon basket. Jupiter is a milk-white animal of imposing appearance, and is seen in a setting that shows off his points to every advantage.

A grand array of acrobatic, equilibristic and gymnastic displays afford opportunity for applause due the fine work of the Four Elephants, Two La Tours, Three Fassios, and the Four Sisters Dieke, all of which acts are extraordinarily good, from the viewpoint of showman and public.

offered the public. It combines the "expected" with all that is new in circosity in an equipoise of arrangement that will be favorably and fondly remembered until such time as enjoyment ceases.

PROF. WORMWOOD'S ATTRACTION.

Prof. V. F. Wormwood has been endeavoring for one year to produce a realistic wild animal hunt on the stage and at last he has succeeded. His new act is said to be one of the most elaborate productions ever attempted by any animal trainer. There will be five bears, twenty-five monkeys, ten large birds, storks, cranes, etc.; two "lions," two "tigers," and ten people. The "lions" and "tigers" are large dogs, made up with real lion and tiger skins to represent those denizens of the forest. There are three entire changes of jungle forest scenery.

The plot of the play, written by one of the most popular authors, describes and pictures Roosevelt and his party at sunset, going into camp; and while the servants are preparing the meal, Roosevelt and party take a stroll to look at the surrounding country, when a band of monkeys raid the camp, putting the servants to flight, and taking full charge of the camp; for the Barnum & Bailey Show "makes good" the promise of its press agent and does not belie the flaming posters showing all the wonderful things and animals that may be seen at the Coliseum between the dates of April 1 and 23.

As a general entertainment it is in a class by itself; as an educator it is potent with its wonderful menagerie, and to the many, large and small, to whom the spring call of the tankard and sawdust will not be denied, it is irresistible; in fact, Barnum & Bailey's Circus is to the amusement seeking public a tonic that gratefully relieves the strain of problem plays and the monotony of vaudeville and musical comedy.

Dressed in all the gorgeousness of modern costume, troops of riders on gaily caparisoned horses, acrobats from the four corners of the globe, and the other performers, whose ensemble in the opening pageant is wonderful in its well timed harmony of color and movement, pass in review, and, announced by heralds, open the show. Then a burst of music from a band, led by Frederick Alton Howell, which puts to shame many of the organizations of the sort that appears to our public under the seductive glamour of a foreign reputation, and "get away with it" because of a fancied "artistic temperament," usher in a high school riding act that, for grace and equestrian skill, is beyond compare. Fancy steps and a game of "Ballroom Polo on Horseback" never fail to get the big hand they deserve, and add a little more to the already enviable reputation of that wonderful trainer, Count Teitzel. His greatest accomplishment, however, is the troupe of sixteen satin-coated equines who maneuver, rideless, except for a dummy Hungarian Hussar, which is strapped securely to each animal. This act is a winner and a revelation in itself.

Then, the elephants, and they are the "goods!" Three rings are at the same time filled with these huge, lumbering animals, who do seemingly impossible stunts, under the direction of Harry J. Mooney, J. L. Clark and J. J. Dooley. The crowning feature of this act is the elephant band, which amusingly mimics "near music," assisted by five comely young ladies, who join with trumpets in a Harry Von Tilzer chorus.

Now, "the time for the acrobats and aerial performers, and that time is so well filled by acts of this nature, of such a general excellence as may be summed up in one phrase: 'Exceptionally efficient and intensely interesting,'

Some of the difficult feats in equine training are directed by Mr. H. Lipot, H. Gruner and S. Lintini, and then, in unison, the arena discloses the Four Comrades in laughable acrobatics, a canine toothall contest, presented by C. Teitzel, the Comical Daschund Horse, and his trainer, Joe Little Short; Moustler's acting dogs and monkeys, the Allars and the Valdeans, in lively acrobatic comedy.

Holding the entire attention of the audience, is an absolute novelty in high-air work, presented by five lady gymnasts who style themselves "The Great Act Femmes, The Leamy Ladies." They are gracefully good, accomplish seemingly impossible feats with marvelous ease, and close in an electrically-illuminated finale that is artistically effective.

Oho! you Gus Kraft! that mule-riding stunt of yours is surely all to the merry. "Run, and the mule runs with you; let go, and you fall alone," but Gus stays with him and dispenses a bundle of laughs that are wholesome and spontaneous. Harry La Pearl has riding act that is good, and D. W. Winslow gets good hands for his grotesque antics.

European acts galore dot the program this year, even more so than in the past. Prolinent among these foreign entertainers are The Dollar Troup, Five Koss, Six Florences, The Avalos, and Lee Jardys.

While La Belle Victoria is holding the center of the ring with her sensational feats on a slender wire, the Four Ekelid Sisters are showing their wire act. Younky is swinging courageously on his wire. The Nettle Carroll Trio and The Avalons are also working on the wires and the La Faile Troupe is unfolding a series of novel exhibitions of strength, bulldozed around Mlle. La Faile, who forms a wrestler's bridge and supports the entire troupe alone.

A trio of especially good riding acts shows a galaxy of equestrian stars, such as Ella Bradna and Fred Berrieck, the Six Konyots and Orsin, Victoria and Mae Davenport who, on mettled horses of equine aristocracy, maneuver with graceful daring.

The big-type people who are seen in the casting acts are the Troupe Lamar, Imperial Vietnamese Troupe and the Six Neapolitans. Each of these is a feature in itself and, combined, they are the greatest aggregation of the kind in circus annals.

The Hippopotamus races are dashing in their execution and are well done by the riders and drivers, the list of whom, this year, shows are better than others, of course, but all are good, and harmonize with the "peanuts-and-pink-lemonade" atmosphere.

The foolish fellows, from all points of the compass, are of all languages, but of a humor that is perfectly enjoyed. Their names are familiar to all showmen and they appeal to all humanity. Pierre Kertfysen, Harry La Pearl, Louis Moustier, Zandon Konyot, Frane Perez, H. C. Stantz, Wm. La Rue, Henry Sylow, Fred Egner, Horace Webb, D. W. Winslow, Gua Kraft, F. Valde, Frank Everett, Harry Clemmons, Four Comrades, Harry Burns, Thomas Jerome, Amil Rigouret, Anton Plach, George Baker, Eddie De Vo, Roy La Pearl, Kid Farmer, Three Olifants, Oichansky, Antonio Perezito, Fritz Rigouret, James Pleasant, Charles Jennings, Anthony Hauer, James Leon, Charles Azora, John La Radle and Louis Peruchi are individually clowns, and, collectively, a side-splitting crowd of mimurers.

The culminating feature of the entertainment is the thrill that greets Desperado, in his hair-raising and chest-bruising act, and the tense interest that is impelled by the Sisters La Rague, who have an act of terrifying daring, called "Autos that Pass in the Air." This crowning triumph of sensational ingenuity shows two demure and quiet young ladies taking a toboggan ride in autos, down a ninety-foot runway. One machine turns a complete forward somersault, the other car, swiftly following, passes under the whirling auto and lands fifty feet away. It is a nervy undertaking and is a fitting climax to an evening of thrills.

"Desperado" is a good name for the chap who poses on the dome of the Coliseum, says "I'm ready," and, with one graceful swoop, cuts the air, and glancing from an inclined platform below in the arena, makes his bow, does a flip-flop or two and makes a get-away to the back of the show before the audience has quite recovered from its astonishment that any human being would heed the call of gold so far as to take a risk of this sort.

From now until April 23, will this program be enacted at the Coliseum for the benefit of those who live in yearly anticipation of the yearly visit of the circus; and that anticipation, in its highest sense, is fully realized, for Barnum & Bailey's effort for this season is positively the pinnacle of their accomplishment. Their performance, as now playing in Chicago, is the best of this class of entertainment ever helping themselves to the evening meal, they proceed to dress themselves up in the modern civilized attire, some with ping hats, others with collars and cuffs on, while one tries on Roosevelt's shirt.

Roosevelt and party return and make a rush upon the invaders and capture several of these large Simeons, while others fly to trees and fire a fusilade of biscuits, cocoanuts and sticks from the surrounding bushes.

The party retires for the night with a beautiful moonlight scene, and the bears, lions and tigers prowl around the camp, scaring the poor natives nearly to death.

The scene then changes to morning, and Roosevelt and party are up and ready for the bear hunt. In reality Teddy spies one, and while slipping up to get a shot at close range, is attacked in the rear by another, which he lays low with his revolver; then he follows the first, which he lariates with a rope and brings to camp alive. Then he encounters five bears, and has a hand-to-hand fight. After he has killed two he captures three alive and adds to his collection of monkeys and tigers.

Then he goes on a lion hunt, bags two, gets his collection together, names all the monkeys from his friends in the Senate, not forgetting Governor Hughes, and them, with the assistance of Prof. Wormwood, trains all his collection, gives a performance, and then returns to New York, with a pair of tigers hitched into a handsome runabout, ready for a display at Tammany Hall.

EARL STEWARD.

Mr. Steward, resident manager of the Shubert Theatre, Kansas City, Mo., is one of the youngest house managers in the country. He is but 24 years old but has been in the theatrical profession four years and has always "made good." Mr. Steward is a Kansas City man, having been born and reared in that city. He has been away during much of the past four years, but returned to Kansas City in the fall season of 1908, as the personal representative for the Shuberts in Kansas City. He was treasurer of the Shubert Theatre during Mr. Woodward's incumbency as manager, and proved so capable and popular that he became manager when the house reverted to the Shuberts.

101 RANCH ROBBERS PUNISHED.

The final chapter of the robbery of the 101 Ranch Wild West Show in Fort Worth, Texas, last January was enacted last week when Geo. Wells, train watchman on the stock cars, was sentenced to two years' imprisonment. His accomplice, F. Roe, alias "Kid" Burke, a side show canvasman, had been previously sent to the penitentiary for a term of three years. It will be recalled that the two men blew open the safe of the amusement organization by forcing their way into the ticket wagon while the show was making its way from San Antonio to Fort Worth. Roe was arrested a few hours later while attempting to buy a rail-road ticket to Chicago. He had in his possession at the time about $1,300. Roe was caught the same day.

The robbery attracted a great deal of public and newspaper attention and caused a whisper among the so-called "wise" members of the circus fraternity that it was their belief that the affair had its origin and execution with the press department of the show. Others who knew and appreciated the character of Messrs. Miller and Arlington realized that no tactics of the nature would have been tolerated.

At all events, it will interest the show world to learn that the owners of the Wild West institution made up their minds at the outset to prosecute the perpetrators without thought of time or expense. Mr. Joseph C. Miller neglected arduous duties at the 101 Ranch, which he demanded every moment of his time during the last three months, to make four different trips to the scene of the trial of the men. It was a matter of principle with him, he declared. There were absolutely no extenuating circumstances. His action in the matter is one that will remain an example to amusement purveyors who are accustomed to sustain damage to reputation or pocket and endure it without protest.

OPERATION SUCCESSFUL.

Little Lord Robert, "the smallest man in the world," is a patient at Mount Sinai Hospital, New York. Surgeons there on Monday performed an operation on the midget for appendicitis. He is in a critical condition.

Little Lord Robert is one of the attractions at the Ringling Brothers' Circus. He exhibited himself in the big show along with Coretta, also a midget.

Last Saturday after the performance the little man complained of feeling ill, and a physician diagnosed his ailment as appendicitis. He was removed to the hospital.

Great care had to be taken when the operation was performed. The surgeons were at first afraid to venture an anesthetic.

Little Lord Robert hails from Chicago and his real name is Robert Kanton. He is twenty-one years of age, is only twenty inches in height and weighs thirteen and one-half pounds. He is a perfectly formed little man, however, and was the life of the show.

The surgeons, when doing their work had to exercise great care owing to the size of their patient. They removed the appendix of the midget and state that unless complications set in he would be a well little midget in a few weeks.

At his bedside and later in the Madison Square Garden Monday afternoon, Coretta was disconsolate. She only joined the show when it opened in New York and had learned to love the tiny little Chicago chap. Coretta is only nineteen years of age and is a really very pretty little girl. She looks like a little China doll. If Lord Robert gets well he and Coretta are to be married before the show starts its season on the road.

NOTES FROM THE COLE BROS.' SHOWS.

Cole Brothers' Shows were represented at the opening of the Ringling Brothers' opening by M. J. Downs, the owner, James Downs, the manager, and Ed. C. Knupp, general agent. Manager James Downs and General Agent Knupp represented the Cole Brothers at the opening of the Barnum Show. Miss Lizzie Rooney was among the arrivals at winter-quarters last week and one of the active patrons of the ring barn.

The best car left the paint shop last week and the shows are now all ready for the road.

There will be fourteen musicians in the side show colored band. A full orchestra will furnish the music for the minstrel part of the program. Treasurer Fred Robinson was among those who registered from Cincinnati last week. Treasurer Robinson has designed the most simple and perfect system of circus book-keeping that has yet been put in use. "Doc" Ogden, who will manage the side show during the coming season, has arrived and announces his roster as follows:

BARTINE SHOW OPENS.

Promising to keep up their long established reputation, the Bartine One-ring Circus, will leave the Connersville winter-quarters in a few weeks and open at St. Mary's O. on May 15. The following performers are engaged for the season: The Aerial Stones, casting act, double trapeze, cloud swing, etc.; Harry Hardell, triple bars, etc.; Rollman Sisters, aerialists; Carl Nemo, jumping barrels, etc.; Wm. Burns and family of five aerialists, wires, etc.; Burns and Kohl, trained ponies, mules, dogs, etc.; Willie Bartine and his four riding mules, and a band of twelve pieces. The outfit will consist of an 82 ft. round top with two 30-ft. middle pieces, 32x50 horse tent, 40 ft. round top dressing tent, 6x30 dining tent, 8 baggage wagons, 1 cook wagon, 1 hand wagon, 2 carriages, 1 buggy, 1 carriage, 12-horse bill wagon and two one-horse skirmish advance wagons as well as 34 head of stock besides the ring stock. They will tour Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Michigan.

POPULAR AGENT QUIT.

Thos. C. Byers, for many years one of the best liked and most widely known of New York's advance agents, has left the show business accepting a position with the New York and Van Buren Billposting Company, assuming charge of their Harlem Branch. The best wishes of a host of friends goes to popular Tom in his new vocation.

VON ERICHSEN AND LILLI SHOWS

The Von Erichsen and Lilli Southern Shows met with another week of success in the little town of Leola, Ark., week of March 15. Everyone with the company reaped a share of the loose coins which was in circulation and was well pleased with the week's receipts. We lost but one night during the week and that was on account of rain. This was the second week of our spring tour and if business continues to keep up in the future as it has the past couple of weeks, the entire company will be able to sport new Easter suits and an old Virginia shroud.

SIGNS CONTRACT.

Prof. George Hammond last season lecturer with Pawnee Bill's Annex, has completed an engagement of fourteen weeks at the Star Theatre in Boston and has made a decided impression there. Mr. Hammond originated the idea of lectures on feature pictures and has a style that is decidedly original. Since leaving the Star Theatre Mr. Hammond has been manager and lecturer for Sam Mahoney, the long-distance swimmer. He will again go on the road this season with his own show, carrying nine people, in a production of hypnotism and vaudeville.

CAR NO. 3, NORRIS & ROWE CIRCUS.

The roster of Advertising Car No. 3, the Greater Norris & Rowe Circus, season 1909 is as follows: George S. Roddy, car manager; Harry Anderson, boss billposter; Tom Spencer, Chas. Lee, K. Scholz, Jim Gupton, James R. Dixon, C. (Gabe) Courtright, H. Cobb, Brockle Dove, J. Lillis, Claude Hayden, billposters. In charge of lithographs, Harry (See) Payne with C. Chase, assistant. In charge of banners, Geo. E. Van with John Schatzel, assistant. Geo. (Punk) Parker, programmer; Nick Mattigan, painter.

MRS. CHAS. MCLEAN DEAD.

After a long illness, Alice, wife of Chas. McLean, passed away at her home in Middlebury, Conn., March 23, aged 65 years, 7 months and 21 days. She was the wife of Chas. McLean, who was for many years identified with the Barnum and Bailey interests, and who is probably the most widely known loss canvasman in the world. The funeral took place March 25, at Middlebury; interment at Mount Grove Cemetery.

CIRCUS IN SOUTH AMERICA.

Frank Brown's Circus opening in South America during April will number among others, Morris Vincent and Mariani, clowns; Loessner Family, Hegemann's aerial act; Calisto, Little Walter, clown; Le Pages, jumpers; The Brigtons, comedy bicycle act; Igor Perschhoff, Russian troupe; the Cleirs, ring act; Felix de Marce, monkey jockey on horseback.

THE DIFFERENCE IN TENTS

It is not so much in the material used as in the way the tent is made. Some tent makers think only of the profit; we rely on our tents to maintain our reputation for producing only the best.

GUARANTEED TENTS

are used by people who spend much money for tents. They are chosen among hundreds because of their superior qualities and exclusive features. You can't afford to be less particular because you don't spend as much.

WOODY'S COMBINED SHOWS.

In a letter to The Billboard, Harry DeAlvin denies the report which has been circulated to the effect that he would be connected with the Lucky Bill Show this season. Mr. DeAlvin states that he has been reengaged by the management of the Woody's Combined Shows, making his second season with that organization. Mr. DeAlvin states that Manager Robert Woody is now busily engaged in perfecting arrangements for this season's tour. The Woody Show will carry thirty wagons and sixty head of stock, in addition to two advance wagons. Herewith is a list of the performers: Harry DeAlvin, impersonator and club swinger; Garrett Warmlington, trapeze and flying ladder; Jess and Gertrude Brown, aerial artists; Marvelous Drayton, equilibrist; Joe Edwards, slack-wire; Gus Allen, principal clown with his trained dogs; Joe Hastings and Mrs. Woody, musical artists, and Little Baby Woody. Aigle Standard will act as general agent and contractor; Harry DeAlvin, will have charge of the cook house; Gus Woody, boss canvasman; Luther Woody, superintendent of animals, and A. H. Hallum, boss buster. Joe Hastings will be leader of the band which consists of ten pieces. The show will open at winterquarters in Afton, Okla., June 21.

COL. CODY RETURNS.

Looking as young and sprightly as ever, Buffalo Bill returned to New York, April 1. The noted frontiersman had much to say about the West and conditions, also a remark or two about the Wild West Show, sponsored by himself and Major Little (Pawnee Bill). The show comes to Madison Square Garden, April 26.

A call has gone out over the world for the different acts to assemble for rehearsal which commences in about ten days.

A feature will be troupes of Malays, Gingaloes and Persians.

Major Little is at Bridgeport, Conn., whipping the preliminary details into shape.

GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY.

The friends of Si "Pop" Semon, the oldest living circus agent in point of service, are receiving the following invitation:

1859-1909—Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Semon request the honor of your presence at the Fifteenth Anniversary of their marriage on Tuesday, the sixth of April; informal reception from eight until eleven o'clock at the residence of Mr. S. P. Stiner, 415 Central Park West, New York City.

CIRCUS GOSSIP.

Adam Fetzer's Shows opened their season March 11 at Hope, Ark. The roster is as follows: Adam Fetzer, proprietor and manager; Mrs. Adam Fetzer, treasurer; Jas. St. Helme, advance; Slim Jim, hillposter; Jack Harrington, privileges; Jas. Hodges, boss canvasman, with five assistants; Missouri Slim, boss buster, with four assistants; Howard Hilly, cook, with two assistants. The performers are: Bert Renzo, Ethel and Jan Rosemar, Frank X. Mack, Sells Family, Ernest Blum and Wm. Wilson.

The Geo. Shepp's Shows will open their season April 24. Manager Shepp reports from winterquarters at Indianapolis, Ind., that preparations are well under way for the season's tour, which he anticipates will be highly successful. John Sutton will manage the advance car this season; Briger Fulton will have charge of the advertising; Geo. W. Hann will act as superintendent of canvas, with Horace Wilson as his assistant. Several other well known circus men have also signed.

Ketrov's O. K. Show will open its fifth season at Anderson, Ind., May 1. The following people have signed: P. M. Hicks, band leader; Whity Newbold, boss canvasman; Capt. Chas. Keesler, charge of privileges; Griffen Debon, boss properties; Jack R. Spiles, song and dance man; Three Calloways, contortionists and acrobats; Two Emersons, novelty sketch artists; Frank Peters, bag punching; Four Ketrov, wire artists; Wm. Ketrov, manager and Mrs. Wm. Ketrov, treasurer.

Notes from the Great Lugar Shows: Chas. Holton has been engaged as general agent; Wallon and Glenny have signed to do their acrobatic and barrel jumping act; E. T. and Katie Swegart with their outlaw horse, "Dynamite," will be a feature of the Wild West; Joe Gordon, bronco buster, has also signed. A tribe of Sioux Indians will also be carried.

Bert Andrus, advance agent for Gentry's Dog and Pony Show, who has been in Louisville, Ky., all winter, left March 23 for Paducah, Ky., and other southern points, to make arrangements for the coming season. The show will leave Bloomington, Ind., about April 30. Mr. Ondrus has been with the Gentry's for many years, and is well known in the South.

Dr. Theodore Crosby left Corry, Pa., March 31 for Kansas City, Mo., where he joined the Campbell Bros. Shows for his second season. Dr. Crosby has been visiting his father for a short time. He formerly was physician with the Main and the McCaldon Circus. His wife is one of the Nelson family.

Parker's Texas Combined Shows are now playing through southern Texas, and Manager J. T. Parker states that business is very satisfactory. This company was formerly known as the Parker Brothers' Show but the name has recently been changed to Parker's Texas Combined Shows.

Deacon Dellmore, who has been connected with the side show of John Robinson's, has signed a contract for the coming season with Cole Bros. Show. He will assist Doc Odgen, manager of the Annex. Deacon had been lecturing at the moving picture theatres in Erie, Pa., all winter.

The Anderson Dog and Pony Show and Wild West will open the 1909 season under canvas, April 15, at Melodeon, Ill., where they have been in their new winterquarters. This show is owned and managed by Lyman Adell.

Among the American artists now on tour in Australia, are the following: Honey and Cherry, horizontal performers; Stroes and Fellows, instrumentalists; Lawson and Nanon, ball punchers and trick cyclists.

Mrs. Etta Orton is recovering rapidly at her home.

Sells-Floto Opening a Big Denver Event

The Shriners Join in Making it the Grandest Display Ever Seen West of the Mississippi

WITH an entire city giving itself up to the holiday spirit, the Sells-Floto Shows opened at the Amphitheatre in Denver, March 29, under most favorable conditions. The vast enclosure, seating 6,300 people, was packed, in spite of the fact that the weather was about the worst that could be chosen for an opening day, snow having fallen all day Monday. The indoor program was fully carried out, but the contemplated parade could not be given until the following Wednesday.

Of the parade, which occurred on the latter day, pages might be employed in exploiting its wonders. The Shriners of Denver were a part and parcel of the opening, and though the merry-makers were a show of themselves, it beth added to the gorgoness of the Sells-Floto aggregation, and made the whole affair a memorable occasion in circus annals.

From the first sound of the equestrian director's whistle on Monday until the last strain of the Star Spangled Banner died away under the roof of the Amphitheatre, the Shriners-Sells-Floto Circus was pronounced by thousands of Denver's best citizens as the most mirthful and exceptional exhibition ever seen west of the Mississippi. Shriners in full dress, wearing the "fezzes," turned out in an enormous body, with their families and friends, to witness the show. Each act presented was met with wild applause. As the audience entered they were first met by a delegation of Shriner "women," elegantly dressed, who persuaded them to purchase the beautiful souvenir program. The "women" referred to were gentlemanly Shriners. After a program furnished by the Shriners, the circus opened with the famous Indiana Royal Black Horse Hussars. It is a distinct innovation, entitled "The Gathering of the Garlands, and Threading the Needle." Both of these exhibitions were marvelous in execution. Genaro and Theo, the renowned contortionists, disported themselves in a marvelous display of contortional cleverness. This was a very interesting exhibition on the center stage, while Mlle. Edna presented a series of contortions and graceful evolutions in the center of Ring 1. At the same time Paul Brachard occupied Ring No. 3, showing some marvelous contortional feats, wonderful to witness.

The foregoing acts served to pave the way for a sight which is always a star number on the circus program. Two rings were occupied by the Sells-Floto World's Greatest Performing Elephants. Ring 1 was in charge of Christ, Zelis; Ring 2 being in charge of Geo. Rolley. Elephant cleverness has never been better displayed than by these two groups of educated animals. The mind marvels at the skill and patience possessed by the trainers and wonders that communication between man and the largest animal is so complete.

Following this the Armour $25,000 six horse team was driven into the arena. The horses were guided through a series of maneuvers which were exceptionally pleasing. This is the far-famed team, known the world over for the individual size and beauty of each horse, and which, after taking prizes at all the leading horse shows of the world, has been driven before crowned heads of Europe, guided by the ribbons in the hands of the same driver, William Wales.

Display No. 5 was made up of principal riding acts. In Ring No. 1 were dainty and dexterous displays of pretty bareback riding, by charming examples of grace and agility. The Royneys, who are the epitome of all riding features, and the best exponents of later day equestrianism. Ring No. 2 at the same time was taken up by Flora Bedini and Myra Meers, and their equine wonders. These ladies are equestrian performers, remarkable for grace, rare skill and ease of performance, and brought forth the hearty plaudits of the audience. During the performance of the last two

ADOLPH ZINK.

Everybody knows Adolph Zink, the Lilliputian comedian. He has just finished a tour of the Sullivan-Considine houses and is loud in his praise of the courteous treatment he received. Mr. Zink sails for Europe in May and will make London, Paris, Vienna and Berlin, after which he will visit his parents in Austria, returning to America in September, when he will offer a new set.

acts was introduced the all-clown funny acts, led by L. Moore, Dan Riley, Paul Newport, George Brown, Everett Veneta, Fred Delmont, Chad, Wertz, Phil Darling, Shorty Maynard and George Nemar, whose queer antics were up-to-date and amusing.

The Sells-Floto Circus of this year is the realization of many years of thoughtful, energetic enterprise. Beginning some years ago as a modest contribution to the amusement world, it has advanced steadily step by step, marking its progress by methods bound to lead up to the wonderful aggregation of to-day. To use superlatives in describing this season's offering is unnecessary, but the 1909 season bids fair to place the Sells-Floto Circus abreast of the finest in the land.

After the regular performance given by the Sells-Floto aggregation, the Shriners held a concert, such as is always brings a circus to an end. It was really amusing, and those who were frightened from the amphitheatre by the report of snowy weather missed the best part of the evening's performance.

The after-circus concert was given by the Shriners' Band, under the direction of Frank L. Bishop. They paraded around the arena several times and then rendered classical pieces from the center stage. Their pronounced "hit" was a very difficult piece, entitled Tambour of Fudge. Members of the band were Joseph Jacobs, Theodore Meier, F. S. McIntyre, L. B. Vickroy, Thurston H. U. Smith, J. P. Coffey, George Fonda, J. R. Henry, Edward Shaeffer, John Pass, Albert Chamberlain, George R. Bradley and C. Rider.

A. Z. Silversparre and W. T. Chamberlain gave a Salome dance which was without doubt one of the best burlesques ever witnessed in Denver. Silversparre was dressed in "seven veils," and went through the back-breaking movements of the Salome, while Chamberlain sat on his throne admiring the dance. For about ten minutes "she" danced on the platform until the head of John the Baptist was espied. "She" then seized it and fell to the floor.

During the applause Salome arose and stealing back from the head renewed "her" dance. Well after veil was unwrapped from "her" shapely body until the last one fell to the floor and the dance was finished.

The crowds cheered the dancer until long after she had disappeared from the arena, and despite the fact that the program was ended they kept their seats, shouting for a re-appearance. Silversparre would have favored them, so he said, but for his inability to secure any more veils.

Among the visitors on the opening night were Al. G. Field, proprietor of Field's Greater Minstrels; Al. Campbell, of the Campbell Bros. Show; Jas. H. Curran, city billposter of Denver; Arch M. Donaldson, of the Donaldson Litho. Co.; John O. Talbott, of the Hagenbeck-Wallace Show; Hank Wakefield, "Big Chief"; H. C. Tammen, C. A. Bonfils, W. E. Franklin and Harry Earle.

The show will go from Denver to Las Vegas, Albuquerque, El Paso, and then out to California. It is planned to reach El Paso by April 10.

THE SMITH GREATER SHOWS OPEN SEASON.

The Smith Greater Shows opened the season March 29 in Gaffney, S. C., to a very satisfactory week's business.

The following shows and riding devices are now with this company: Trained Wild Animal Circus, Zora Possum Hollow, Colored Aristocracy Minstrels, Emo, Diavolo, The Big Show, The Little City, The Dog and Bird Show, The Merry Widow Swings, Ferrell and Smith's The Hurdlers.

Scelsi and his Italian Band of sixteen musicians are features; Arnold the Aerialist, in his flying swings and Mounting, the Marvel, doing his original spiral tower ascension, are the free performances presented.

Nearly every one connected with the show on its winter tour signed up for the season, which speaks well for the management.

The executive staff is as follows: C. Smith, E. K. and Chris. M., owners and managers; Jessie Smith, secretary; Anna Smith, treasurer; W. S. Cherry, general representative; Wm. Jenkins Hewitt, special agent.

CIRCUS GOSSIP.

The roster of Sun Bros.' Advance Car No. 2 is as follows: M. Burrower, car manager; Bert Moore, boss billposter; Fred Bowers, C. H. Willard, C. H. Garlen, Fred Riley, Jean Wilson, Frank Zahri and J. M. Peck, billposters; Jas. M. Beach, lithographer; Fred Cunningham, banner man; J. S. Sanders, J. R. Gurz, pastemakers, and M. E. Hildbrand, chef.

Barlow's Dog and Pony Show has been on tour forty-eight consecutive weeks since their opening in April, 1908, and are now on their way North. They met with a little misfortune last week when they were water-bound in the swamps. Lee Parmalee, clown, leaves the show April 12 to join Campbell Bros. Shows in Kansas City, Mo.

The following people will be identified with the cook house of the Yankee Robinson Show this season: H. L. Kelly, purchasing agent; C. H. Frank, charge of lots; John McPeek, chef, with two assistants; Deacon Robinson, camp fire man, and Little Harry Shackelford in charge of dining room with eight assistants.

F. Allan Pearce has signed for the coming season with H. G. Wilson, as announcer of the side show and concert with the Buffalo Bill and Pawnee Bill Wild West Combined, opening in Brooklyn, May 3.

Old John Hart, late of Mundy's Carnival Company, called at the New York office of The Billboard and wishes to be remembered to the boys.

Speed Contests for World's Records—Is Racing Detrimental to Roller Skating—Reynolds, Flath and Fitzgerald Contribute Interesting Gossip—Carey Skates Two Miles in 5:56—Skating Enthusiasm Undiminished

KANSAS CITY SPEED CONTEST.

The eyes of the roller skating world are now turned towards Kansas City, Mo., and will be until April 17. The championship races for the world's record of one, two and three miles are now on at the Coliseum Roller Rink. Each night, two heats and a semi-final are held, which will entitle the one making first in the semi-final each night to entry in the finals, which are held on Saturday nights. These races commenced March 29, with the one-mile race, to be decided, April 3; the two-mile on April 10, and the three-mile championship on April 17. Some of the speed skaters of the country are entered, among whom are the following:

Earl Sanford, of St. Louis, Mo., holder of the one, two and three-mile championship, at the meeting recently held in St. Louis, this year; T. C. Peters, of St. Louis, some skater; Itidney Peters, of St. Louis, Mo., winner of the three-miles in Pittsburgh; Leo Jones, of St. Louis, holder of the two-miles in Pittsburgh; Roland C. Conlon, of Philadelphia, the champion, there; Willfred Stouteberg, of San Francisco, the Pacific Coast champion; John Flannery, of Cleveland, winner of everything there; Willy Blackburn, of Brooklyn, N. Y., the Eastern champion; C. Schmittel, of St. Louis, trainer; H. Whiting, the general manager and "backer."

Among the local entries are: Hector De Silvia (The Australian Champion); Louis Bradbury, Kansas City; John Stewart, Kansas City; Fred Cosly, of the Hippodrome, Kansas City; Midge Sherman, the Coliseum's champion. This is the first racing event of rollers to be held in Kansas City, and is attracting the attention of all devotees of the little wheels, and nightly the Coliseum is crowded with those eager to witness these exciting races. "Doc" Riley, of the Kansas City Athletic Club, is the starter, and representatives from the local papers are present.

Leo Jones, of St. Louis, Mo., the holder of the two-mile championship, won at the roller rink in Pittsburgh, Pa., now in Kansas City, Mo., at the Coliseum Rink, and entered for all distances of one, two and three miles, which are being held at that rink, and which commenced March 29, to run through three weeks, has issued a challenge.

Kansas City, Mo., March 29, 1909.
I, Leo Jones, holder of the two-mile championship, desire to skate a challenge race, with either Harley Davidson, or Allie Moore, famous speed skaters, of any distance that may be desired by the aforesaid speed skaters, from one to five miles, to be raced on any surface of any rink in the United States. The consideration to be a purse of five hundred dollars. Mr. R. H. Whiting, of St. Louis, the hacker and general manager of the speed skaters now in Kansas City, has agreed to forfeit two hundred and fifty dollars when this challenge has been answered. Please answer through The Billboard. Harley Davidson or Allie Moore, please take notice.

CAREY'S FAST RECORD.

Fast time was made at the Scranton Armory Rink, Scranton, Pa., Saturday, March 27, in the last race of series of three between Jesse Carey, of Wyoming, Pa., and Chester Smith, of Scranton, for the championship of the two counties. Carey won two races out of three, the last race, of two miles distance, being skated by him in 5:56.

EARLE REYNOLDS' LETTER.

There seems to be a number of the managers who think that racing will kill the roller skating business. In fact the mail this week brought a number of these letters, none of which go into the matter deeply. I am always ready and willing to argue the matter or hear suggestions that will be of use and assistance in promoting roller skating. But I hardly think that racing injures the sport. While the racing game has been well played the past season it cannot be said that we have had anything else but high-class and honest racing. It's up to the manager of the rink to determine whether the racing game is detrimental to his business. There is nothing more exciting and more interesting than a good skating race when skated on the level and all the contestants are trying. I have yet to find one instance where any of the circuit boys who have been racing all winter have laid down to any of their fellow contestants for a split of the money. And as long as we can have cool, honest races and by champions. These kind of races should be drawing cards in most any rink.

Whether racing is detrimental to the rink business is up to the managers of rinks to determine. They know their audiences and know their business. It is an evident fact, however, that some managers play the race game off the boards. The rink attractions should be of the variety order and wherever there is a race put on there should be at least two or three exhibitions of the higher branches. Fancy, trick and figure skating. It takes a few months to whip a skater into a racer, but it takes years of hard practice to master the higher branch of the sport.

I regret to learn of the death of Mrs. J. M. Brown, wife of the manager of the Coliseum Roller Rink, Buffalo, N. Y. While going from her home to the Coliseum she slipped on the icy sidewalk, breaking one of the bones in her limb. She paid little attention to the accident until she arrived at the rink. She, however, suffered much pain and was removed to her home, where two doctors were immediately called. She died a few hours after. A husband, a daughter and one son survive. Manager Brown has been in the rink business for many years and is well liked. Everyone who is a skater knows the clever manager for he has played most every act that is in the business. The P. E. R. S. A. of America extend their deepest sympathy in this, his hour of sadness.

I was pleased to notice at the Albany Hotel, a very handsome Wurlitzer organ in the cafe of the College Inn at 41st and Broadway, New York. Manager Murphy, of the Albany Hotel, surely showed good judgment and up-to-date progressiveness in placing such a beauty. It sounds like a fifty-piece orchestra and the guests can hear it in any part of the big cafe. All the latest tunes are among the collection and the operatic selections played by this beauty makes one feel as though he is at the Metropolitan Opera across the street.

The Mayos, who have been skating for many years in all the continental music halls and roller rinks, are presenting their comedy and acrobatic skating novelty in a large Holland skating scene at the Empire, London. Many of the London critics claim it is the hit of the entire production. The Mayos are thinking of making an American tour, commencing next fall and the skating public will have an opportunity of seeing some real English comedy skating.

Manager E. R. George, writes that he is putting on the coming week, a Marathon roller race and has sent out for entries from all the large Eastern cities. Any of the managers who are in the vicinity of Rochester have a chance at the Genesee Rink next week to try out some of their fast boys in this race. The prizes are exceptionally fine and are worth while skating for, says the manager. Many of the Buffalo racers will go to Rochester to compete.

Manager E. M. Moar, who is now at the Hippodrome Rink, Kansas City, writes that the races at the Coliseum will see some good fast skaters. Prof. Moar states that the business has been fairly good considering the hard times throughout the country and that Manager Manser is making big preparations for a big season next year and will have the Hippo in great shape for the opening next fall.

Manager Kunzman, of Sandusky, O., will be at liberty next month to accept a summer rink as he will close his rink for the season the latter part of March. Manager Kunzman has been promoting roller rinks and managing rinks for a number of years and will prove a good find for a proprietor of some summer rink who is looking for a first class manager.

Professor Harry Simmons is playing for Manager E. R. George this week, at the Genesee Rink, Rochester, and will play the entire New York Circuit, after which he will book the Canadian Circuit. Simmons comes back from Europe after a year abroad with many new comedy and novelty tricks that make up a fine show and a high-class rink attraction.

Bob Murphy and Tim Sullivan are matched to skate a race. Both are men close onto three hundred. The Senator wants Murphy to go to his rink, the Bijou at Hot Springs, but Murphy claims the Senator is used to the Bijou Rink and he will have a shade on him. So far they have not decided where they will skate. Bob Price is after the match and may get it.

About the cleverest and at the same time dangerous stunt I have seen for some time was a backward somersault three in succession with which Jimmie Donegan favored the boys who skate around the Shea Theatre, Buffalo. Mr. Donegan says it's easy for him to turn somersaults on roller skates. He can have it for me. I will not steal his stunt.

A very instructive and interesting little weekly, the London Health and Strength, last week devoted a full page to roller skating, also an article contributed by Harley Davidson, which was very interesting. Geo. S. Monahan also carries an advertisement at the top of one of its pages advertising a skating book which he has compiled.

Mr. C. P. Crawford, the managing director of the American Roller Rink Company, who have forty rinks throughout Great Britain, writes that he has closed contracts for the equipment of six new rinks on the continent. Manager Crawford also says that there are altogether fifty first-class rinks in operation in Great Britain.

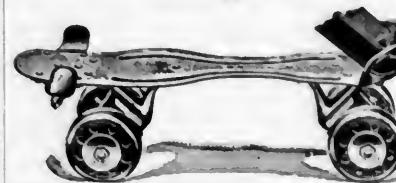

The Coliseum, Buffalo, was a busy place last week for professional skaters. The splendid floor of Manager Brown's rink was pretty well crowded every morning with professionals practicing new stunts. Nellie Donegan, the Dunedin Twins, Jimmie Donegan were enjoying the splendid surface daily.

Joe Rogers, the 290-lb. champion roller skater, is picking up some little money throughout the country making half-mile match races. Any two hundred pound champion can win some of Joe's money if they can beat him over this distance.

Mt. Clemens, Mich., is roller skating. I saw during my few days' stay there, last week, over two hundred people skating on the smooth sidewalks. Even women going to work of mornings used their roller skates instead of the street cars.

Nellie McNeice, a little Philadelphia juvenile, possesses splendid foundation for a real good skater, according to Mr. James E. Donegan, who saw her skate some weeks ago, and adds that the little Miss skates mighty prettily now.

Answer Groveton, Texas.

The Taylor Sisters are playing a return engagement over the Wm. Morris Circuit and meeting with splendid success. Both are show women and have that stage presence which is fully 75 per cent. of the battle in stage skating.

Nellie Donegan has discarded the human masked top. A couple of skaters in the moving picture houses have an easier way of doing it. While one is holding the mandolin and spinning the other plays the tune from the side.

The Lawlor Children don't seem to get out of the South some how. Their offering has been such a good drawing card and hit, that the Ellroys in the North, that the managers keep playing them return after return.

From a letter received this week from London I believe that a number of the skaters are homeward bound. Prof. Simmons has already arrived and is again busy here in the States dilling engagements.

Miss Jessie Darling played a number of private skating clubs in Brooklyn last week and found time to make a call on the Duncans who were playing at the Orpheum.

All the vaudeville artists are learning to skate over on the other sides so says our correspondent, and that the rinks are hurting the music halls greatly.

Mr. Al. Flath has taken the management of the Hippodrome Rink, Milwaukee, for the balance of the season.

DETROIT RACES.

One of the largest and most successful roller skating meets ever held in Michigan took place at the Wayne Casino Rink, Detroit, March 25-27. The contest was for the ladies championship and a purse of $100. Miss Gertrude Forman, of Detroit, won the first event of the series, Thursday evening, defeating a field of five starters. Her time for the mile was 3:49.

Friday evening Miss Ethel Welsh, also of Detroit, won the second of the series by over one-third of a lap, and broke the woman's one-mile record for Michigan. Her time was 3:39, which was four seconds better than the previous record, made by Miss King, at Grand Rapids, last winter. The race was an exciting one, several of the participants crowding the winner up to the finish.

Saturday afternoon, with six other competitors, Miss Tillie Dieball, of Toledo, won the mile heat. This race was the most interesting of the lot, as the girls were so evenly matched that it was not until the last lap that Miss Dieball gained any advantage, and then won only by two feet. Manager Shea had it so arranged that the winner of each previous contest was to skate the final which was two miles, for the State championship, and the purse. One of the largest crowds in the history of the Wayne Rink saw the final event on Saturday, in which Miss Welch was the winner. For the first fifteen laps it was a see-saw affair. Then Miss Welch started to show to advantage and at the finish she was a half lap to the good. Her time for the two miles was 7:49.

Manager Shea will have these two ladies under contract; any manager wanting a good attraction and desires their services can write Manager Peter Shea, of the Wayne Casino Rink, Detroit, Mich.

PAVILION RINK, WAUSAU, WIS.

One of the oldest and prettiest rinks in America is in Wausau, Wis., according to Howard Fielding, of Fielding and Carlos. It is called the Park Pavilion Rink and is owned and operated by the Wausau Street R. R. Co., and managed by Mr. Roberts. Everything in this rink is decorated in wood gathered in the forests of Wisconsin and it is like skating through a forest of trees, says Mr. Fielding.

The rink is in strictly first-class order, and only the society of Wausau visit it. The rink is situated about five miles from the city, and patrons in buying car tickets are presented with skates and admission tickets for the rink. Mr. Fielding says that performers playing this beautiful rink will enjoy one of the best engagements they ever had, as all the people connected with the rink, from the proprietors to the skate boys, do their best to please.

FIELDING RESIGNS.

H. E. Fielding resigned his position as manager of the Hippodrome Rink in Milwaukee to fill his vaudeville engagements, which will carry Fielding and Carlos almost through the summer.

EXCITING RACES AT METROPOLITAN RINK.

More money changed hands last night at the Metropolitan Roller Rink, Broadway and Fifty-second street, as the result of Frank Goldie's victory over the Metropolitan Skating Team, composed of John Morelli, Joseph Carroll, and W. Dorsey, than has ever been bet on a roller skating race in New York since the revival of the sport. Goldie's victory was assured after the first relay, when he had gained an advantage of over thirty yards on Morelli, the first man opposed against him. On the second relay, against Carroll, Goldie placed himself a few more yards to the good. Dorsey tried his best to cut down this disadvantage, and was making good when he unfortunately slipped, and before he could recover his stride Goldie was within a few yards of him. At the finish, Goldie was three-quarters of a lap to the good. The time, 9:47 2.5, is a new track record for the distance. The first mile was covered in 3:15 and the second in 3:17.

Goldie's backer was Walter Adams, son of "Policy King" Al. Adams, who backed his protege to the sum of $1,000, all of which was covered by John Magner, the proprietor of the rink. In addition to this there were bets made by all of the other men connected with the rink, aggregating several thousand dollars more. Sorow now holds the rink.

EL REY SISTERS SCORE HIT.

The dainty and clever little skatorial artists, the El Rey Sisters, made the biggest kind of a success at the Parkdale Roller Rink, Toronto, Ont., week of March 26. During that week they put on a new act with gorgeous costumes, drawing large crowds to the Parkdale during their engagement.

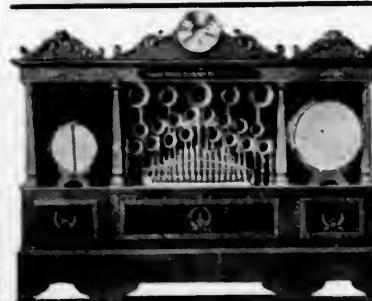

FITZGERALD'S WESTERN ME. LANGE.

CHICAGO'S CRACK SKATERS WIN AT MILWAUKEE.

Going to Milwaukee Saturday night fresh from a great victory in the one-hour team race held at Sans Souci Rink Friday evening, March 19, Nip Melzer, Stuart Garner, Carl Carlson, and Hugh Gillice all from the Sans Souci Rink, the cleverest bunch of skaters in the West, repeated their victory of the night before. The race was a 15-mile inter-city team race and was run at the Riverview Palace Rink. The people who witnessed this race, declared after the event was over, that it was a great contest, free of all fouls and bad features that have marked some of the races held in Milwaukee of late. The following teams started in the long grind: Nip Melzer-Stuart Garner, Carl Carlson-Hugh Gillice, of Sans Souci Rink, Emil Eickstedt-John Radtke, of the Riverview Rink, Milwaukee; Al. O'Connell-Arthur Miller, also of Milwaukee; Frank Hennessey-Chas. Schmidt, of Riverview Rink, Chicago. The features throughout the race was the way the Chicago boys from the Sans Souci Rink conducted themselves in changing partners, and the fairness in which they treated the Milwaukee skaters.

The race could not have been cleaner, and it was a hard proposition to determine who should be given the most credit among the Chicago skaters for their great work. Melzer, as usual, was there for his share, and much credit must be given to Carl Carlson, who worked like a Trojan for his mate Gillice; this team is one of the best mated teams in the West, and are known as the team with the $10,000 shape. And we must not forget the pride of Milwaukee, their own little Eickstedt and his mate, John Radtke, who put up a game fight against the powerful teams from Chicago. The race was won by Melzer and Garner by a few yards over Carlson and Gillice, who were second, and third place went to Eickstedt and Radtke; the time for the first five miles was 16:25. The ten miles were registered at 33:30 and the fifteen miles were skated in 50:15. The race proved such a success that Manager Painter will book another inter-city race very shortly.

Edison Kinetoscopes

TRANSFORMER

SIMPLE. COMPACT. EFFICIENT.

THIS TRANSFORMER, KNOWN AS "THE G. E. ECONOMY ARC," must, of necessity, be an invaluable adjunct to any alternating current moving picture installation. THE ADVANTAGES OF A TRANSFORMER FOR THIS WORK WILL BE APPRECIATED by both the theatre management and the operator. BY THE MANAGEMENT, in the reduction of light bills and in the better production of the pictures, due to the steady light obtained, AND BY THE OPERATOR, in the simplicity of the device, the absence of danger from shocks, and the added comfort in the lamp house due to the low heating.

THE SAVING IN POWER INSURED BY THE USE OF A TRANSFORMER INSTEAD OF A RHEOSTAT VARIES FROM 65 to 90%, depending upon the voltage from the supply mains. Many lighting companies require the use of 220 volts for moving picture work in order to avoid heavily loading one side of a three-wire system. This increases the loss considerably in circuits using a resistance or reactive device for reducing the voltage.

Get In Right!

GET THIS BAKER AND YOU'LL GET THE BUSINESS.

This is the best baker made. Turns out those crispy, tasty cones that bring the public back to you. Makes $10 to $30 a day for any live man. Some clear $100 a day with three Standard Bakers working. All you need is elbow room and a

STANDARD CONE BAKER

ONE OUTFIT, $ 8.50 THREE OUTFITS, $19.50
TWO OUTFITS, 14.50 FOUR OUTFITS, 25.00

Do you know any other business where an investment of $8.50, more than pays for itself every day in clear profits? But don't forget! You can't make the BIG MONEY unless you get the RIGHT BAKER, because the public won't buy poor cones. Read the following exclusive points about the ONE RIGHT BAKER.

The Standard Cone Baker is the only Baker with separable hinge (patented), easy to clean; the only Baker with accurately ground faces, true to 1/500th of an inch; the only Baker with buffed and polished plates as smooth as a mirror; the only Baker with plates sufficiently heavy to diffuse heat and not warp; the only Baker that will save its price in fuel and discomfort in one season; the only Baker that does not require an expensive stove to operate it; the only Baker with cold rolled steel handles that will not break; the only Baker with 3 simple parts; the only Baker with a steel tipped cone roller; and the only Baker made worth double its price of $8.50 each.

OUR GUARANTEE: Your money back, if after 30 days' test, this is not proven to be the best Cone Baker—the one that produces the BEST CONES.

We have published a book on the Ice Cream Cone Business that is worth $5.00 to you. A postal will bring it by next mail—FREE.

P. S.—WE HAVE A FEW LAST SEASON'S STANDARD BAKERS, STRICTLY O. K. ONLY DUSTY FROM CARRYING IN STOCK A FEW MONTHS. WHILE THEY LAST, WE WILL SELL THEM AT $5.00 EACH, CASH WITH ORDER, F. O. B. HERE. ORDER QUICK, IF YOU WANT A REAL BARGAIN.

THE BILLBOARD MAIL FORWARDING SERVICE

Persons desiring to avail themselves of The Billboard's facilities for forwarding mail matter to members of the amusement profession, are requested to bear in mind that the headquarters for this gratituons distribution of mail are at the CINCINNATI offices, where all such matter should be addressed, unless it is known that it will be more convenient for addressees to receive it through the New York or Chicago bureaus.

In Cincinnati a corps of experienced clerks is employed for the sole purpose of recording the whereabouts of transients and handling the mail addressed to them in care of The Billboard.

The postoffice adjunct of the New York and Chicago bureaus of The Billboard is maintained only for the accommodation of those who can procure quicker service by having mail sent to the branch offices where they can call for it in person or from which it may be remailed to them through express companies from the publication offices at Cincinnati. No attempt is made to handle mail addressed to the branch offices without specific instructions, while thousands of pieces of mail matter pass through the Cincinnati offices every week and are remailed to addresses from information at hand, without the delay of holding and advertising these names in this list.

In addressing mail to individuals in care of The Billboard, kindly indicate what company (if any) each is identified with or in what line of the business he is engaged.

All mail advertised in this list is being held at the Cincinnati offices unless otherwise indicated by the characters * (New York)  (Chicago).

NOTICE

Parcels for the following are now being held at The Billboard's publication office. They will be forwarded on application. The figures indicate the amount of postage necessary.

Finally, after much tactful endeavor, he succeeds in forcing his strenuous visitor outside the door. Returning the poet finds his poem gradually disappearing through the transom.

A paper hanger next door, short of material, is using it to finish out a border. Grasping a pistol, the frenzied poet forces an entrance and finds his poem decorating the wall. The workman flees in alarm—the poet hastens to recover his own—his efforts are of little avail. As bit by bit is torn from the wall it sticks to his person. Despondent, he sinks into a chair.

During his absence the chore boy uses part of the poem to kindle the fire in the poet's room.

Recovering from his stupor, the poet returns and finds his masterpiece missing. To him the charred bits on the grate tell the unhappy story. He succumbs to despair—the pistol suggests suicide—prepared for the end he sits on the poem-filled tick. The unusual softness temporarily diverts his mind. The strain has been too much—Nature claims her own. Sinking into its depths, the poet sleeps.

PATHE FRERES

VERCINGETORIX — GAUL'S HERO.—The subject of this beautifully colored picture is the great Gaulish chieftain, Vercingetorix, of the tribe of Arverni. He was a powerful adversary of Caesar and was continually perpetrating hostilities against the mighty monarch.

In the first view Gaul's hero is seen among his own people, who honor and respect him for his valiant deeds. Many times has he led them in battle against the Romans, and each time has he come out victorious. Now, however, after a long siege, we see the brave Gaul shut up in Alesia, where Caesar's army, after a prolonged battle, eventually capture the powerful fortress and take Vercingetorix a prisoner.

The latter is led before his hated enemy, Caesar, where he surrenders, and instead of being extended the usual courtesy that is due to the vanquished, Caesar has his prisoner bound in chains and keeps him a captive in the camp, where Vercingetorix is compelled to witness many ghastly deeds perpetrated against his own people. In one scene he is led into the great arena, where he is forced to witness Caesar enter in triumph and in full power, while he is thrown to the ground like an animal and made to bear the jeers of the vast multitude.

Finally, when Caesar feels that he has tortured his prisoner quite enough, and, wishing to be rid of him, he sends two powerful men to his cell, where Vercingetorix is confined, and, in the presence of his wife, who is fighting for his liberty, the great chieftain is strangled to death.

THE SCHOOLBOY'S REVENGE.—Two little boys engage in a fist fight in the school yard, and right in the heat of the fracas the old schoolmaster appears on the scene and puts a stop to the altercation, giving the victorious youngster a black mark on his report card as a punishment for his unbecoming conduct. When school hours are over and the little fellow is leaving for home, he meets his mother, who is waiting for him; then along comes the teacher, who gives a very bad report of the little fighter's deportment. Upon hearing the news, the mother becomes enraged and gives the youngster a thrashing, after which she hurries him home to his father, who also severely punishes the boy. Then, taking him to his grandparents, they, too, have their opportunity to give vent to their injured pride, and each one gets in a few slaps at the unfortunate youngster. The neighbors then hold a council at the door and talk over the disgraceful conduct of the miscreant, and when he comes along with his mother, every one present pounces upon him and gives him another beating.

It is getting a little too strenuous for the boy, so he resolves to have revenge on his enemies. Finding a pot of glue in his father's shop, he goes around to the homes of all those who interfered in his affairs, and, after smearing their chairs with the glue, he gives an alarm, and all start out in pursuit with the chairs sticking to them. They rush down the street, causing a terrible furor in the town, but the little rascal gives them the slip and hides, while he enjoys seeing each one trying to extricate himself from the thorns of the sticky stuff.

Pathe Freres also offer the films, The Kiss of Judas, Contemptible Theft, Moscow Clad in Snow, Theodore Yearns to be a Tough, Ponto Romps Away With the Milk Cart, and Clarence and His Cigarette.

LUBIN.

THE MASTER OF BLACKROCK.—An Italian heiress is courted by a nobleman named Arthur. At the ball given in his honor a Count is introduced who makes such a deep impression upon Amalia, that she consents to be his wife. It apparently was love at first sight.

Arthur discovered that Amalia's intended is a villain. He warns her in a last interview and begs her not to marry that man as surely will be unhappy.

Amalia has been married. Her husband is a charming lover and a good provider. While receiving two strangers the Count accidentally drops a note which was handed to him by one of the visitors.

Amalia picks up the note while the Count leaves the room with the strangers and is horrified to read:

The English Lord and his wife accompanied by a few friends, will pass "The Black Rock" at about midnight. It will be a rich booty. Be there, well armed and masked as usual.

B. F. xx

Hearing the steps of her husband she drops the note and busies herself with book. The Count enters looking for the note. He drops his handkerchief and picks up the note.

It is midnight. The Count and his accomplices are waiting for the party to come. They hold up the carriage and relieve the travelers of all their valuables. Just then Amalia, dressed in the garb of an Italian country girl, appears on the scene, tears the mask from the Count's face and denounces him as a scoundrel. He coolly tells one of his accomplices to bring Amalia away to a safe place.

Amalia is brought to a lonely room in an old building, where her husband locks her up. He throws the key out of the window but not before he assured himself that neither water nor bread is in the room, just a broken empty pitcher. Satisfied that his secret will be preserved he leaves the house.

Amalia is desperate. There is no chance for escape. The windows are barred with heavy iron. Suddenly she sees a last hope. She breaks the pitcher and with a piece of it she breaks the window. From a book she tears a page, and with the blood drawn from her wrist she writes a note as follows:

"Whoever may be the finder of this, take it at once to Mr. Arthur Field, at Pine Hall, Cambridge. Any reward you may demand, will be given."

AMALIA."

She wraps the note around a piece of the broken pitcher and throws it out of the window. It accidentally hits a passing countryman who reads the note and quickly runs off.

The countryman quickly runs to the address designated on the note and hands it to Amalia's rejected suitor.

He at once leaves with the countryman for the tower. After many vain searches they find the room and rescue Amalia.

The Count gives a party at his home. Suddenly Arthur enters with a lady in black heavily veiled. He accuses the Count of being a highway robber and having tried to starve his wife to death. When the Count denies this the Countess throws back the veil. For a minute the Count is stupefied. Then he tries to leave the room. Two gendarmes, however, stationed at the door, take hold of him and lead him away.

Other Lubin offerings are Football Tom and the Escaped Melody.

SELIG.

BROTHER AGAINST BROTHER.—The Selig Polyscope Co. have produced a worthy successor to the film, Stirring Days in Old Virginia, which had such a sensational reception some time ago, in Brother Against Brother. The latter film depicts the awful tragedy of members of one family being arrayed in arms against each other, and is full of pathos.

GREAT NORTHERN.

WILHELM TELL.—Every child knows the story of William Tell. We have all pitied the poor subdued Switzerland and admired the courageous William Tell, who saved his native country from the oppressor's yoke.

The action in this film is as follows: Some Swiss peasants assemble in Wilhelm Tell's cottage discussing Gessler, the Austrian Governor, who is a terror to the country. An old man is led to the cottage, he is blind, Gessler has ordered his eyes to be burned out. The frightful sight of the poor old man makes the peasants wild with rage, and they swear to stand firmly against the tyrant.

In the next picture Wilhelm Tell refuses to salute a hat, which Gessler has ordered to be hung upon a pole, and in order to punish him Gessler orders him to shoot an apple from his son's head.

Gessler sees that Tell had taken out another arrow and asks him what he intended to do with it. "This arrow was meant for you, Sir," says the proud Swiss. "In case I had missed my aim and shot my son, Gessler gets enraged and orders Tell to be taken prisoner.

As Tell is taken across the Vierwaldstattersee his bands are loosened and he is ordered to assist the powerless lansquenets at the oars. As he is close to the shore he jumps into the water and escapes.

Wife and children already believe Tell to be dead. He, all at once, enters the door, but the joyful meeting is only short, and he quickly snatches his arrow and hurries away.

Out in the forest, Tell lies in wait behind a tree and from there he shoots his and all Switzerland's bitterest enemy, Gessler, as he comes riding through the defile.

The report of Tell's deed spreads like wildfire, and, as soon as he has come home and is still embracing his dear ones, an enthusiastic crowd gather in the cottage, hailing him as the deliverer of Switzerland.

VITAGRAPH.

THE LIFE DRAMA OF NAPOLEON BONAPARTE AND EMPRESS JOSEPHINE, OF FRANCE.—Scene 1—The Prophecy. Josephine, while walking in the gardens on the island of Martinique, is told that "she will be more than Queen and yet outlive her dignity." Scene 2—Napoleon Meets Josephine at Madam Tallien's Salon and Falls in Love with Her. Josephine, with other ladies, is seated about as Napoleon enters and is introduced. It is a case of love at first sight. As Napoleon makes ardent love to Josephine, the others thoughtfully withdraw. Scene 3—Napoleon's Departure to Take Command of the Army of Italy. Three Days after His Marriage to Josephine, Napoleon bids good-bye to Josephine, mounts his horse and rides away, his staff and the his troops following. Scene 4—Napoleon Having Been Crowned Emperor of France, Longa for a Son to Perpetuate His Name and Contemplates Divorce from Josephine. Napoleon enters the throne room and walks restlessly up and down and at last calls his valet, whom he directs to summon Josephine. She enters with her attendants. Napoleon dismisses the ladies, tells Josephine that he must have a son. She, having expected this, is resigned and turns away in a swoon. Scene 5—The Public Proclamation of Divorce Between Napoleon and Josephine in the Grand Salon of the Tuilleries. The members of Napoleon's family and the Imperial Council of State are assembled as Josephine enters, signs the paper and leaves the room.

Scene 6—The Parting of Napoleon and Josephine after the Divorce. In his bed chamber Napoleon is discovered in great grief, his valet endeavoring to calm him. The door opens and Josephine enters. After a pathetic farewell, she staggers from the room. Scene 7—Josephine at Malmison after the Divorce. Memories of Napoleon, Josephine, seated on a chair, sees a vision of Napoleon. She crosses to the mantle, caresses the bust, sits down and plays the harp. As the vision vanishes, she stretches out her arm in despair and falls to the ground.

NAPOLEON, THE MAN OF DESTINY.—The picture opens with Napoleon at Malmison after the battle of Waterloo. He visits the room where Josephine died, enters slowly, walks sadly around, looks at her portrait, then sits in a chair and falls asleep. In successive visions he sees: Marengo—the Ananians' charge, Napoleon, with his generals, passes. The "wall of granite" is impregnable. Napoleon Emperor—The Coronation Scene. Court assembled at Notre Dame. The Pope blesses Napoleon. He places the crown on his own head, then crowns Josephine. Austerlitz—Fighting Napoleon and his staff in the center. The Austrian general approaching and surrendering their swords in token of defeat.

Jena—Napoleon mounted on his famous white charger in the thick of battle. Friedland—the charge of the cuirassiers. Napoleon watching the battle through a telescope. Marriage with Marie Louise of Austria—Ceremony being performed by an archbishop in the Grand Gallery of the Louvre. Napoleon's mother, brothers and relatives in attendance. Birth of King of Rome—The court assembled in an ante-chamber as Napoleon enters carrying the infant. Education of the King of Rome—Napoleon's son playing with his toys, the cardinals, bishops, generals and soldiers watching.

Moscow—The retreat with the dead and wounded in the blinding snow. The City of Moscow burning in the distance. Austerlitz—Farewell to the Old Guard. Napoleon embraces the general and kisses the flag as the soldiers weep. Waterloo—The dying soldiers cheering their leader, Napoleon, on his horse, seeing defeat. Marshal Soult leads the general's horse away. Saint Helena—The exiled Emperor standing on a rock, meditating, looking sadly out to sea.

MOVING PICTURE NOTES.

The Grand Theatre, Kenosha, Wis., is now under the sole management of John McConnell, he having purchased the interest of Wm. McDermott. This house, although having had a fire on the third night of its existence, has been very successful since being remodeled. Mr. McConnell was formerly with Winniger Bros.' Own Company and is a Kenosha boy.

The Majestic Theatre, Portsmouth, O., was reopened March 25, under the management of the Messrs. Simeral. A program of vaudeville and moving pictures is pleasing large audiences.

The International Projecting and Producing Company, of Chicago, Ill., gave an exhibition of films at the New Princess Theatre, Little Rock, Ark., April 1.

INDEPENDENT FILMS FINEST IN THE WORLD.

THE CHICAGO FILM EXCHANGE IS NOW GIVING A SERVICE UNEXCELLED IN THE HISTORY OF MOVING PICTURES. The amazing improvement in moving picture shows during the last three months is due to the work of the independents. If you have not noticed this marked improvement, it is because you have not been in an independent theatre. If you want to see the finest film in the world, go there. In the independent theatres you are sure to see the result of the great improvements during the last few months. No expense has been spared to give an infinite variety. Every nook and corner of the world is searched for new subjects for films. Every film is full of warm, living human interest. The campaign of giving positively the best service in the world is being pursued with characteristic energy by the independents.

This speaks for itself. It verifies all we have claimed, that is—

OUR NEW INDEPENDENT FILMS ARE THE BEST TO BE SEEN ANYWHERE

And exhibitors showing them are getting the business. They are just what the public demand. We are releasing 28 reels of these films every week, and if you want an exclusive Independent Film Service—a service that others in your locality don't get, communicate with us immediately. Write for the synopsis of our new Independent Films anyway and know more about them.

Operators' Department

PROJECTING OPERATORS PROTECTIVE ASSOCIATION OF SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.

Classification of Houses and Wage Schedule.

Following is the classification of houses and wage rates adopted by the projecting operators' association of San Francisco, auxiliary to local No. 16, International Alliance Theatrical Stage Employees:

A THEATRES

Recognized vaudeville or other theatres, using scenery, stage lights and one or more stage hands.

Salary, $30 per week; $5 per day or part of day for less than week.

Substitute, pro rata of salary.

Theatre Department operator only to be employed.

All operators furnishing spot lights or other effects from the front to extra sets not in regular performance must receive a light operator's salary for same.

B THEATRES

Presenting occasionally professional or amateur acts using stage lights, scenery, and one or more stage hands, or presenting acts in front of a picture screen without stage lights, scenery or stage hands, or presenting songs by the human voice; any of above in connection with moving pictures.

Salary, $30 per week.

Relief man at rate of 75 cents per hour.

Operator to work not over sixty-three hours per week or over six hours at any one time without at least one hour relief.

A NICKELODEONS

Presenting moving pictures only or moving pictures in conjunction with songs or talk rendered by phonograph and working continuously or afternoons and evenings, every day in the week.

Salary, $20 per week.

Substitute pro rata for half day or over.

Relief man at rate of 75 cents per hour.

Operator to work not over sixty-three hours per week, or not over six hours at any one time without relief of at least one hour.

Salary, $25 per week.

Substitute pro rata.

Not over thirty-six hours per week.

Over this time, 75 cents per hour overtime.

Classification other than above must be referred to the Association at a regular meeting, or to the Executive Board, if immediate action is necessary.

Substitutes and relief men must be members of this association.

Where two machines are used, and it is necessary to employ two men steadily, the assistant operator must be either a full member or an apprentice of this Association.

Apprentices must be eighteen years or over in age.

"Spelling" or talking on pictures must be confined to simple announcements which will not distract operator's attention from his machine.

Operator being discharged must receive one week's notice, except for reasons above, unless by mutual consent.

Operator leaving place of employment must give one week's notice unless by mutual consent.

Operators must not furnish machines or apparatus of any kind, either free or for payment, except by written consent of the Executive Board, action being required on each individual case.

Operators are held responsible for the care and maintenance of all machines entrusted to them, and that they are in good running order and the show properly presented, except where manager refuses to replace broken, damaged or worn out apparatus or parts.

Operators must properly care for all films in their charge, see that they are kept free from scratches and oil, properly spliced and re-wound; must replace any bad splices found, and clean off any oil found in film, regardless of whom received, and must call attention of manager to any damaged film when received, and if known to have been received from an Association operator, must report same to the Executive Board.

THE CHEMICAL INDUSTRY AND THE MOVING PICTURE BUSINESS.

Since the universal introduction of moving picture machines, calcium light outfit, advertising light plants and other devices requiring the use of lime in a calcium gas light jet, the chemical manufacturing and dealing concerns have done considerable business in limes. The drug-stores have been handling limes for some time. The limes are usually classed with the ether, and the chemicals employed in the making of the calcium gas. A great many calcium light gas companies have sprung into existence of late, not only due to the demands for the gases for moving picture machines, but for spot lights for theatrical effects, advertising contrivances which use the lime light, and for exterior night and indoor work. The advertising factor is an important one in the business. There is a vast amount of lantern slide and moving picture machine advertising being done in these days. In fact, one finds establishments in all good-sized towns that carry on advertising by throwing the advertising matter upon screens in public places, with moving pictures or illustrated song slides in between

The advertising people are always in need of limes and the other chemicals and compounds used in creating the light. The limes do not last long as is known. No matter how carefully the limes may be packed, when the exhibitor undertakes to remove one from the can, a little lime is admitted and in time they become slackened.

Often when the exhibitor is about to give a show or present advertising material, he finds that his last lime is turned back into white ashes. In desperation he tries the drug-stores. Often he is disappointed, then again he gets a can of limes at the first druggists. There are druggists and chemical dealers who have installed apartments in their establishment with all of the necessary boxes and jars for containing the supplies for the moving picture men.

These supplies are of course limited to the chemists, limes, illuminating oils, carbons, and kindred stuffs. Some of the druggists are doing a thriving business by acting as commission agents for the manufacturers of chemicals for moving picture machine men. I found some stores in which parts and supplies for the machines were carried as well as some films.

The accompanying illustrations show how the lime is used. In figure one, the lime is presented in correct position, in the calcium jet burner. The burner is arranged to receive the two kinds of gas and mix them before delivery to the tip. The gases are hydrogen and oxygen. The former is usually made in a saturator by the vaporization of the ether, thereby saving the use of a cylinder containing house gas. The vapor from the ether burns as well as the hydrogen gas obtained from the illuminating gas-making plant. The oxygen is purchased in cylinders ready-made, or is made in portable gas-making outfits. The gases are combined therefore in the burner and they burn together on the lime. There is quite a knack in effecting this end.

opportunity at the lime surface and the lime will be blamed by the unknowing. The lime should be adjusted straight up and down in the clips. English stands for limes are made with a bore through the lime and this bore fits over a stem on the stand, thereby making the lime perfectly perpendicular.

Then some of the lime users try to get a light of good and steady proportions with a lime fallen off to the order exhibited in figure three. Sometimes a lime is broken in the box in which it is packed and the picture machine man tries to save it and use it. The broken limes should go to the waste pile. There are split limes and partly rounded limes due to the action of the atmosphere on the same. Unless the lime is intact and solid, you may as well not use it. Bad limes are numerous.

Then there are bored limes, as in figure four. This is not the kind of middle shaft boring referred to in the English limes. This kind of boring is due to the action of the flame of the jet upon one point of the lime too long. If the lime is turned every five minutes, the jet seldom gets a chance to bore into the body of the lime. But if you fail to turn the lime, and let the intense heat strike it in one place for ten minutes at a time, when you remove it you will find that it is literally bored.

This is shown in figure four. The excavations have a tendency to make the flame shoot backwards the condensers and the flame upon striking these lenses may crack them.

It does not pay to economize with limes. They can be purchased for a dollar a box, of a dozen, ordinary kind, and one lime per night is not expensive.

The packing of the limes is usually done as shown in figure five. The cans are made with a screw top and a double screw top can be recommended. There is ample slackened lime used for packing, to completely cover the limes in the can. In the event a hole gets in the can, and air is admitted, the limes will slacken in a few hours. In order to afford a double protection, some of the chemical works produce and handle limes furnished with glass cases, as in figure six. This fully protects the lime from the air. In order to use the lime, the glass is broken and the lime is found to be perfectly dry and hard and in good order for service.

The English limes above referred to, with the center bored through, so as to fit over a pin on the supporting stand, is shown in a sectional view of figure seven.

ST. LOUIS, MO.

Jake Shotter is visiting in St. Louis this week. He states that he will add a dozen more theatres to his string and that William Faversham will appear under his management next season.

The advance car of Barnum & Bailey is expected to reach St. Louis next week, as they are to appear here May 3.

Archie M. Cox, late of Seattle and California, is back in St. Louis, fully rested in health, and will possibly become identified with a local summer garden.

Spearman Lewis gave his lecture on Panama to big houses at Belleville, Hannibal and Louisiana, this week, and the press has pronounced him worthy. His views and stories are strong and educational.

The St. Louis Symphony Orchestra closed its 1908-09 season last Sunday. W. D. Clayton states that it was the most successful, financially, of any; in fact, there is no deficit to meet this year. Among the soloists of note engaged during the season, the most notable was Paderewski, who drew an audience of 15,000 in the New Coliseum, March 10. The society will prepare for greater triumphs next fall.

Forest Park Highlands, so Manager Jno. D. Tippett says, will open April 23, as all improvements will then be complete.

Guy E. Golterman is preparing to convert his Coliseum into a palm garden of great magnitude, and will conduct it during the summer months, playing all the big bands. Ellery's Band is the first to come, about June 1.

Jake Rosenthal was a visitor this week, and took in Otho Baran and A Broken Idol, from the box, at the Century. He reports that Kathryn Osterman has had a good season.

Rice Brothers' Combined Railroad Shows have announced their opening in St. Louis, to take place April 18. Harry Moore will start billing it next week. The stock and talent engaged should make good in every way, especially at the ticket wagon.

Joe Streeter, the veteran doorkeeper of the Olympic Theatre, will have his benefit the last week of April, and the occasion will mark his 20th year of continuous service at the Olympic Theatre.

J. H. Boyer has just let contracts for a line of special paper to bill his show, Ten Nights in a Bar-room. He states that it has made him so much money that he will continue with this piece as long as he remains in the business. He will also start his Uncle Tom Show in May and is equipping a new car for that company.

The Lambardi Grand Opera Company opened to good business at the Odion in Lucia, and the outlook is good, although they close their engagement here with Holy Week, which must necessarily hurt at the box-office. Company excellent.

WILL J. FARLEY.

MANCHESTER, ENGLAND.

As I wrote you last week, Dick Golden was looking for dates at one of the vaudeville places and has landed at the Palace, in London, where Mand Allen, Marie Dresser and many of the biggest on the stage have started their English careers of success. Dick will produce a sketch called A Case of Divorce and as it is well known on your side, it needs no words here, but for Golden he has the good wishes of everybody.

Abe Erlanger has created a new record and has astounded all the wise ones over here. His trip is purely a business one and he is not wasting any time, but every minute of the waking hours of the day he is working. He is not taking any rest or enjoyment except where it is an absolute adjunct to the business in hand.

He was in London just five days and accomplished more in that short time than any man that ever visited that center on theatrical business ever did in twenty-five days. He is now bustling through Paris, Vienna, Berlin, Budapeapest, Brussels and other continental capitals in the same quick way—but don't think that anything escape Erlanger, for it don't. He simply eats up business and swallows new schemes at one gulp. Some of the people he did business with in London are said to be still rubbing their eyes and wondering if they dreamed it all or if the Syndicate Napoleon had really been on this side.

The Three Barrows, a new play, was given a first hearing at the Manchester Gailey, recently. The play seems written to show all the weakness of character of the persons in the cast. There was nothing convincing or gripping about the play and the few good points were only like lightning flashes, gone before they could be defined.

Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch, with a new California actress as Mrs. Wiggs, is this week's hit at the Princess. Ethel Irving is the lady's name and the press are busily engaged in telling the public that she is not related by affinity or consanguinity to the family of the late Henry Irving who used to play legitimate dramas at very high prices.

Antony and Cleopatra at the Queens, comes to a close on Saturday after 105 performances. W. W. Kelly's Royal Divorce comes to this house for the week of May 3, and this will be the 56th week of this drama in Manchester—a record for any play except Shakespeare.

Calvin Brown is off on a motorizing trip to the extreme south, by orders of his doctors. They insisted that he would recover better and quicker if further away from the White City, where his business proved so fascinating that he could not leave it alone. He will return about the first of April in excellent shape for the summer campaign.

HARRY BULGER'S VAUDEVILLE NUMBER.

In Harry Bulger's presentation of scenes from Algeria in vaudeville, he will be assisted by Jeanette Bagard, who will do a dancing number, in addition to introducing several songs during the action of the skit. Mr. Bulger's first vaudeville appearance of his present engagement will be at the Columbia Theatre, Cincinnati, week of April 4.

JOBYNA HOWLAND ENGAGED.

Richard Carle will have Miss Jobyna Howland as his leading support in his new production of A Boy and a Girl, now playing in Chicago. Miss Howland formerly held an important role in Nearly a Hero.

BEWARE OF WILDCAT FILMS

I don't care a picayune if someone offers to rent films to you for as little as one cent a day! It's dear at any price, because it is bound to be rotten like the section shown in the picture on the right. For the love of Mike, look at that picture. It is an actual photograph of a film sent out by one of the wildcat exchanges. It couldn't be worse if I had scratched and cut it before having the picture made. But I didn't do a thing to it except have it photographed.

By way of contrast look at the picture on the left. It shows the classy stuff I am sending out, providing, of course, The Billboard prints it well.

Now can any thinking man see any sense in using wildcat stuff, no matter if it is given to him free? Can't you see that it will kill off your business quicker than anything on earth?

Stick to Quality, old boy—stick! stick! stick! Don't listen to the man who offers you something for nothing. He's a trickster, and you know it deep down in your heart!

NOTICE TO OPERA HOUSE AND VAUDEVILLE THEATRE MEN

Don't close your theatre this summer. Write at once for my special summer proposition and get in on the ground floor of one blamed good thing. If you can't write, telegraph.

ROLLER RACE ENDS IN SMALL RIOT.

A six-day roller skating race which ended Wednesday night in which two arrests were made by the police, caused quite a bit of excitement. Through a misunderstanding the contestants failed to heed the signal of the end of the race and sped on. While endeavoring to make the sharp turn Scholtz, of Salt Lake City, swerved and barely saved himself from a fall by grabbing Bradford, of Butte. Bradford shook Scholtz from him, sending him sprawling on the floor. At this Scholtz's partner, Hardy, jumped into the mix-up and sent Bradford to the floor. The crowd surged onto the course and a fight began. The race ended with the Salt Lake and Butte teams on even terms.

Curtis Allen, of the Reckless Rocklaw team, who appeared at the Coliseum Rink at Elgin, Ill., Saturday night, March 20, won a half-mile race from the professional skater, Carl Armstrong, of the Coliseum Rink. The time was 1:47 2-5.

KANSAS CITY, MO., TO HOLD PROFESSIONAL ROLLER SKATING MEET.

S. Waterman, manager of the Coliseum Rink at Kansas City, Mo., has been issued a sanction by the W. S. A. to hold a three weeks' meet for professional roller skaters at his rink from March 27 to April 17. The distances to be contested are one-mile, two-mile and three-miles for which good purses will be awarded. John Flannery, Youngstown, Ohio; Terrell and Rodney Peters, of St. Louis, Mo.; Leo Jones, St. Louis, Mo.; Clarence Hamilton, Boston, Mass.; "Midge" Sherman, of Kansas City, Mo.; and Wm. Blackburn, are some of the skaters who will be among the contestants. There will be preliminary heats, semi-finals and grand finals in each event to determine the winners. Manager Waterman has asked the Western Skating Association to appoint members from the Missouri division of the W. S. A. to take charge of the races so that everything will be legal in case any records are broken. The request has been granted and the appointments made and from all appearances it will be a great meet.

DAYTON, O., BOOMING.

Mr. T. C. Clemens, promoter, and connected with the Lakeside Park at Dayton, has started the ball-a-rolling, by organizing an Ohio branch of the Western Skating Association and starting the club with a dozen members who will elect their local officers and all join hands in booming roller skating in their locality.

The board of control of the Western Skating Association have ordered a second notice sent out to all members that are delinquent in their annual dues, thereby notifying them of the fact and allowing twenty days to make remittances of the same. If they default in payment of the dues within the specified time, said member shall be suspended for non-payment of dues. If the dues are not paid within thirty days from date of suspension, the delinquent member shall be expelled from the association and their allied bodies, and the Amateur Athletic Union as well. No resignation accepted unless applicant is in good standing.

Sanction was issued to Manager Al. Flath, of the Hippodrome, Milwaukee, for exhibition races to be held Thursday, March 25, and Flath now proposes to put on a few novices and see if he can't find a few more good speedy skaters among the novices, many a good skater was discovered among the novices.

Since the announcement lately that Chicago was sure of an artificial ice rink, skaters and hockey players are beginning to wake up and imagine that they are on earth once more. Mr. Tom Prior was a caller at the office of the honorary president, Mr. Blanchard, and said that everything was going along nicely and that our old-time favorite sport will surely be resumed next fall. Several of the old-timers who dropped behind in their dues on account of nothing doing here in the ice line, have come to life again and the prospects for next season are nothing but the best.

TYRELL WINS A GREAT RACE AT RIVERVIEW RINK, CHICAGO.

Fred Tyrell, State amateur champion, added another race to his long string of victories March 28, at Riverview Rink, in the two-mile roller handicap. The contest was a very hard affair for him. He was frequently blocked and carried in a pocket for two laps. The sympathies of the spectators were with Tyrell. With five laps to go, Tyrell came out from behind and crossed the tape a winner by ten yards, with Chas. Smith and A. Hengst fighting desperately for second place, which was taken by Hengst. The time was 5:35.

Dr. H. A. Whytock is aiming to work up in Salt Lake City, a club for the Western Skaters' Association, both for ice as well as rollers, and will devote special attention to figure skating. He is an enthusiastic devotee and a candidate for the championship of the world for figure skating.

Melzer and Garner won their ninth team race at the Coliseum Rink, Chicago, against Beaumont-Caswell, Neul Becker, Linsky-Gordon, Angella-Jordan; four very fast teams. Distance: 10 miles, 13 laps.

San Souce continues pulling big races, in which all Chicago racers usually participate.

JULIAN T. FITZGERALD.

RINK NOTES.

Business the past week at Albert Painter's Riverview Rink, Milwaukee, was phenomenal; in fact, the week proved the largest in the history of the rink in point of attendance. The average crowd every night of the week numbered 1,800 people. Albert Waltz was the special attraction during the week. The Riverview Rink will remain open all summer, featuring band concerts and high-class skating acts.

Prof. Albert Waltz has just closed an engagement at the Mauson, Wis., Rink, managed by James McNabb Armstrong, and owned by W. B. Ballantine. Prof. Waltz states that the rink is one of the most up-to-date in the State for a town the size of Mauson. The Mauson Band of sixteen pieces, furnishes the music. Special rink attractions are also engaged.

Mr. H. E. Duprey, former manager of the El Paso Roller Rink, El Paso, Tex., and of the Jackson Roller Rink, Jackson, Miss., is preparing to open a rink at Bowie, Texas.

Fielding and Carlos played their fifth return date at Appleton, Wis., on Sunday, April 4. This team has always proved a box-office attraction for Stedel Bros.

Fielding and Carlos played here week of March 29, and spent one of the most enjoyable weeks they ever had.

The rink at Merrill, Wis., is enjoying the best of patronage under the able management of Mr. Belanger.

TIM MURPHY'S NEW PLAY.

It is announced that Tim Murphy will appear in New York before the present season expires in a new play called The Boy, under the management of Louis F. Werba and Wm. A. Brady. The new piece is by the author of Cupid and the Dollar, in which Mr. Murphy is at present appearing.

MARRIAGES.

MILLER-ALLEN.—Mr. Billy Allen, president and manager of the Great Louisiana Carnival Co., and Miss Bertha Miller, Spanish and Oriental dancer, were quietly wedded on March 11, at the home of Mrs. W. F. Mardell, 273 Vance avenue, Memphis, Tenn. Mr. and Mrs. Allen will reside at No. 11 So. Fourth street, Lafayette, Ind.

DEATHS.

HADSELLE.—Miss Mae Hadselle, wife of Foster J. Hong, last season with Taylor's Electric Shows, died at the home of her sister in Rochester, N. Y., March 28, from pneumonia.

GOODWIN.—Frank R. Goodwin, aged 68 years, died at Tewksbury, Mass., February 25. Mr. Goodwin was one of the best known and most skilled property masters in the country, having been connected with Lester Wallack, Daniel Frohman, Madison Square Theatre, and was for 22 years at the Boston Museum. Although having been in poor health for a number of years, his death was a shock to his numerous friends. He was the author of the pantomime, The Diving Bell, which enjoyed success a decade ago, also the drama, The Perfect of Paris. He is survived by two sons, George and Thos. W., also daughter, Mrs. C. W. Nelson.

WILLMAN.—Mrs. M. C. Willman, mother of LaFayette Ruth, well known Vaudeville performer, died March 12, at the Gordon Hotel, Aberdeen, Wash. The remains were laid to rest in Fern Hill Cemetery, in Aberdeen.

MEAD.—Wm. H. Mead, of Mead, Mantell and Sparkle, died suddenly in Chicago, March 20. The remains were shipped to Brooklyn, N. Y., for burial. He is survived by a widow, two brothers and one sister.

MORGAN.—Hannah Morgan, aged two years, daughter of Lou Morgan and Ollie West, (Morgan and West) died March 26, at Boston, Mass.

STEWART.—Edward C. Stewart, for the last two seasons with the Chas. Newton, East Lynne and Little Detective Companies, died March 6, of tuberculosis, at St. Mary's Hospital, Roswell, N. M. A widow survives him.

NICHOLS.—Roy Nichols, formerly manager of Electric Park, Waterloo, Iowa, died in Kansas City, Mo., March 8, of heart failure at the age of 23 years. Mr. Nichols was attacked with heart trouble about three years ago but had seemingly recovered. Last summer in the midst of the Electric Park season, he was taken sick, and at the advice of friends, he went to Kansas City in the early winter, in the hope that the change of climate would be beneficial to his health. The effort, however, was in vain. Mr. Nichols was a member of the Waterloo Lodge of Elks and the Order of Eagles. He is survived by a widow and one child.

BUFFINK.—John Buffink, better known in the circus world as John Morgan, died at St. Mary's Hospital, St. Louis, Mo., March 21, at 9:00 P. M., aged 38 years. Death was due to stomach trouble, with which he had suffered for the past four months. Mr. Buffink had been identified with various circuses during the past 25 years, and for the past two years was with the Rice Brothers' Colossal Shows, with whom he had been engaged for the season of 1909. He is survived by a widow, mother, two sisters and one brother, all of St. Louis. The funeral was held in St. Louis, March 24.

ELLISWORTH.—Amy Ellsworth, of the team of Charlie and Amy Ellsworth, passed away Sunday, March 21, at 8:00 P. M., at their residence, 95 East 11th street, St. Paul, Minn., aged 42 years. The deceased was born in Berlin, Germany.

DODGE.—Marie Elizabeth Dodge died at 477 Woodlawn avenue, Buffalo, N. Y., after a lingering illness. Miss Dodge was taken ill during her engagement with the Kemp Sisters' Wild West Show at Atlantic City last summer, later developing into tuberculosis. She is survived by her parents and one brother, Harry E. Dodge.

RAY.—Prince Ray, known as "Cooky," died in a hospital at Marquette, O., Friday, February 19, of tuberculosis. Mr. Ray had served with all the leading shows and carnivals in the capacity of orator. He was with the S. J. Dunaway Show season of 1904, and was the all-day talker and announcer of Zip, the Wild Boy. He closed the season at Cincinnati, O., and went South with a carnival company. The season of 1908 he was with the Mr. Dunaway as assistant business manager, and announcer of Gertie May Davis, the largest woman in the world. He held a contract for this season with the same company.

GILLIAM.—Elijah T. Gilliam, for the past 12 years with the Gilliam Family Shows, died at Mt. Pleasant, Texas, March 19. Mr. Gilliam had been ill for three and a half years, but continued with the show until his death. He is survived by a widow and one son, F. A. Gilliam.

WEBER.—Wm. H. Weber, a well-known showman, died in San Francisco, Cal., March 19, of hemorrhage of the brain. Mr. Weber was connected with many theatrical enterprises throughout the East, and was identified with a number of successful burlesque and musical comedy companies, prior to coming to San Francisco. A widow, professionally known as Gertrude Eulahl, the toe dancer, and a two-year-old daughter, survive him. Mr. Weber managed the Lyceum Theatre in San Francisco at the time of his death. The theatre will be continued under Mrs. Weber's direction.

KNOWLES.—Geo. F. Knowles, of Traverse City, Mich., died in Cumberland, Md., March 31. He was a director of amateur theatricals, and came to Cumberland a few weeks ago to rehearse The Mascot, which was to be given by a local organization. Knowles was a member of the Sandusky (O.) Lodge of Elks.

STEWART.—Edward C. Stewart, well known in the profession, died of tuberculosis, March 6, at Roswell, N. M.

AL FLATH'S LETTER

The Wisconsin amateur and professional championship races that were held at the Hippodrome Rink, Milwaukee, Wis., March 4, were well contested as well as interesting events. The amateur division had twenty entries, while the professional had but six. Wm. Rasmussen, the lanky speed merchant of Milwaukee, had little trouble in retaining his title, as he won all three events in his class handily. The mile event Rasmussen won from Felix Fischer by three yards in 3:15, while the two-mile event he captured in 4:35, which is two and two-thirds seconds faster than the mark made by Wm. Robinson at the above place last December, and as an amateur mark will remain for a seventeen lap track mark. In this race Rasmussen lapped the entire field. Rasmussen also captured the five-mile championship in easy fashion, as well as setting a new mark for the distance on a seventeen lap track. Rasmussen won the contest by four laps from Felix Fischer, who was two laps ahead of Leonard Banks. Rasmussen skated the five miles in 16:39, which is ten seconds faster than Paul Holke had skated in the amateur class a few minutes previous.

On account of the large field of entries in the amateur class, the races proved more interesting, as it took two and three heats to sift out the good skaters for the finals. Paul Holke of the Hippodrome Rink, who has been showing rare form for some time, captured all three events in the amateur class as well as lowering the five-mile record for a seventeen lap track. The one-mile amateur and professional championship was skated on Thursday night, the two miles on Friday night, while the five-mile was decided on Saturday night. Probably the most interesting event of all was the mile amateur championship, which had to be decided in three heats and a final, and brought the best skater in each heat out for the final. The first heat was won by Arthur Miller, Riverview Rink, in 3:28 1-5. The second heat was won by Paul Holke, Hippodrome Rink, in the fast time of 3:17 1-5, while the third heat was won by Fred Shermer, in 3:29. The final was a finely contested affair. Two skaters having qualified in each heat, brought out six for the final, and were lined up in the order named from the pole: Paul Holke, George Devine, Hippodrome; Arthur Miller, Riverview; Charles Loeherman, Fred Shermer, and Olley McKohn, Hippodrome. At the crack of the pistol Holke was first to get in the lead, and had hardly got into the back stretch, when Arthur Miller, a speedy little chap of Riverview, showed some fine generalship for a youngster, as his position was bad, and with a fine burst of speed he went around the entire field and took the lead, which he held but one lap, as Holke plainly showed that he was the one who wanted first position, and passed Miller on the next corner and started his grind which he held to the finish, with George Devine close to his heels, which was a big surprise to the spectators, as the showing made by Devine was not looked for, and proved the feature of the event. Holke's time for the mile was 3:18.

The two-mile amateur event was also captured by Holke in 4:38, defeating George Devine, his nearest competitor, by twenty yards. The first heat was won by Charlie Loeherman, Hippodrome. The qualifying heats were one mile. Loeherman's time for the first heat was 3:26 4-5, while the second heat was won by Paul Holke, Hippodrome, in 3:17 2-3.

The five-mile event was skated without heats and of the field of twenty but seven faced the starter and were off in a bunch. After seven laps had been skated there was a fierce混战 in the home stretch. Holke jumping over N. O'Reilly, Hippodrome Rink, took advantage and started to go all the way. Before the end of the second mile he had the entire field lapped, and when he finished he was two laps to the good and had set a new amateur mark for five miles on a seventeen lap track. His time was 17:00 which is eight seconds faster than Shermer and Devine, Hippodrome, skated the first five miles in the hour team race recently. Considering the field of skaters entered, there were few falls, and out of five heats and six finals there was but one disqualification, which is a good record for a championship meet.

SUMMARIES:

Thursday.—One Mile Amateur Championship—First heat—Arthur Miller, Riverview Rink, won; Charlie Loeherman, Hippodrome Rink, second. Time 3:28 1-5.

Second Heat—Paul Holke, Hippodrome Rink, won; George Devine, Hippodrome Rink, second. Time 3:17 1-5.

Third Heat—Fred Shermer, Hippodrome Rink, won; Olley McKohn, Hippodrome Rink, second. Time 3:29.

Final—Paul Holke, won; George Devine, second. Fred Shermer, third. Time 3:18.

Two Miles Professional—Wm. Rasmussen, Hippodrome, won; Felix Fischer, Hippodrome, sec. one. Time 4:35.

Friday.—Two Mile Championship for Amateurs (four heats to qualify)—First Heat—Charlie Loeherman, Hippodrome, won; Olley McKohn, Hippodrome, second; Orville Thompson, Hippodrome, third. Time 3:26 4-5.

Second Heat—Paul Holke, Hippodrome, won; George Devine, Hippodrome, second; Fred Shermer, Hippodrome, third. Time 3:17 1-5.

Final—Paul Holke, won; George Devine, sec.; Charlie Loeherman, third. Time 3:28.

Saturday.—Five Miles Amateur Championship—Paul Holke, Hippodrome, won; Charlie Loeherman, Hippodrome, second; George Devine, Hippodrome, third. Time 6:28.

Five Miles Professional Championship—Wm. Rasmussen, Hippodrome, won; Felix Fischer, Hippodrome, sec.; Leonard Banks, Hippodrome, third. Time 16:50.

The meet was handled by Al Flath.

* Forest Park Rink, which has been closed for the winter, was reopened last week under the management of Frank R. Arnold, well known in the roller game, who held an interesting race last Wednesday night, which was won by Fred Tyrrell, the Illinois amateur champion, by fifteen yards, beating Carl Carlson, in the used time of 3:00. Eight skaters lined up in the event and got away well, with Tyrrell in the lead, which he held for one lap, when Carlson came to the front and held the pace for seven laps, when Tyrrell, with a fine sprint, took the lead and won by the above distance. Dan DeSelle finished fifty yards behind Carl Carlson, while the rest of the field was well strung, two being lapped. It Carlson, who seemed to be new to the track, fell in the first track and again in the fifth lap. When he fell the second time he cut a gash in his head which had to be sewed up.

* Frank L. Olson, advertising manager of Lakeside Rink, Dayton, O., left for that place last Thursday night, to arrange some more events for that rink. Since Mr. Olson and Al Flath have been handling the events at the above rink some lively times have been had in the racing line as well as in the line of parties. Events of different nature have been carried two and three times a week, and is much to the liking of the patrons. In the amateur speed skating line, Dayton now ranks second to none in the state, as the time made by the skaters of the above town places them in high rank.

Some fine amateur talent has been developed in Milwaukee this season. Those who showed the best form in the Wisconsin Championship events were Paul Holke, George Devine, Charlie Loeherman, Orville Thompson and Olley McKohn, Hippodrome Rink, and Arthur Miller, Riverview Rink. Paul Holke, as a comer has been noticeable for some time, while the greatest surprise was the showing made by George Devine, who finished second in the mile and two-mile events, and third in the five-mile event. Miller was not placed in the final of the mile, which is the only event in which he started.

The followers of the roller game are just as much at sea as to the outcome of the big championship race at London in which Alfie Moore and Harley Davidson competed February 25, as they were before the first report which stated that Davidson won in 2:51. Since that time another report has been received, stating that Moore won his heat and finished second to Moore in the final. It is hoped that a satisfactory report will be received soon, as the fans can not stand the strain much longer and retain the present interest.

Chauncey Granger, of Appleton, Wis., who was entered in the Wisconsin Amateur Championship events, failed to qualify in any of the heats. The trick seemed to bother him. His mistake was like lots of others, to come the last minute and expect to move with the others who have been making the track their home. G. Legrange of Neenah, Wis., who was entered in the professional class, managed to get third money in the two-mile race. He too, was not as familiar with the track as he might have been.

Paul Holke, who won the Wisconsin Amateur Championship at the Hippodrome Rink, Milwaukee, last week, does not intend to lay idle. Holke said, after winning the title, that he was soon to meet any amateur in Wisconsin in an unlimited pursuit race. A contest of the above nature should prove interesting to the Cream City fans, as they well know when a skater is on the track with Holke that he is kept busy all the time.

The hour team race, which was held at the Hippodrome Rink, Milwaukee, some time ago and broke up through the crowd getting on the floor just about the time the race was to start, will have to be reskated. Is the decision that was handed by the Board of Control of the Western Skating Association. The date for the contest has not yet been named, but the race is expected to be skated next week.

SKATING RINK NOTES.

E. L. Burnham, of Portland, Maine, has opened a beginners' skating academy at 471½ Congress street. He will also open the New Convention Hall Rink about the first of July, which he states, will be one of the finest rinks in the East. It will be under the management of Irwin and Whipple, who have a ten-year lease on the building. The rink can also be used for dancing and convention purposes, and will accommodate 2,500 people.

Peter Magaro, the well-known amusement proprietor of Harrisburg, Pa., has become financially interested in the Chestnut St. Rink, of that city, and already has involved new life into it. The first attraction were those excellent skaters, The Harras, who proved big cards. An excellent line of attractions will be booked for the rink.

I. S. Consul F. W. Mahin, of Nottingham, England, writes that a large roller skating rink was recently opened in Nottingham, under the auspices of an American company who have started rinks in many other British cities. The enterprise is proving a wonderful success there, as elsewhere.

Fielding and Carlos write that they are booked solid until June 1, over the Williams-Knight time in the South, consequently it will be impossible for them to play any rink dates this season. Carlos has recovered from her recent illness and is now enjoying the best of health.

The Hudson Rink, Hudson, Mich., will close its season March 24. Manager Nickle reports that the team has been very successful. The rink will be reopened September 1, with many improvements, which will be made during the summer months.

Joe Kennedy, the southern roller skater, says he is doing nicely in vaudeville, with his fancy eating ordinal bottle set, and dancing on ball bearing skates. Mr. Kennedy would like to hear from Earle Reynolds.

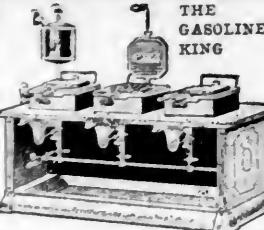

Mr. Fred J. Ryan, the well-known inventor and proprietor of the famous Anti-slip compound, which has proved a great boon to roller rink proprietors, will open his Parkside Rink, in Toronto, about March 15.

Manager J. J. Forsythe, of the Edgewood Park Rink, Shamokin, Pa., had Genie and Patterson as the attractions at his rink March 8 to 10. Splendid business was the rule during their engagement.

The Colliseum Skating Rink, Danville, Ill., closed a successful season March 13.

It will not be reopened until next fall.

KANSAS CITY FORECAST.

Kansas City is proud of her summer parks. We now have four, catering to the public's pleasure with every amusement device therefor.

The Electric Park on the South Side, in the fine residential district of the city, in the heart of Kansas City's fashionable and handsome homes, is not only known to Kansas Cityans as the most beautiful amusement park but all visitors to the city join in echoing this opinion and spreading the fame of Electric in the country over. Electric was opened in the spring of 1907 and in this the third season of the new Electric, Kansas City rejoices in one of the largest and handsomest amusement parks, having none in the United States.

Mr. Sam Benjamin, the "genial Sam," manager of the old Electric Park for eleven years, has been as successful in the new park, and with the season of 1909 promises Electric visitors every pleasure and comfort. The best bands in the country visit Electric and delight thousands with the most excellent music, chief among them are, Sorrentino's Randa Rossa, Ferullo and his band, and Mr. Benjamin has said that 1909 will see new bands every two weeks, and some that Kansas City has never heard before. The Vandeville in the German Village is from William Morris' Circuit and that proves Electric gives the best. The big lake at Electric was frozen over at times this winter, and ice skating brought out many devotees to the sport at Electric's fine, glassy surface. The Natatorium is a feature in the summer. The mornings are devoted to the ladies, with instructors to teach the timid and unversed, and it was the fashion for Kansas City's youth and beauty to go "a swimming." The evening was devoted to races, aquatic sports, etc. Fireworks on a large and magnificent scale was one of the free attractions at Electric after July 4.

At the entrance to the big park is the Tieck, installed last year, that "telecks" both participants and lookers-on as much as any amusement device in the park. Some of the other "rides" are the scenic Railway, the Dip Monster, Scenic Coaster, Shoot the Chutes, the Double Whirl, Carousel, etc., etc. The concessions include the Temple of Mirth, Fish Pond, Howling Alley, Hilliard Room, Roller Rink, Ball Room, Fortune Telling Booth, Japanese Curios, Picture Gallery, Moving Pictures, Penny Arcade, Camerack and Morton's refreshment room and their splendid cafe, with all the conveniences, etc., of a down-town cafe. Mr. Benjamin says that there will be three new concessions at Electric this season, and there will be "some surprises" which will be announced at a later date.

Forest Park, on the East Side, owned and operated by the Forest Realty Circuit in conjunction with parks in St. Louis, Memphis, Tenn., etc., with John D. Tippett as general manager, the season of 1908, made one of the most successful seasons, and phenomenal in that respect, rising like a Phoenix from the ashes of former years of defeat, in the history of summer parks. Mr. Jim P. Anderson, manager last year, will by all probability again be at Forest to welcome his friends, and Mr. Anderson can be assured that he has many in Kansas City. Forest is the only free gate admission park in the city and for this reason a great many picnics, by societies, lodges, etc., are held at Forest. The roller rink is one of the best and is the popular amusement place.

Forest has a great many rides, among which are the Scenic Railway, the Old Mill, the Double Whirl, Carousel, Miniature Railway, etc., etc. There are also, fortune telling booths, cameracks, flower booths, candy, the theatre, etc., etc. Forest is the first park to open, usually throwing open its gates with the first warm days of early spring.

Fairmount Park is the big open-air resort of the city. Mr. W. F. Smith is manager and has been successful therein for the past few seasons. The principal attractions at Fairmount are boating, boating and fishing, and the warm days of summer bring swarms enjoying the water, and then either roller skating or dancing, with concessions on "The Hill," as it is called. Across the new Inter-City Viaduct, a delightful cool ride of twenty minutes from the heart of Kansas City, Mo., is located an amusement park, that last season, pleased many of our own citizens and all visitors within their gates.

This is Carnival Park, owned by the Carnival Park Amusement Company, with Mr. Theo. Carey as president and general manager. Mr. Will Winch, one of Mr. Winch, because he was reared and educated here, at one time connected with the Orpheum Theatre of this city, was manager of Carnival up until August 1, when he left town to assume the larger duties of manager of the Orpheum in Salt Lake City, Utah. He was succeeded in the management by Mr. Leon A. Keller, the treasurer of the park, and for the last six years treasurer of the Orpheum here, who proved himself very efficient and popular.

The Randa Riana, our band, as we are proud to call it, under the thoroughly sympathetic and capable leadership of Señor M. A. Lenge, a name endeared to all Orpheum patrons, as conductor of the orchestra there, played a four weeks' engagement at Carnival last season and re-engaged for the last two weeks of Carnival's season. Kansas City looking forward to many musical treats this year with the Randa Riana, as the band will be reorganized for the coming season. The Vandeville at Carnival is always interesting, being on the Western Association Circuit. Among the amusements and attractions at Carnival are the Human Laundry, the Third Degree, the Figure Eight, the Double Whirl, the Scenic Railway, Carousel, Ball Room, Cane Rack, Roller Rink, Band Pavilion, Wigwam, where the Vandeville is given, etc., etc.

About our big city park, Swope, the third largest in the United States, we have in the process of installation a Zoo, that will attract many to the park. Swope is always well filled with rest and pleasure seekers any fine day in the beautiful spring or the very hot summer.

and while there are no "amusements" in the sense of an "amusement park," Swope has a fine rifle range, a free golf course, and the shelter house where refreshments may be secured. On Sunday afternoons during the heat months of summer, Kansas City gives her citizens and the visitors here, concerts by a good band, that are very enjoyable.

All of the principal circuses annually visit Kansas City and always crowd the tent to the utmost limit. Among those of last season that did capacity in Kansas City were the 101 Ranch Show, Ringling Brothers, Sells-Floto, and Barnum and Bailey, and it is expected and anticipated that all of these will come back in 1909. Some have said that the season of 1908 was not a successful one in summer parks' history on account of the inclement weather. This was not true of Kansas City. Kansas City always goes to the parks to escape the heat of the city, rain or shine, and this is said advisedly for the covered promenade at Electric has served many a one from a drenching, and likewise Forest is under cover. But then we have the best parks to go to in the country and that accounts for it, maybe. 1909 will but repeat the successes of former years.

WILLIAM W. SHELLY.

AL. G. FIELD'S GENEROSITY.

Al. G. Field, the minstrel king, has written the Ladies Aid Society in charge of the fresh-air fund, for the poor children of Columbus, O., that he will arrange for an outing for forty per cent. of the little ones during the months of July and August, when life in the city becomes almost intolerable.

The neighbors of Mr. Field in the beautiful Olentangy Valley, have expressed their willingness to take their assigned quota of children and this means that the boys and girls whose lives have been hedged about by poverty and lived in the midst of the city streets, their squalls and din will be given a vacation in the country where they can breathe in new life and enjoy the luxury of freedom that is every child's God-given right. And so it seems that beautiful Maple Villa will be put to uses other than those of the farm.

JOPLIN'S NEW PARK.

The Schifferdecker Electric Park Co., of Joplin, Mo., proprietors of Schifferdecker's Electric Park, in that city, are expending in the neighborhood of $200,000 in the construction of park buildings, amusement devices, etc. Only the latest attractions will be installed into the park, and those amusements, combined with natural scenic beauty of this resort, according to experts, make it one of the most desirable locations for an amusement park. Among those connected with the enterprise are: A. W. Canada, of Carterville, Mo.; A. A. Kennedy and Leo Yount, of Joplin. A few concessions may still be leased at this park, and any information regarding space will be furnished by addressing the company at Suite 203 Grover Bldg., Sixth and Joplin streets, Joplin, Mo.

MARTIN & DUNCAN COMPANY.

The Martin and Duncan Carnival Company are already preparing for their opening week on South Broadway, St. Louis, Mo. The opening date will be Saturday, May 1, and they will have two Saturdays and two Sundays in the city of St. Louis, closing Sunday night, May 9.

Already booked with this company are the following attractions: Merry-go-round, twelve-piece band, Ferris wheel, Old Plantation, Singing Talking Moving Pictures, vanderbilt pavilion, educated horse, stadium, Wild Rose, Fannie, the Alligator Girl, and two free acts of a sensational character, aside from numerous concessions. All shows and concessions will be under the direct supervision of Mr. H. H. Dunn and the advance will be in charge of Mr. J. A. Martin.

COMPANIES CLOSING.

Cohan and Harris' The American Idea, closed the season March 27; the tour of the Cohan and Harris' Minstrels also terminated on that date, while the Forty-five Minutes from Broadway Company, under the same management, will conclude its season April 17, at the Yorkville Theatre, New York City.

Big Jim Company, managed by Gordhiner Brothers, will give its last performance at Lyons, N.Y., April 3.

Chas. A. Sellon's The Cat and the Fiddle closes April 4, at Joliet, Ill., April 4, after a season of 33 weeks. The management reports the season most successful. The company will open next season early in August.

MR. SOTHERN AT DALY'S.

E. H. Sothern commenced an engagement limited to three weeks on Monday night, March 29, at Daly's Theatre. For the first week, Mr. Sothern will present the following repertoire: Richellen, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights; Lord Dundreary, Thursday and Friday nights and Saturday matinee, and Hamlet, Saturday night.

FLORENCE DAVIS CLOSES SEASON.

Miss Florence Davis, who has been touring the South in Under the Greenwood Tree, closed her season at Petersburg, Va., March 26. All the members of the company returned to New York City. Miss Davis' season, from a commercial standpoint, was fairly successful.

The Princess Theatre, of Cambridge, O., has again changed hands. W. A. Taylor and Fred Wilson having secured control. Mr. Taylor will continue to act as manager.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.

IN OAKLAND

Kolb and Dill, at the Maedouough, in Welner and Schnitzel, are meeting with unusual success and are as big favorites in Oakland as in San Francisco. Next week The Politeians will be presented.

Mercy Mary Ann, at the Ye Liberty Theatre, played to very fair business during the week.

The Orpheum has a strong bill this week, which includes the following newcomers: A Modern Pocahontas, Six Little Girls and a Teddy Bear, Katabaum Troupe of Eight Japanese performers, G. Herbert Mitchell, baritone and monologist. The holdovers were Bowes, Witors and Crooker, The Three Kings; Agnes Maher, toe dancer; Connally and Webb and Fay and Clarke.

Horsesh Troupe, in their wonderful acrobatic globe net, is the big feature act at the Bell Theatre, and made an immense hit. Their proved quite a novelty, being entirely new. Their most difficult feats are performed with ease and grace, showing that all these performers were born in the business. Colin's Dogs created considerable laughter, repeating their former success at this house. Others on the bill were Donnett, whirlwind dancer; Tom Brantford, Harry Illinois Co., in The Fluster, and the scenic slinging turn called The Sex-ton's Dream.

Idora Park is being prepared for the big opening, which occurs April 11. Tote Durrow, the clown, formerly with the Norrls and Howe Clowns, and several assistants, have been engaged.

The Itell Amusement Co. It is reported, are figuring to have a new and larger theatre in Oakland, and rumor says the site has already been selected.

REIRE COHEN.

Editor The Billboard, Cincinnati, O.

Dear Sir:—I would like to thank all the friends, professional, and non-professional, of the late Harry C. Stanley for their sympathy and kindness to me during his illness.

We were playing the Washington Theatre, Spokane, Wash., Sullivan and Considine time, when Mr. Stanley was taken suddenly ill, and died the same week, on Thursday, February 18. His death left me in a peculiar position, but the Sullivan and Considine people stepped in and booked me as a single act over their time. Am now known as Sarah Louise Cogswell.

Managers and agents who have done business with the late Harry Stanley will remember the quality of my work, and I trust will favor me in the future.

Thanking you for space, I remain,

Yours very sincerely,

SARAH LOUISE COGSWELL.

SUMMER STOCK IN PALESTINE, TEXAS.

The new Temple Theatre of Palestine, Texas, under the management of W. E. Swift, has just closed the theatrical season of 1908-09, which was a successful one. The opera house is now undergoing extensive repairs. The inside of the theatre is being painted and overhauled; the large fire escapes are being painted and several sets of handsome and pretty scenery have been ordered from the Kansas City Scene Studio. Concrete sidewalks have also been laid around the theatre.

On April 1, the Marie Nelson Dramatic Company, under the management of Homer Gillis, will open the New Temple for the summer. The company, which is one of the best playing Texas, will remain in Palestine all summer, changing plays twice a week. They have rented a pretty cottage on Lacy street where the entire company is quartered and have christened it the "Nelson Inn."

KATHRYN OSTERMAN'S NEW PLAY.

Kathryn Osterman will appear next season in a new play called, Woman of Today, written expressly for her by Arthur W. Stace and Roy K. Monton. It is a dramatic comedy in three acts, dealing powerfully with the two foremost sociological problems of the day, the corruption of the law-makers, and the sacrificing of human lives for corporate gain. The comedy element predominates in the earlier portions, but intense dramatic situations develop as the action proceeds, and it is said Miss Osterman is given an opportunity to display her remarkable talent for emotional acting.

CONTRACTING EARLY.

Ed. H. Hutchison, the well known aeronaut, has contracted with the West Virginia State Fair Association at Wheeling, to furnish his balloon race with four balloons and big six-chute act at the Mt. Holly, N. J., Fair, and his "Human Bomb Act" at the Ottawa Exposition, Ottawa, Ont., Canada, and all his novelties at Baltimore during July and August. Mr. Hutchison is at his home in Elmira, N. Y., making a number of balloons and will open his season in Springfield, Mass., in April.

MARKLE'S SHOW OPENS.

W. R. Markle's New Sunny South Floating Theatre, opened at Marietta, O., March 29, with a big company of musical comedy and vaudeville performers, also a fourteen piece band.

SALVAIL. A star in his line.

Jack Barrymore will not desert A. Stubbins Claterella for the leading part in The Candy Shop. Negotiations are under way to get Cecil Keen to take the part.

Frederick Beckleiter will build a vaudeville theatre, costing $30,000, at Fifty-ninth street and Greenwood avenue. The house will seat 1,000.

James J. Corbett will have the leading part in The Girl Question, when Frazee puts the company out.

The principal roles in La Souris, presented by the French Theatre Association at the Fine Arts Theatre, were taken by Herman Devries, Mlle. Elmire Blais, Mlle. Carmen Lescie, Mlle. Zita Lassagne and Mme. Marguerite Arby.

Miss Audrey Maple, who sings the principal part in The Love Waltz, is half owner of a new stage kiss. The other belongs to Alfred Knappier. The kiss holds the banner for size, length and thrill.

A. H. Woods is still negotiating with the International Theatre management for the production of The Girl From Rooster's.

London Letter

to forgive them for inflicting a piece like The House of Homage upon us yesterday. It is a long-winded, tiresome and wholly unconvinced argument concerned with the love of a brilliant surgeon for the wife of an eminent lawyer, who, on his part, is carrying on a liaison with the Duchess of Banff. There is not very much to tell with regard to the story. Sir Vincent Meredith, the lawyer, knowing well enough of the love of Paul Bertrand, the surgeon, for his wife, submits himself to him for a life or death operation, in the shape of the removal of a tumor on the brain. It is successful, Meredith recovers, and then shortly after becomes a cabinet minister. At this point, his wife, whose patience is exhausted, delivers an ultimatum that unless he will use all his influence in the Cabinet to get the divorce law of England changed so that she can marry the surgeon, she will run away with her lover then and there. Meredith promises to do all she wishes, and the play ends with a long disquisition on the injustice of the English law which prevents a woman getting a divorce on the same ground as a man. Herbert Waring, Aubrey Smith, Eva Moore and Cyril Eaton made a gallant attempt to put some show of reality into a hopeless unreal piece of business but all to no good. One could not help thinking all through, "If only Bernard Shaw had been brought in to rewrite the entire thing." Then it might just have been bearable.

By the production, for a series of special evenings, of John Galsworthy's Strife, at the Duke of York's, Charles Frohman is ranging himself with the Afternoon Theatre in catering for that special public to whom the intellectual play appeals; and who form the backbone of the Court, i.e., the Vedrenne-Barker days. At the first performance, Tuesday afternoon, the play undoubtedly made a profound impression, and deservedly. It is marked by that insight and that impartiality of vision which made the same author's The Silver Box so welcome a contribution to our stage. Strife is the story of a strike, in which the impersonal and personal elements are subtly blended. The play opens with a meeting of the directors of the Treanor's Tinplate Works, the chairman, old John Anthony, resolute in his resolve to crush the men; the other directors, whose characters are cleverly differentiated, all inclined, for various reasons, to compromise but old John Anthony dominates them by sheer force of will; they dare not defy him to his face. The men, too, have a leader, equally uncompromising, in David Roberts. The men, like the directors, are wavering. And, at a meeting of the strikers, in the second act, skilfully stage managed by Grosvenor Barker, who produced the play, David's passionate appeal for continued resistance is disturbed by his being summoned to his dead wife, the semi-starvation which she has suffered awaiting the end, primarily due to a weak heart.

Consequently, the men yield. The directors, upset by the defeat, also entreat the chairman, who resigns. The terms agreed on are those proposed before the strike commenced, and the two strong men are left to face each other, baffled and defeated. Without preaching, preserving always the strictly impersonal attitude of the dramatist, the author brings out the futility of the struggle, and lets us see how the strong personal resolves of the leaders are not purely the selfish desire for domination. Each thinks of the future; the capital is, that society will go to pieces unless, regardless of immediate consequences, the fight is waged to the bitter end; the workman, that the whole chances of his class are jeopardized by weak yielding, no matter how bitter the suffering, before labor's demands are conceded. And you feel, too, the suffering of the women and children, unconscious of principles at stake, knowing only that they are cold and hungry. Behind all, also, a glimpse of the forces—akin to the necessity of the Greek drama—working through men's wills to ends we can but dimly foresee. There are weak points here and there; now and then it drags a little; but on the whole, the play is a fine one, and a contribution to our drama that all who look upon drama as something more than mere amusement should greet with delight.

Charles Frohman provides a remarkable cast, and the acting was splendid. Such plays as these make actors. I can not go into detail as I would wish; so let me say that there was not a gout down to the smallest, that was not admirably played. The stern, powerful John Anthony of Norman McKinnel, realizing the man who exerted almost mesmeric influence over his colleagues, was simply superb; and the same must be said of the fury, fanatic, David Roberts of J. Fisher White, C. M. Hallard, as John Anthony's son, tinged with modern humanitarian heresies, yet loving and respecting the father to whom he is forced to be antagonistic; Dennis Eddie, Luigi Laldache, C. V. France, made the directors alive and real. Edmund Gwenn, as John Anthony's valet (perhaps a less naturally written part than most), gave another of his brilliant character studies. H. R. Hignett, as a chapel-going, compromising loving workman, was excellent. The women had less to do, but Miss Ellen O'Malley, as John Anthony's sympathetic daughter, whose sympathy was yet so useless; Miss Mary Barton, as the patient, suffering wife of David Roberts, and Miss Lillian McCarthy, as the daughter of the chapel-going workman, passionate and blind to all but the immediate hunger and want, gave pictures that fit into the memory. Strife should go into an evening bill. F. ASLETT WRAY.

Paris Letter

by the writer Georges de Porto-Riche, and that this man had been the one to obtain from the executors of the dead poet's estate permission to have the play produced. It is described as being a piece both gay and dramatic, full of song and of dance, and as taking place in 1845. "It is surprisingly up to date," said the producer-to-be, "and is splendidly adapted for the uses of the stage of the present day." The play world will watch for the production with a great deal of interest.

There is nothing in this world more dramatic than for a person whose life depends upon the sense of seeing, to go blind. This, we in America saw in that beautiful play, The Light that Failed, made from the Rudyard Kipling book, and played by the author's distinguished countryman, Forbes Robertson. The piece was an indifferent success, why, I never could figure out, for it struck me as being extraordinarily lovable. In Paris we are having now a similarly constructed play, Beethoven, presented to us at the Odéon. It deals with the treachery of a woman he loved and the loss of his hearing—this musician who lived only in melody.

MISS LOUISE BROWN.

The above is a good likeness of Louise Brown, a very promising young actress, now on tour with Edward Doyle's Orpheum Stock Co. in the Central States.

The Billboard

The piece is in three acts, in verse, by René Fauchois. It is in a way episodic. The first act is based upon the treason of Goliotta Guichardi, the woman who received as her engagement present, The Moonlight Sonata. The second act is based upon Beethoven's growing deafness, and the third act ends with the great musician's death. The last scene finds the artist dying, surrounded by the Museus. Desjardins appears as Beethoven, and is splendid, both as to make-up and his acting throughout, music by the great master is given by an excellent orchestra.

FRENCH DRAMA NOTES

I understand that Jan Blockx's Princess d'Arbois, which was met with success in New York, is the first Belgian work to find favor in America. The creation of our near neighbor runs high.

The Théâtre de la Renaissance was closed from March 21 to 25, inclusive, due to rehearsals of the new play just produced there, La Seconde. This play is by Henry Barille, the premiere taking place March 26.

Two new pieces have been brought out at the Théâtre Michel during the past week. One of them was La Seconde, a fantasy, by Paul Francé, while the other was an operetta by Férouly and Félix Puget. The music of this last was by M. Miché.

The first performance of Paul Hervieu's new play, Connais-Tu, which finds production at the Comédie Française, is set for March 29. Hervieu, whose plays have been often seen in America, is popular in France, and this latest work from his pen is eagerly awaited. I'm wondering what American manager will get it—in case it's adaptable.

Les Amis, a play in two acts, has been revived at the Comédie. This is Abraham Pécoul's creation.

Mme. Sarah Bernhardt is preparing for the production at her theatre of the three-act play, La Plume, by Eugène Morand. It deals with problems of modern times, and is said to be more than usually dramatic. She has engaged for the leading parts Henry Roussel, M. Menni, Mme. Paul André and Mlle. Alice Raynal.

At the Etoile Palace the Great Lyelltons, in a rolling globe net, and Tallot and Kochet, elate jugglers, are two American acts which made good.

SOME MUSIC NOTES

The fiftieth anniversary of the production of Faust, the first performance of which took place at the Théâtre Lyrique, March 19, 1869, was celebrated on that date at the National Opera. Of course the opera was presented, the performance marking the 1,333rd time.

At the Théâtre des Arts, a lecture was delivered by Laurent Tailhade on The Popular Music and Dances of Spain.

At the Opera Monday, March 29, La Valkyrie was revived, with Mlle. Breval and M. Delmas in the parts of Brunnhilde and Wotan. This was the first time that Paris had ever seen the piece in its entirety.

Mme. Lina Cavalieri has been engaged by the codirectors of the Opera, Brossan and Messager, for a series of operas to be put on during April.

Sodange, an operetta by Gaston Salvayre and Ad. Adherer, has been given at the Opera Comique. Critics decry it has splendid qualities.

M. Bonnecelle has been engaged by the management. He will make his appearance May 3 in Siegfried. He will also sing in La Valkyrie and Salambo.

Musicians of Paris are talking of the afternoon in which Frank Van der Stucken, of Cincinnati, conducted the fifth Ysaye concert at Brussels recently, many of whom were present. His quiet style was greatly admired, and those who heard it declare that never have they seen Schumann's Symphony in D minor better given than under his baton.

Several of the Opera artists have sued the management for unpaid salaries. Among the number are Mlle. Vinci and M. Schwartz. The latter was dismissed at the beginning of the year, he claims, without due notice. He therefore claims a year's salary and certain arrears.

DIRECTORY

Of Agents, Hotels, Music Publishers and Dealers, in Theatrical, Circus and Park Supplies, Alphabetically Arranged.

Advertisements not exceeding one line in length will be published, properly classified, in this directory at the rate of $10 for one year (52 issues), provided they are of an acceptable nature. Price includes one year's subscription to The Billboard. Regular advertisers who use in excess of $50 worth of space annually are entitled to one line free of charge for each fifty dollars or fraction thereof, covered by their contracts. This directory is revised and corrected weekly, changes in firm names and addresses being recorded as soon as they are received.
